

TRAINS HIT IN FOG.

Head-on Collision on Southern in Barnwell County—Four Injured.

Columbia, Nov. 20.—Two tramps, one probably fatally and the other seriously, were injured, and two white passengers sustained hurts when Southern passenger trains Nos. 23 and 24 collided head-on in a fog at Barton, in Barnwell county, some eighty miles south of Columbia, this morning at 3.29 o'clock. The engines of both trains and express cars were hurled from the track, which was torn up for a distance of some yards.

T. A. Lloyd and David Simmons, said to be two tramps, were, it is said, riding between the engine and baggage car of No. 23, the south-bound passenger, when the collision took place. Lloyd was probably fatally injured, while Simmons suffered a broken arm and other bruises. Two white passengers, L. C. Fanning, of Sally, had his ankle broken, and Mrs. M. F. Myers, of Sandy Springs, was slightly injured by being thrown against a seat.

None of the train crew was hurt and only the engines and baggage cars left the track, the remainder of both trains sticking to the rails. Superintendent Hudson was a passenger on No. 24, coming to Columbia, and he immediately took charge of the wreck, transferring passengers and clearing away the debris. A wrecking train brought physicians to the scene and the wounded were cared for at once. The track was cleared at noon and the Southern's southeastern Limited, No. 31, got through on time.

No. 23 runs from Columbia to Jacksonville, and No. 24 from Jacksonville to Columbia, and were about on time when they collided this morning in Barnwell county. Both carried combination baggage and mail cars, colored and white day coaches and Pullmans. The cause of the wreck is unknown, but it is said that a thick fog enveloped both trains when they crashed.

Not Positive About Race for Senate.

Greenville, Nov. 19.—The following statement was given out by Representative A. F. Lever here today in regard to the race for the United States Senate.

"As to what my intentions are regarding the Senatorial race, I am prepared to say this:

"I am now representing the 7th district in congress, and am chairman of the committee on agriculture of that body. To handle this powerful committee is a man's job, for it is the work of this committee in which the farmers are most vitally interested, and I do not propose to dissipate my energies and neglect my duties by beginning a campaign for a position that is not now open. No race for the Senate is now on and I shall cross no bridges which have not been reached. I have found no imperative call upon me to enter a race that is not yet even begun. When it does open, if patriotism and my conception of duty seem to demand that I should enter this contest, I will meet the situation positively, and irrevocably.

"I am prepared, however, to say that under the existing circumstances it is not likely that I shall aspire to the junior Senatorship next summer. Beyond expressing the probability of my intentions I do not care to go."

While it is evident that Mr. Lever has about reached a definite conclusion, it is equally evident that should there be any material changes in the situation he would feel free to alter what appears to be a conclusion in his own mind concerning his course in next year's campaign.

Expensive Duck Shooting.

One of the largest duck shooting clubs in California is supposed to contain 3,700 acres of land and water. Of this amount perhaps 1,000 acres are water, says the Outing. A great deal of the land is very valuable as celery land, and were it not for the club members, it would undoubtedly all be drained for this purpose. It was told that the initiation fee in this club was $20,000, and that the annual dues were $1,000 per member. As there are 40 members, this gives them $40,000 a year for running expenses, and my informant told me there had never been a year that they did not have to make a reassessment. In the year 1912 the expenses ran to $70,000; so, you see, this gun club business is not exactly a poor man's game. This one property controls five miles of ocean frontage.

He Had a Millionaire's Privilege.

They had just become engaged. "Oh, Will," she said, moving a trifle closer to him, "I am so glad you are not rich! They say that some of those millionaires receive threatening letters saying that something dreadful will happen to them if they don't pay the writers sum of money."

"Oh, is that all?" replied Will. "Why, I get plenty of such letters."

WANT MOB MEMBERS TRIED.

Spartanburg Grand Jury Ask Solicitor to Prosecute.

Spartanburg, Nov. 20.—Solicitor Albert E. Hill is called upon, in a presentment made to Judge DeVore today by the Spartanburg county grand jury, to prosecute members of the mob who on the night of August 18 last dynamited the county jail in an effort to lynch Will Fair, a negro accused of assaulting a white woman. Four men are named by the grand jury as members of the lynching mob and bench warrants for their arrest were issued this evening by Judge DeVore.

"After careful investigation into the assault on the jail," the grand jury reports, "we find that certain parties, utterly disregarding the lives of our officers and the county property, did make an assault on the jail with the intent of taking the life of Will Fair. We present to the Court W. R. Belcher, Jesse Wolfe, Bob Wilson and Robert Ward, and ask our solicitor to prosecute them."

Foreman W. G. Query, of the grand jury, declined to disclose the method of procedure followed in the grand jury's investigation, saying that to make it public might interfere with the apprehension of other alleged members of the mob, who are being sought. The grand jury's action is without precedent here. Fair was not lynched. During a battle, which raged the greater part of the night and in which three men were shot, Sheriff W. J. White and his deputies held the men at bay and in the morning spirited Fair out of the jail and took him to the State penitentiary at Columbia. He was tried at a special term of Court and acquitted, though his accuser, the young wife of a farmer, swore positively that he had assaulted her. Her story was believed by the jury to be an hallucination due to a condition peculiar to her sex.

