GEORGE T. ANGELL DEAD.

Friend of Dumb Animals and Noted Humanitarian Worker.

Boston, March 18.—George Thordike Angell, "the friend of dumb animals," and the leader in the humane educational movement in the United States, died here to-day, aged 86. He was the president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and for the past twenty years had been president of the American Humane Educational Association. In 1886, after seeing two horses run to death in a race, he became interested in humane work for dumb animals, and established the publication, Our Dumb Animals. Since that time he had been actively engaged in the interest of his chosen life work. In one year he printed more than 17,000,000 pages of literature.

Tornado at Fort Deposit.

Fort Deposit, Ala., March 21.—Shortly before 7 o'clock this morning a tornado did considerable damage to this vicinity. The loss was small in the vicinity of the town, but the entire negro quarter on the Norwood Johnson place was totally destroyed and a number of occupants of houses injured. On the Buchanan place the cottage of Miles Henderson, a negro, was blown into splinters, he and his wife suffering painful injuries. Just east of Henderson's house another negro cottage was blown down and a small child blown into the fireplace and burned to death. A number of other houses were wrecked.

Jailed for Jumping Board Bill.

Lexington, March 19.—John B. Herron, a young white man, was lodged in jail last night, he having been sent up for 30 days by Magistrate Henry Buff, of New Brookland, upon the charge of obtaining board under false pretenses. It is said that Herron secured board at the home of M. I. Fox, in Brookland, several weeks ago, stating at the time that he would pay for the same as soon as he received his pension from the government, Herron claiming that he was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and was on the pension list. With this understanding, it is said, Fox agreed to keep on boarding him, but it seems that Herron took his departure a couple of days before he was to draw his money and never returned. Fox learned that Herron had gone to Aiken county and accordingly had a warrant issued for his arrest. Herron was tried and convicted in Magistrate Buff's court yesterday and sentenced to pay a fine of $30 or serve 30 days on the county chain-gang. Herron made a motion for a new trial and was sent to jail here pending the outcome. He is a native of Aiken county, it is said.

CONTRACTOR DROWNED.

Went Fishing With Young Woman and Met His Death.

Raleigh, N. C., March 18.—Andrew J. Jackson, a prominent building contractor, 51 years old, was today drowned in Crabtree creek, three miles from Raleigh, where he had gone with a young woman, Florence Lee, to fish. The couple had been drinking. They were on a rock ledge above the creek when Jackson, seeing the woman slip, according to her statement, tried to catch her, and fell into the water, the woman falling also. The woman's screams brought help, a pole was reached to her, and she was pulled out. Jackson, an expert swimmer, had held her up in the water, but seemed dazed and would not seize the pole himself. He was drowned, his body being later taken out. Evidence showed that Jackson and the woman were on intimate terms, and her conflicting statements, together with the failure to find $300, which Jackson had drawn from the bank, and a reported quarrel about a man the night before, caused the coroner to arrest the woman, as the death of Jackson is to be investigated.

From Miner to Millionaire.

Scranton, Pa., March 21.—Former Congressman William Connell, coal operator, capitalist and philanthropist, died to-day as the result of a paralytic stroke sustained on Thursday of last week. Beginning life's work in the coal mines in Luzerne county, this State, Mr. Connell, by close attention to business, died a multi-millionaire. One of the biggest tasks Mr. Connell ever undertook was when appointed sole arbitrator for the Lehigh Valley road in settling the claims arising from the Mud Run disaster of October 10, 1888, when 63 persons were killed and 120 injured. Only one case went to court. Mr. Connell was also active as a mediator in the attempted settlement of coal strikes and other local industrial disputes. He was a member of the Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth congresses.

Killed by School Mates.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 21.—Officers to-day began an investigation of the death by hazing of Charles Stintson, a pupil at the White school, in White county. Stintson, it is alleged, was strung up by the ankles to a sapling near the school and left hanging so long that he died a few hours after he was taken down. Several teachers of the school had been driven away by unruly pupils. A few days ago a new teacher was employed. He was more determined than his predecessors and whipped several boys. These castigated pupils alleged that Stintson tattled and thus caused their humiliation.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY ON FARM.

Warren Briggs and His Wife Killed by Neighbor.

Oil City, Pa., March 19.—The dead bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Briggs, with holes from Winchester rifle bullets in their breasts, were found at their home, 10 miles east of Tionesta, Forest county, to-day. The body of Amos Walton, a neighbor, was found in the house with his head almost blown off. It is believed Walton killed Briggs and his wife and then committed suicide. Walton was 50 years old and Mr. and Mrs. Briggs each 35 years old. Recently Walton beat a son of Briggs, who made information against him before a justice of peace at Marionville, charging assault and battery. Walton was placed in the custody of a constable. The hearing was to have taken place this morning. Walton asked permission of the constable to return home that he might secure witnesses and the request was granted. He went to his home, took a .48-calibre Winchester rifle and was seen going to the Briggs residence, arriving there about 11 o'clock. The body of Briggs was found near a barn, from which he was evidently coming when killed. Mrs. Briggs was killed in the kitchen of her home and the body of Walton was found on a chair in another room.

Cannon Kisses Young Woman.

