KEEP THE BALL A-ROLLING

COMMUNITY Enterprise is like a snowball. When all push together the work is easy for each. Today is the day of the home town. "Back to the Home Town" is the slogan of the nation. The big city is a self-confessed failure. It has failed to provide for its own. It has shipwrecked humanity. But there are no breakers ahead of us. In our community all interests can unite. All we have to do is to keep the ball in motion. It grows by itself if we only start it. Let's all take a hand.

SUCCESS OF TOMATO CLUB GIRL.

Miss Julia Delk, of Blackville, Describes Her Work for Three Years.

The following interesting and encouraging account of the work and success of Miss Julia Delk, of Blackville, as a member of the Girls' Tomato club, will be read with interest by every one and should prove an inspiration to other club members, and to those who contemplate entering this work. Miss Delk's account is as follows:

"There is a song entitled 'Do Dreams Come True?' I have not heard if there has been a written song in reply to this question, but with all my heart I make reply, 'They do.'

"My desire to be a 'tomato girl' grew out of my first visit to the Barnwell county fair. As I passed through the different exhibition rooms I was impressed most of all with the wonderful achievements of the Tomato club girls and from there I caught an inspiration. I thought what those girls have accomplished I can and will also. That was the autumn of 1912. I have been three years in the work and I will base my little story of my work on three questions that I shall ask myself, the first of which is: 'How did I begin work?' I began my work with almost nothing but faith, hope and enthusiasm, all good things to have but poor tools to grow a tomato farm unless one has some other needful articles. I had at my command sufficient land, labor, compost, etc., but fertilizer, tomato cans and the required tools for canning were purchased on time. I tended my little farm with the pride of an English King and with growing inspiration I saw myself succeed. The first year I won first prize of one dollar for best cap and apron, second prize of two dollars for second best history of year's work, first prize of one dollar for best okra and tomatoes, making a total of four dollars in prizes.

"I put up the first year 251 cans, seventy-eight jars and nineteen bottles, including nineteen articles of canned goods, besides for home use I used seventy-five pound of tomatoes and twenty-five quarts of beans. Besides my little tomato farm I canned from the home farm and orchard. I was not financially able to purchase a canning outfit so I just used the family clothes boiler. My profit the first year was $25 besides my prizes of $4, to say nothing of my experience gained in the work. And, too, I had plenty of good things for the table all the time.

"Because of my success it may be easily imagined that I was doubly eager to begin work again the next year. My work was similar to the first year's work except that I had one-tenth acre in beans, but my prizes amounted to much more. I won first prize for best history of work. That was a short course to Winthrop college. Another prize was a free trip to the State fair in Columbia. Besides these wonderful trips I won $4.50 in different prizes for my canned goods display. My beans produced 314 cans which if sold would have netted me a gain of $24 from my club garden. I put up sixty-seven jars of pickles of cat-soup, valued at $10. My tomatoes yielded 1,175 pounds minus cost of cultivation, profit is $20, making a total of $54, besides plenty of good things to eat all the time. My third year's work has been the best of all and I have enjoyed it most of all because I have become more capable of doing these things and naturally one enjoys working where one knows how to do things.

"I bought a canning outfit the second year and of course, I began with renewed zeal and courage. I haven't quite finished my year's work as yet. I have about 200 pounds of tomatoes on my tenth acre, a few pimentos yet and will also put up pumpkin and citron yet. I have had, if possible, more success this year, so far, than in either of the previous years. My tomatoes were cut short by drought and I lacked a few plants that I couldn't supply and just filled it out with beans.

"My crop this year is as follows: Beans, 416 cans; tomatoes, 181 cans; berries, 13 cans; corn, 24 cans; peas, 34 cans; peaches, 22 cans; apples, 23 cans; pears, 3 cans.

"Besides these I have 114 jars and glasses of preserves, jellies, pickles, jams, chile sauces, pimentos, making a total of 830 cans, jars and glasses of well prepared canned goods and pickles. The cost of producing amounts to $39 and valuing the products at $86 leaves me with a profit of $47. My story is nearing its close. 'What have I accomplished?'

"I have learned how to use the different products of garden, farm, and the least cost. I have begun making orchard to the greatest advantage at a name for myself that will be an honor to me and my family. I have experience in economy and taking care, and in this way I have more to eat and more to sell thereof, enabling me to have money of my own.

"What do I hope to accomplish?"

Why here is where the dream comes true. I have hoped that some future day I shall gain an education from Winthrop college and an independent living through the tomato club work. I am not sitting with folded hands and wishing for these things to come true. I am working with a kind providence to make them possible, for:

John Wesley's Rule.

Do all the good you can,
By all the means you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as ever you can.

Needy.

"Isn't it terrible about those poor struggling artists?" remarked Mrs. Jones as she wandered through the picture gallery. "It looks as if half of them didn't even have money enough to buy clothes for their models."—Life.

Generous Offer.

"Time and again I've given you a lift in my motorcar."

"So you have."

"Now that I am hard up and can't meet this month's payment on it, you refuse to lend me any money."

Double Proof.

A tramp knocked at a farmer's door and called for something to eat. "Are you a Christian?" asked the good-hearted man.

"Look at the holes worn in the knees of my pants. What do they prove?"

The farmer's wife promptly brought out the food and the tramp turned to go.

"Well! well!" asked the farmer. "What made those holes in the back of your pants?"

"Backsliding," replied the tramp as he hurried on.—Chicago Herald.
