

The Bamberg Herald

ESTABLISHED APRIL, 1891.

Published every Thursday in The Herald building, on Main street, in the live and growing City of Bamberg, being issued from a printing office which is equipped with Mergenthaler linotype machine, Babcock cylinder press, folder, two jobbers a fine Miehle cylinder press, all run by electric power with other material and machinery in keeping, the whole equipment representing an investment of $10,000 and upwards.

Subscriptions—By the year $1.50; six months, 75 cents; three months, 50 cents. All subscriptions payable strictly in advance.

Advertisements—$1.00 per inch for first insertion, subsequent insertions 50 cents per inch. Legal advertisements at the rates allowed by law. Local reading notices 5 cents a line each insertion. Wants and other advertisements under special head, 1 cent a word each insertion. Liberal contracts made for three, six and twelve months. Write for rates. Obituaries, tributes of respect, resolutions, cards of thanks, and all notices of a personal or political character are charged for as regular advertising. Contracts for advertising not subject to cancellation after first insertion.

Communications—We are always glad to publish news letters or those pertaining to matters of public interest. We require the name and address of the writer in every case. No article which is defamatory or offensively personal can find place in our columns at any price, and we are not responsible for the opinions expressed in any communication.

It is as little as any one can wish that Ford and his peace party will meet with success; but from this distance it certainly looks like a wild goose chase. Ford knows a good deal about running the automobile business, but when it comes to running Europe, we imagine that is a much different matter.

The Newberry Herald and News, rounding out its fiftieth year, celebrated its half century of existence with the issuance of a 56-page semi-centennial edition last Friday. The issue is a credit to a town much larger than Newberry, and the advertising, patronage extended the edition was quite liberal. In the edition there are a large number of valuable articles.

The Need for Women.

"Lovest thou me enough to give thyself?" Our most urgent need today is for men and women who will come out to reap in these white harvest fields. The work is hard; I know of none harder. But it is a work that angels might envy—full of suffering and brimful of joy. Could we bring to these columns the experience and calm judgment of the women who are filling their places in the various fields of home and foreign service, it would read as the voice of one: "I have thanked God a thousand times that my lot has fallen in the heart of such an opportunity."

Young woman, with brain alert and mind equipped, but with anchor of life still drifting, turn your thought to the need of the world—its need for women. Read where you will, you will find the nations of earth groping after the light which a Christian woman can give.

Mrs. Anna Atwater says the word has not yet been spoken to us as women to give the highest form of service.

Could we but hear the voice of need, as those who go among the needy hear it, many who are letting the golden days slip past in useless rounds of social life would joyfully yield to the call. The literature of today is that voice. We call upon the splendid young women of Southern Methodism to let it speak to them.

Go ask thy soul in the silence alone with the Father now, and search thy heart with the question: How much and what owest thou? We hear so often, wanted—a woman, a woman who can do things and does them every time she gets the chance; who, having seen a worthy end, works towards it, though it be ten thousand miles away; who cannot stand the reproach upon herself of good things left undone; who believes that anything worth believing in is worth working for; who marshals forces and produces forces where they are not at hand, who has a knack or is hunting for one; who, charged with energy, charges others; who puts ginger into all she sets at and leaves out the mustard and vinegar; who is all on fire, yet never scorches people; who is humble enough to accept "nobody's business" as her business; who says, "come on, let's do it," and then does it, whether anybody comes or not; who takes hold and lets go only for a new hold; who undertakes all she ought, neglecting to ask whether she can.

Wanted—A woman to do things, to do them hard and long and today.—Contributed.

Scotland has the first drawbridge in the world in which all the work of opening and closing it and guarding traffic over and through it is done by electricity.

The Young Man's Job.

Congressman Byrnes, of South Carolina, in speaking at Greenville last week said, "the interests of the employer and the employee are one and the same." President Sherard said, "The mills have nothing to suffer in the matter" (of the passage of the Palmer bill). The two statements look contradictory, but Mr. Sherard, who is a mill superintendent and knows, explained that help is plentiful, and there are more people than jobs,—that the labor of young children is not profitable to a mill at any price, but that until a scale of wages can be sufficiently increased so a man can buy his family all they want and need with his own wages,—until then it will be the greatest hardship on the boys and girls of 14, 15 and 16 years of age who want to help themselves and their families, to be deprived of their work in the mills.

This is what the Palmer or Palmer-Owen bill will do, and it is strictly "up to" the people in the mills to let their congressmen know by sending petitions showing how they feel about it. Congressman Byrnes, in his Greenville address, pointed out the unconstitutionality of the bill, but that cannot deter the smart people who are back of the bill from getting it through if the voters of some sections persist in saddling other sections with the law. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and prompt action now is the price of many a young man's job. It is really nonsense to call the work of a boy of 15 years child labor, but that is the slogan and so that is what we have to call it.—Mill News.

Wanted Cleopatra.

"Give me a copy of 'Anthony and Cleopatra,' please," said the bright young man entering the book store. "Yes, sir," said the clerk. "Here you are. One dollar and fifty cents." "I've only got seventy-five cents, so just give me 'Cleopatra.'"

Backache

Miss Myrtle Cothrum, of Russellville, Ala., says: "For nearly a year, I suffered with terrible backache, pains in my limbs, and my head ached nearly all the time. Our family doctor treated me, but only gave me temporary relief. I was certainly in bad health. My school teacher advised me to

TAKE

Cardui
The Woman's Tonic

I took two bottles, in all, and was cured. I shall always praise Cardui to sick and suffering women." If you suffer from pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, or other symptoms of womanly trouble, or if you merely need a tonic for that tired, nervous, worn-out feeling, try Cardui. E-65

The Quinine That Does Not Affect The Head Because of its tonic and laxative effect, LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor ringing in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE, 25c.

A BANK ACCOUNT IS LIFE'S BEST INSURANCE

IN time of death the bank account proves itself the BEST KIND of insurance. You can get your money IMMEDIATELY and without question. During life the bank account proves EQUALLY VALUABLE, provided it is kept at a figure that really insures, and it pays BETTER INTEREST. Get your cash in the bank. Leave it there. You can't beat that kind of insurance. This requires DETERMINATION and sometimes SELF SACRIFICE. But it pays. A bank account WITH US is your BEST POLICY.
