"TYPHOID MARY" FREE.

Case of New York Woman is Unique in Medical Circles.

New York, Feb. 20.—"Typhoid Mary," whose real name is withheld at the request of the New York health authorities, is a free woman again to-day having been confined in city hospitals, off and on for three years because physicians said that she was a living receptacle for typhoid germs and a menace to public health. She is a cook and is considered particularly dangerous in that capacity as likely to transmit disease, but with the understanding that she is to cook no more, Health Commissioner Lederle announced to-day that the department had decided to release her.

The case is unique in medical circles. After repeated cases of typhoid were discovered in families for whom the woman cooked the authorities made an investigation which resulted in her detention on the theory that she was a walking reservoir for typhoid germs.

Assault Charge Lodged.

Spartanburg, Feb. 18.—Henry Grier, a young business man of Greer, was arrested last night on the charge of attempting to make a criminal assault on a young lady of the same town several days ago. The warrant was sworn out by J. R. Mulligan before Magistrate Kirby. The case will be investigated to-morrow morning.

From what can be learned of the affair, it seems that the young lady in question was returning from Greenville and Grier was on the same train. At the depot he engaged a hack for her and then got in. The young lady objected, stating that she preferred to ride alone, but Grier insisted and she withdrew her objection. While in the hack she claims that Grier hugged her and she screamed for help.

When the hack drew near her home she cried out for help, because, it is alleged that Grier made an improper proposal to her. Her mother and J. R. Mulligan heard her screams and came running, the mother with a pistol and Mulligan with a cowhide, and he proceeded to give Grier a whipping, it is said.

Grier was arrested on the charge of assault and battery, the warrant being sworn out before Magistrate Henderson. Yesterday a warrant was sworn out against Grier, charging him with intent to ravish.

IN MEMORIAM.

The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society of Ehrhardt Lutheran church were deeply moved at the death of one of its oldest and most faithful members, Mrs. Adam King. At the last meeting of the society the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, 1st. That in the death of our ever-faithful and true member our society has lost one of its most esteemed members, and one whose memory will ever be cherished by many.

2nd. That though we deeply mourn her death, we submissively yield to the will of our Heavenly Father, faithfully trusting that our departed friend is now sitting at the feet of Jesus, in whom she confessed a confident trust during life.

3rd. That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the grief stricken husband, invoking upon him the divine benediction of him who alone can bring peace and comfort to sorrowing hearts.

4th. That these resolutions be inscribed upon a page in our minute book, and published in the Lutheran Church Visitor, The Bamberg Herald, and a copy of the same be sent to the bereaved husband.

EVENTS AT EHRHARDT.

Lien Law Repeal Inconsequential. Farmers Planting Good Crops.

Ehrhardt, Feb. 21.—The repeal of the lien law seems to cut a small figure here in the way of securing advances to make the present crop by the average leinor. Under the new regime credit is about as easily obtained as in former years, when the lien law graciously and lovingly reached out protecting arms to embrace even the humblest proprietor of an ox farm.

Farm work here never started off more encouragingly and satisfactorily than the present demonstrations towards the coming crop. The weather, except that it has been a little cold at times, has been ideal for outdoor work, and the progress of farm work encouraged by the farmer and farm laborer as well, seems to indicate success in the end along the whole line. Everybody works, there are no drones.

A pleasing feature in connection with farming here is the fact that there seems to be absolutely no inclination to increase the cotton acreage this year, at least. On the other hand cartailment of the acreage, even in the face of the gratifying prices obtained for the last crop, is more of a possibility than a probability. The slogan among thinking farmers is a bumper food crop, rather than a bumper cotton crop. One of the best thinkers among farmers said to this correspondent but a few days since:

"No, 15-cent cotton is no inducement to me to abandon planting food crops. I shall first endeavor to raise all home supplies, to live at home and board at the same place. What we fail to make to eat we have to buy, and what we buy is not half as good as home raised. If 20-cent bacon and $1.25 corn, with all other food-stuff in proportionate prices, does not teach the farmer the necessity of raising, or nearly as we can, all the necessities of life on the farm at less than one-third the cost of present prices, and be independent of the speculator, then I say the poor fellows who continue the policy of farming necessitating the paying of such prices for food have no brains to mix with business, and are to be pitied rather than censured."

Many instances here could be cited showing where shrewd business intelligence has raised the farmer out of the mire of dependence and placed him upon an eminence in the business world, where he looks upon the speculator with modest scorn and derision.

An epidemic of grip, intense in severity, has swept the country round about, leaving in its trail some victims of the disease, many of whom look more dead than living.

Measles is a disturbing element now, and many little tots are victims.

On the road to the home of Mr. Geo. Heirs, on Saturday evening last, the horse driven by Misses Urbanna Westberry and Maud Mathis became frightened and ran away, throwing the young ladies to the ground. They escaped injury except slight bruises and a deal of fright, although the buggy was broken to pieces.

Affairs at Allendale.

Allendale, Feb. 21.—The Allendale postoffice is soon to have new and commodious quarters in the brick annex being erected by Dr. R. P. Searson, the popular postmaster, adjacent to his drug store.

Another evidence of progress in this town is the handsome brick building, recently erected on Main street, the home of the Citizens' Bank.

The Allendale Cotton Seed Oil Mill Company is preparing to rebuild its seed ware house, lately destroyed by fire.

The railroad commissioners have ordered a passenger train put on the Charleston and Western Carolina Railroad to run from Allendale to Yemassee, giving the public morning connection for Charleston, Beaufort, and intermediate points. The new schedule will give the patrons of this road two trains each way, morning and evening.

Dr. C. W. Erwin, who recently made his home in Allendale, is ill with pneumonia.

Mr. T. D. Johnson is convalescent, after a severe illness.

Mr. A. W. Owens is suffering from an attack of the grip.

Takes Prisoner to Gastonia.

Lexington, Feb. 21.—Sheriff P. H. Corley left last night for Gastonia, N. C., carrying with him a white man by the name of Wilson, wanted by the authorities of North Carolina upon the charge of abortion. Wilson was arrested in New Brookland yesterday at the instigation of Sheriff Corley, and brought to Lexington. During the day his wife came to see him, and the two chatted for some time. Wilson denies his guilt and says that he will be able to clear himself at the proper time.