Dillon Man Dead Beside Track.

Florence, Nov. 20.—Duncan Carmichael, a young man of Dillon, 25 years old, was found by the side of the Wilmington road this morning just outside the city limits, with his head crushed in, his leg broken and the toes of one foot cut off. The body was discovered by the crew of the local freight coming in from Wilmington and the body had not yet become cold. The appearances were that he had been put off a train or gotten off. It is supposed that he was returning home possibly on a late night train or a very early morning train. He was evidently sleeping on the track and was struck by an incoming train or the early train outgoing to Wilmington. Neither crew could report having struck a man at that point. His grip was near him, the handle broken off, and in his pocket was a bloody handkerchief, as if he had wiped a bleeding nose on it. His family was notified and his cousin came here on the first train. The inquest could throw no light on the tragedy but the jury declared that he had been killed by a train. He was unmarried.

Kills Mother and Self.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Albert Zinkie, forty-four years old, shot and killed his mother and himself today. A note found by the police said the deed was committed because Zinkie and his mother were "hard up and better off dead."

LOOKING FOR BAD BOYS.

"Toughest" Specimens Will Be Given Chance at Reno.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 21.—Juvenile and truant officers here were today asked by Jack Robbins, president of the National Fellowship Club, of Chicago, for assistance in finding the "toughest" boy in the city. After he is located he will be offered membership in the "Last Chance Boy's Club," and with eleven others taken to a ranch near Reno, Nev., where he will be given an opportunity to become a good man.

Recently Upton Sinclair, Robert Hunter, Jack London and Jack Robbins formed an organization having for its object the saving of a dozen of the worst boys in the country and Mr. Robbins was chosen to select them. Already bad boys have been located at Racine, Wis.; Mishawaka, Ind.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Lima, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo. No boys over 12 years old are considered.

No Necessity for Language.

"Does the baby talk yet?" asked a friend of the family of the little brother.

"Naw," replied the little brother disgustedly. "He don't need to talk. All he has ter do is yell, and he gits everything in the house worth having."

Getting Even.

A little boy had been punished by his mother one day, and that night at bedtime he prayed thus:

"Dear Lord, bless Papa and Sister Lucy and Brother Frank and Uncle Fred and Aunt Mary and make me a good boy, Amen."

Then looking up into his mother's face, he said: "I suppose you noticed that you weren't in it."

WANTS TO ADDRESS WIFE.

Man Applies to Court to Secure Him an Audience.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 19.—Reversing the usual order of things in which wives are supposed to talk too much to their husbands, M. C. Prichard, of Macon, Ga., has invoked the aid of the judiciary to enable him to talk to his wife. To that end Prichard swore out a habeas corpus warrant directing that Mrs. Prichard be produced in court next Monday and feels confident that what he has to say will sweep away all their marital troubles.

The Prichards have been separated for some time and Mrs. Prichard has been living with Mrs. Edward B. Keeley at whom the habeas corpus warrant is technically directed. Baffled by the refusal of his wife to heed his plea for a reconciliation, Prichard in desperation resorted to the habeas corpus tactics as a last resort.

Lawyers say he has a good case. All concerned are well connected socially.

Animal Food.

A certain Irish coachman was advised by a doctor to take animal food as the best means of restoring health and activity.

"Pat," said he, "you're run down a bit, that's all. What you need is animal food."

Remembering his case a few days afterward, he called on Pat at the stable.

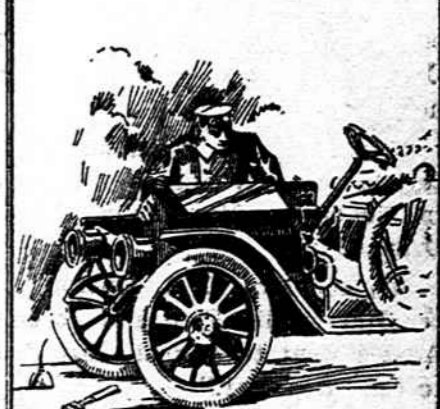

"Well, Pat," said he, "How are you getting on with the treatment?"

"Sure," Pat replied, "Oi manage all right with the grain and oats, but it's mighty hard I find it with the chapped hay, your honor."—New York Globe.

Pleasure and Protection

"One of the best reasons why I would not be without telephone service," writes a Georgia farmer, "is the pleasure it gives my wife and the knowledge that while I am away, she has the protection that the telephone gives."

On the farm the telephone dispels loneliness and is the means of bringing help in any emergency that may arise.

If you haven't a telephone on your farm see the nearest Bell Telephone Manager or write for our free booklet and learn how little this service costs.
