Seats on the prohibition band wagon will soon be at a premium. No reserved seats, so come early.

In the recent dispensary election in Charleston there were 305 votes polled for prohibition. Really the blind tigers could not have voted for prohibition!

Bamberg needs not to elect a prohibition mayor and aldermen, for we have them already. Our mayor and most all the aldermen in this city are prohibitionists.

We do not see how a newspaper which advocates prohibition can consistently accept whiskey advertisements, especially after the county in which it is published has voted out the dispensary.

Other towns paid 12 cents for the first bale of new cotton. Bamberg paid 13½ cents. You know Bamberg always pays the highest prices for cotton, and that's the reason it is brought here from such long distances.

According to the statement of Comptroller General A. W. Jones, Bamberg county had on hand the 30th day of June, 1909, $3,491.66 in cash in the treasurer's office and $12,585.80 in banks, making a total of cash on hand of $16,077.46. With Bamberg county out of debt and this much cash on hand, it is no doubt a financial showing which can be exceeded by few counties in the State. Let's keep out of debt, too. If taxes have to be raised to make up for the lack of dispensary profits, do it, and keep out of debt.

The fund for erecting a monument to the women of the Confederacy has been raised, the grand total contributed by public subscription being $11,000. The legislature appropriated $7,500 for the same purpose, so the fund available for the purchase and erection of the monument is $18,500. The credit for raising this fund belongs to Capt. W. E. Gonzales, editor of the Columbia State, who personally and through the columns of his paper put forth able efforts and by his work made the monument a certainty.

No doubt the appointment of Mr. George Waterhouse, of Beaufort, a white man and a Democrat, as census supervisor for the second congressional district means that only competent men will be appointed as census enumerators. Character and efficiency should be prerequisites for these appointments and politics should not have any weight. But no negro should be appointed as a census enumerator, for it might as well be understood right now that Southern white people will not stand for negroes going into their homes in an official capacity. We trust, therefore, that good judgment will be used in the appointment of enumerators, and possibly friction saved thereby.

Shot Brother-in-Law.

Durham, N. C., August 23.—Mrs. Bettie Parton last night shot and dangerously wounded her brother-in-law, Henry Underwood, because the latter attacked her. Underwood, it is alleged, came home in an ugly mood and began a furious attack upon some of the occupants of the house. He used a chair as a weapon in an assault upon his brother, struck a neighbor a dangerous blow with a rock and finally turned upon Mrs. Parton, who recovered herself sufficiently to grab a revolver and fire a shot into Underwood's abdomen. Mrs. Parton was released on $100 bond.

SHORTAGE IS CHARGED.

Warrant Sworn Out for W. M. Williams, Member of Local Lodge.

W. Marion Williams, a well-known young insurance man of Columbia, was arrested yesterday charged with breach of trust. The specific charge is that while treasurer of Myrtle lodge, Knights of Pythias, the accused young man misappropriated $960 of the funds of the order. A warrant was issued by Magistrate Roberts for the young man's arrest, the warrant being sworn out by Mr. James H. Fowles, Jr., who is an officer of the lodge. Shortly after Williams was committed to jail bail was furnished in the sum of $2,000, and he was released. The bond was signed by the young man's father, Rev. W. W. Williams, who lives at Hampton, but is an extensive property owner in Marlboro county, and his uncle, Mr. J. W. Williams. The accused has been a resident of Columbia for about five years and is very prominently connected, not only locally, but in other parts of South Carolina. He is well known both socially and in a business way in Columbia. His insurance business is supposed generally to be very successful. Rev. W. W. Williams, of Hampton, father of W. Marion Williams, was in the city yesterday when his son was arrested, and as soon as telegrams could be received from the clerk of court of Marlboro he was allowed to sign the bond that released his son.—Columbia State.

Will Deport Two Chinamen.

Charleston, August 23.—The two Chinamen, Leung Chung and Chung Sung, who appear as "John Doe" and "Richard Doe" on the commitment papers of United States Commissioner Arthur R. Young, will be taken from Charleston to New Orleans tomorrow and from the gulf port will be carried with a number of other Chinese aliens back to Port Antonio, whence they came to this country.

The two Chinamen were brought to Charleston on the Norwegian steamer America of the United Fruit company several weeks ago. The men were arrested and found to have violated the exclusion act and were held for deportation back to Jamaica. Later sufficient evidence was collected which resulted in San Sing, a meeting street laundryman, being held for trial at the next term of the federal court on the charge of aiding, abetting and assisting in the violation of the law. One of the sailors who acted as the intermediary in the negotiations between the Chinese smuggling parties in Jamaica and Sam Sing is also held in jail, having turned State's evidence to testify against Sing when the case is called for trial.

Such a clear case of illegal admission into the country was made against Chung and Sung that there was never any question from the time of their arrest that they would be sent back to Jamaica. The presence of the aliens will not be necessary at the trial of Sing, so the government will send them back and save the cost of their maintenance. Instead of sending them by the America, on which they came into Charleston, they will be sent to New Orleans to join a bunch, awaiting deportation there.

Chief Office Deputy Virgil C. Clayton and Deputy Marshal Lee Adams will leave here to-morrow with the chinks for New Orleans.

CURFEW IN WASHINGTON.

Piano Playing After Midnight Declared Disorderly Conduct.

