Bro. J. R. Smith has been called to return to Cordova, Orangeburg county, and he will begin work there in January. Bro. He has been serving churches this year in Colleton county.—Baptist Courier.

"It is up to you" whether you do your trading through the McCaskey system or the old, careless way. We use the McCaskey.

D. A. KINARD & CO. On account of the bad fire record of Bamberg, some of the insurance companies have been endeavoring to increase rates in this city. The South-eastern Tariff Association wrote Mr. W. P. Riley that the companies were asking for an increase of rates, and that this would have to be done unless the town put in water works very soon.

Have you seen those pretty shoes at C. R. Brabham's Sons? They have the swellest line in town, not only the patent leather and gun metal, but red and tan. Rev. O. J. Frier is at work on his new field, the pastorate of the Bamberg church. He says he was greeted with good congregations last Sunday and a cordial welcome. The new pastor's home will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks. We are happy to have Bro. Frier in this State, and wish for him and the Bamberg church a happy union, attended with glorious results.—Baptist Courier.

When trading with us and you wish to pay your bill and you are tired and want to stay at home, a glance at your McCaskey slip holder tells you it can be sent to a penny.

D. A. KINARD & CO. The issue of bonds for $7,000 for the purpose of installing water works has been disposed of. The bonds have been sold to a firm of Chicago bankers, the rate of interest being 5 1/2 per cent. The board of public works will now take up the matter of installing the system, and it will not be very long before Bamberg will have protection from fire, as well as a reduction in insurance rates.

There are merchants who prefer a system of "bookkeeping" which invites errors. Those who adopt the McCaskey system do so to avoid errors. "Bookkeeping unkeeps accounts." D. A. KINARD & CO.

Let everyone, whether they have read the sad drama of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" or not, attend Kritchfield's entertainment on the night of Monday, November 16th. It is one of the most sensational dramas ever written, abounding in emotional situations and replete with sentiment and pathos. A play of climaxes, and every one leaving a wholesome moral lesson. By all means let the children attend and profit by the lesson that no other school can teach.

Pay your subscription. We need the money. See the new ad. of the Ehrhardt Banking Co. in this issue.

There was no meeting of the Knights of Pythias Monday evening, as the meetings are now being held in the court house, and court was in session. The new regalia has been ordered, and it will arrive in time to confer degrees at the next meeting.

A merchant who had not been advertising, recently put an ad. in The Herald, and in remitting for it says that his sale was a big success, and that he did much better than he expected. Advertising in the Herald pays, this being only another instance of it.

The management of The Bamberg Herald does not want to be unaccommodating, but we must insist that advertisers let us have changes for their advertisements before Tuesday of each week. It is a physical impossibility to change all ads. when copy is handed in on Tuesday, and we must ask our patrons to give us their copy on Monday. They can do it just as well, and it will enable us to issue our paper promptly.

Negro Women Fight.

John and Alfred Maynard are brothers and live near Midway, living on adjoining lands. They have lived there for years in peace and unity, but Tuesday morning their wives got into a quarrel over Alfred's hogs rooting up John's potatoes. Their husbands were away from home, and they had a good fight. Julia, the wife of John, was badly cut on the hands with a hoe by Eva, the wife of Alfred, and Julia's face was also badly scratched. The cuts on her hands were so large that they had to be stitched up by a physician, she coming to Bamberg to have her wounds dressed. When seen, Julia said she had not hurt Eva, but wanted a warrant for her. However, it is likely that the case will not get into the courts, as it is only a family row, and Julia's wounds while painful are not serious.

Enforcing the Law.

We notice that the postmaster at Barnwell has received instructions to demand that newspaper publishers of that town strictly comply with the law as to unpaid subscriptions. It is unlawful to send newspapers to subscribers who owe for a year or more, at the pound rate. Newspapers sent to subscribers who are one year in arrears must be wrapped separately and a one cent stamp attached. We are glad to see that this law is to be enforced at last. The government has been lenient with newspapers, as it did not care to make this great change suddenly. But now the publishers have had ample notice, and the law is to be enforced. It pleases us mightily. We hope it will be strictly enforced everywhere. We presume the postmaster at Bamberg has received similar instructions and that he will see that the law is enforced here. The Bamberg Herald is ready to show him its subscription list at any time, and will be glad for him to inspect it. He will find the date each subscriber has paid to opposite the name. This newspaper carries no dead-head subscribers.

Special Services.

Rev. Thos. G. Herbert, pastor of Trinity Methodist church of this city, has been holding special services in his church for more than a week, and is thereby accomplishing great good. His afternoon talks are beautiful in the extreme, and his evening sermons strong and forcible. The attendance is fairly good though there are many who ought to take advantage of these precious opportunities who are not doing so.

The sermon Sunday morning especially to fathers and mothers was peculiarly adapted and remarkably strong. He said that the crying need of our land and country is christian fathers and mothers, and he emphasized the need of christian fathers—God pity the home where all the training of the little ones is left for the mother and where, as is often the case, only mother has religion for the entire family. Sunday evening, Mr. Herbert's subject was "Drunk when the message came," and this he made applicable not only to those who are drunk on wine or strong drink, but to those drunk upon the accumulation of wealth, as well as upon the pleasures and follies of the social world. Would that every man, woman and child in Bamberg could have heard these two sermons! The evening service is being continued this week.

Meyers' Votes Thrown Out.

Aiken, November 10.—The commissioners and managers for the State and federal elections met this afternoon to tabulate the result of the election held last Tuesday. The total number of votes cast for governor was 1,944 and the other State officers and county officers received 1,940 each. The total number of votes cast for congress was 1,971, of which Patterson received 1,951, Rev. Isaac Meyers receiving 20 votes, all of which were thrown out as being illegal, the ballots being of an illegal size and illegally printed.

The commissioners had before them a protest from Meyers signed by Attorney Moore, against the commissioners counting any votes cast for Mr. Patterson on the ground that the managers of election rejected a sufficient number of votes to have changed the result and also because qualifications were demanded by the managers that are not required by the constitution of 1868 or 1895.