Washington, March 18.—For her heroism in saving the lives of nine children during the burning of the Gen. Slocum, near New York in 1904, Miss Mary McCann was today presented by Speaker Cannon, on behalf of congress, with a silver life saving medal. Then she was just a little girl, 14, recovering from scarlet fever on North Brothers Island, while to-day she is a young woman, but notwithstanding her more advanced age at the conclusion of the presentation ceremonies, "the Iron Duke of American politics," took her blushing face between his hands and kissed her. The presentation ceremonies took place in the speaker's rooms at the capitol.

Mrs. Croft Died Monday.

Mrs. Sallie Croft died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Sorrell, in Colquitt county, Monday, pneumonia and the infirmities of age causing her death. The deceased was born in Barnwell county, S. C., August 18, 1826, and moved to Georgia with her father's family in 1834. She was married to Geo. Croft in 1855, who was killed in the battle of Fredericksburg in 1862, while gallantly fighting for his country. Mrs. Croft is survived by one son and two daughters. The funeral occurred at Pleasant Hill, in Colquitt county, Wednesday, Rev. J. M. Odum conducting the services.—Adel News.

Division of Labor.

"Got any work this mornin', Mistah Boyd?" asked old Billy Bulger, safe in the knowledge that no work would be entrusted to him. "No," was the response; and then, before Billy could ask for the customary contribution: "But wait a minute. Lawyer Phillips has owed me twenty dollars for twenty years. Collect it and I'll give you half." And the merchant, knowing how bad was the debt, winked at a waiting customer. The old man found the lawyer in the middle of a group of prospective clients and influential citizens. Thrusting through the group, he called, in stentorian tones: "Mistah Phillips, suh!" "Well?" queried the lawyer, much annoyed. "Mistah Boyd done tell me that you've owed him twenty dollars for about a hundred years; and he wants to know kin you pay him, suh." The lawyer hurried to Billy's side. "You idiot," he said sotto voce, "do you want to ruin my business? Here!" and he thrust a ten dollar bill into the old man's hand. Back to the merchant toddled the old man. "Well, Billy," said the merchant, "did you get it?" The old man grinned. "I got my half, all right," he chuckled; "but you'd better look out when you go back to get your half—he's right smart hot over it, suh!" Success.

Hight Priced Horseshoeing.

Gen. St. Clair Mulholland, veteran and historian, of the civil war, tells an incident showing the utter worthlessness of Confederate paper money at the close of the war. "Shortly after Lee's surrender," says the general, "I was a short distance from Richmond. The Confederate soldiers were going home to become men of peace again and were thinking about their farms. "One had a lame, broken down horse, which he viewed with pride. 'Wish I had him, Jim,' said the other. 'What'll you take for him? I'll give you $20,000 for him.' "No," said Jim. "Give you $50,000." "No," said Jim. "Give you $100,000," his friend said. "Not much," replied Jim. "I just gave $120,000 to have him shod."—Philadelphia Times.

Aged Negro Killed by Train.

Newberry, March 18.—Ned Kinard, an old negro, was killed at the Southern depot here yesterday. The freight engine was shifting, and Ned had his back to the train and was on the track. The car struck him and passed over his body, cutting off both legs. An inquest was held, the verdict being that the death was accidental. Ned was a slave of the late Gen. H. H. Kinard, and was more than a hundred years old. He claimed to be over a hundred and ten years old.

Billy Sunday's Eloquence.

"Twenty-two years ago, with the Holy Spirit as my guide, I entered this wonderful temple called Christianity. I entered at the portico of Genesis, walked down through the Old Testament art gallery, where the pictures of Noah, Abraham, Moses, Joseph, Isaac, Jacob and Daniel hung on the wall. I passed into the music room of Psalms, where the spirit swept the keyboard of nature and brought forth the dirge-like wail of the weeping prophet, Jeremiah, to the grand impassioned strain of the Old Testament of Sharon and the Lilly of the Valley's sweet scented spices filled and perfumed my life. I entered the business office of Proverbs, then into the observatory room of the prophets, where I saw telescopes of various sizes, some pointing to far-off events, but all concentrated upon the bright and morning star, which was to rise above the moonlit hills of Judea for our salvation. I entered the audience room of the King of Kings and caught a vision of His glory from the standpoint of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; passed into the Acts of the Apostles, where the Holy Spirit was doing the office work in the formation of the infant church. Then into the correspondence room, where sat Matthew, Mark, Luke, John, Paul, Peter, James and Jude, penning their epistles. I stepped into the farone room of Revelations, where all towered into glittering peaks, and I got a vision of the King sitting upon His throne in all His glory, and I cried: "All hail the power of Jesus' name, Let angels prostrate fall; Bring forth the royal diadem, And crown Him Lord of all."

Sympathy for Criminals.

Elsewhere is published a comment from The Bamberg Herald, in which the statement is made that had the first man convicted of murder and sentenced to hang in the county been executed there would have been fewer murders in Bamberg since it became a county. It was unfortunate that the governor permitted his sympathies to move him so far in that case, but that ought to be a lesson to the juries. They should do their duty to their communities and if blame is to follow, let it fall on the proper shoulders. Convict, if the evidence is incriminating, if the evidence is wrong the responsibility is elsewhere, if there are extenuating circumstances in the case there is another power to take them into consideration. If they do not crime will stalk abroad clothed in purple and gold and show its arrogant head with pride instead of shame.—Florence Times.