Piano playing and singing after midnight is disorderly conduct, as much so as cursing, swearing or fighting, declared Judge Ivory G. Kimball in the police court of Washington, D. C., on Wednesday, in dismissing with a lecture a case against Raymond Leman. The court announced that hereafter curfew would ring promptly at midnight, and all offenders brought before him would receive a fine.

"I want to impress upon you and your friends who were with you," said the judge to Leman, "that playing the piano after hours will not be tolerated in the city. We can't live in a city like this, all crowded together, unless everybody has some consideration for the rights of his neighbors. No man or woman has the right to play the piano or sing after his or her neighbors are asleep or in bed trying to sleep. Anyone who does not recognize the rights of his neighbor is a transgressor."

Continuing, the judge said that any house where music was kept up late at night was a disorderly one.

May Lynch Negro.

Marietta, Ga., August 21.—While aiding a policeman to arrest two negro women to-night, William Cooper, 23 years old, was fatally stabbed by John McFee. After his assailant had been placed under arrest a mob was formed and it was with great difficulty that the black was placed in jail. The mob became so threatening that on the advice of the mayor the members of the local militia company were called out. It is believed McFee will be lynched if allowed to remain here to-night.

MEXICAN ROMANCE.

Reared Amid Riches, Girl Seeks Peasant Mother.

A remarkable story of the restoration of a beautiful young girl to her mother after a separation of many years, comes from Matehuala, State of San Luis Potosi.

Sixteen years ago a young American woman, who came to Matehuala to visit the family of an American mining man, was ardently wooed by a well-educated Mexican named Antonio Ugalde. During that time the young woman made the acquaintance of Mrs. Marta Gonzales, a poor Mexican working woman, who had a beautiful baby girl, a little more than a year old. The American girl was devoted to this Mexican baby, and when she and Ugalde were married the bride obtained the consent of Mrs. Gonzales to take the baby with her on a trip to the United States, promising to return the child in a few weeks.

All this happened fifteen years ago. Mrs. Gonzales never heard of her child from that day until recently, when a vision of loveliness darkened the door of her humble home and announced that she was the long-lost daughter of the poor Mexican woman. Mrs. Gonzales had mourned her daughter as dead for many years, and to have her suddenly reappear—just blossoming into womanhood, fashionably attired, with all the beauty of face of the high-caste Spanish senorita and the pretty mannerisms of the American lady of education and culture—was almost too much for the poor Mexican mother, and it was some time before she could be made to realize the true situation.

The young woman knows very little Spanish, and as her mother can talk no English, it is necessary for them to carry on their conversation through an interpreter.

It was an interesting story the new-found daughter told. She says that as far back as she can remember she has lived in Chicago, and was taught to believe that Ugalde and his wife were her father and mother. They treated her well and as she grew up she was given the best educational and social advantages that the means of her supposed parents would allow. She was named Mary. When 12 years old Mary was placed in a convent, where she remained until a few weeks ago, when she returned to the home of the Ugaldes in Chicago. She found that domestic trouble had arisen, and that Ugalde had deserted his wife. It was then that Mrs. Ugalde told Mary the secret of her life. The young woman insisted upon returning to her Mexican mother in Matehuala, and her wish was gratified.

It is said that some of the American mining men in Matehuala have investigated the girl's story and find it to be true in every respect. She has been placed in the young women's college at that place to learn Spanish and receive the finishing touches to her education.—Philadelphia Record.

House with Past in Ashes.

Bamberg, August 23.—Fire early this morning destroyed a small wooden structure which has long been an eye sore to the people of this community. The building was a survivor of the days when the town was first built. Mr. J. B. Brickle was a heavy loser in the fire, he having had the place rented as a general repair shop for guns, automobiles and bicycles. His insurance was only $200, while his loss is between $800 and $1,000. It is understood that the small grocery store owned by J. H. Lott in the same building was covered by insurance. The building was the property of G. A. Ducker, a well-to-do Greek of this community. Mr. Ducker will replace the old building with a neat and modern two-story brick building. The Ott building, adjoining the Ducker store, was damaged to a small extent, the doors and windows having been burned, and a photograph gallery, with glass sides and overhead was ruined.

The little shop which was destroyed has had a long and checkered career. Within its walls have been conducted all kinds of trades; and during the time which it stood there it is said that at least 10 men and boys have met death in it accidentally and otherwise. Some even place the number as high as 13. In addition to these deaths it has been the scene of numerous fights and quarrels. So, taken all in all, the place was not one which people felt proud of, and when the new building is erected that part of Main street will have been considerably improved.

A. W. Summers, Esq., of Orangeburg, is out in a card in the newspapers of that city in which he states that he will positively not offer for the position of mayor of Orangeburg at the approaching municipal election. Mr. Summers says he believes the officials of his city will do their duty in enforcing the prohibition law, and that this is not the time for any division among the people.

IT IS SERIOUS

Some Bamberg People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back, The weariness, the tired feeling, The pains and aches of kidney ills Are serious—if neglected. Dangerous urinary troubles follow. A Bamberg citizen shows you how to avoid them.

E. L. Smith, Bamberg, S. C., says: "I have only words of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills as I know well of their merit. When I began using them I was suffering severely from kidney trouble, attacks of which had bothered me for more than a year. There was a constant, dull pain in the small of my back and I was annoyed by a frequent desire to void the kidney secretions. I also noticed that the secretions were unnatural and attended with pain during passage. When I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I went to the Peoples Drug Co. and procured a supply. Since using them my back has been free from pain, my kidneys have been restored to their natural condition and the secretions have cleared up."
