

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

Carlisle Myrick is Remembered by the Folks at Home.

The Memorial exercises held at the Kingstree Baptist church here Sunday evening in honor of the memory of Carlisle Myrick was one of the most impressive services ever held in this town.

The church was patriotically decorated for the occasion, several huge American flags being conspicuous in the decorations.

The church was thronged with people to pay their last tribute to a young man, universally esteemed in this, his home and community; who in answer to his country's call had died the death of a hero on foreign soil. And while his body is buried "Somewhere in France" still his memory is held sacred and dear by those who knew him best and among whom he labored.

The services were opened with prayer by Rev. G. T. Harmon, who prayed earnestly for all the young men who have been called by their duty to go to a foreign land to fight for the principles of right and justice.

"Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," was sung by the choir, after which the evening offering, which was given to the Red Cross, was taken up.

Rev. E. A. McDowell, pastor of the church, stated that the exercises held would have been appropriate, even under ordinary circumstances, but were made doubly so since the young man, true to his convictions had answered the call of duty and had given up his life on the altar of sacrifice for what he conceived to be the right.

Mr. S. J. Deery, chairman of the committee, then read a set of resolutions which had been prepared, after which he made a few remarks paying tribute to the deceased as a worthy member of the church and faithful to its Sunday-school. Mr. W. E. Jenkinson, for whom Carlisle Myrick clerked before going to the colors, was introduced, and Mr. Jenkinson paid a high tribute to the worthiness of the young man as a straightforward, honest, honorable employee, true to every trust. Gen. Robert E. Lee had said: "Duty is the sublimest word in the English language" and "Carlisle Myrick," the speaker said, "knew what this meant and measured up to its highest standard."

Mr. M. A. Shuler, the next speaker, paid a loving tribute to the memory of a young man whose example other young men could well emulate.

Mr. Laurence H. McCullough told of Carlisle Myrick's measuring up to every duty in his Sunday-school and that he was one of the young men who could always be depended upon to measure up to every requirement of duty.

Mr. A. C. Hinds recalled the young man of an honest eye, open countenance, a pleasant face, a quick and steady step and he was proud that Carlisle Myrick would be numbered among the heroes of Kingstree.

Rev. G. T. Harmon then made a short address in which he stated Carlisle Myrick had died a hero's death because he had died in the path of duty and the world honored a man who thus received his final summons, and that the world drew the sweet mantle of pity over those who were caught by the last summons away from the path of duty.

The Baptist church then voted to adopt the resolutions prepared by the committee. This being done Rev. G. T. Harmon made the motion that the resolutions be adopted by the community, which was done by a rising vote.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas: It is an undeniable fact, that we are all created by God, who created all things for some good and noble end; and whereas, God made man after his own image and all being of one flesh are therefore, brothers, and should have as our paramount aim to serve Him, who hath made us and gave Himself for us, so we in like manner should each and all of us give ourselves to Him and to our country as servants thereof. And,

Whereas, God, who never errs, saw fit to rid our brother, Carlisle Myrick, from the horrors of war, first said: "Son, give me thine heart," to which call he boldly answered: "I give my all to Thee." And when the world's freedom lay in jeopardy, and the long roll of his country was sounded, he sprang to arms and to his country's call to do or to die for his own dear native land, fully realizing, that the path of duty, that he was entering held in an unknown and untried land, far away from kindred and fond associates. And,

Whereas, He, who has this courage and honesty of purpose to come bravely out from the world to bear the cross of his Savior and enlist in the service of his Master, and is also imbued with the same high and lofty aims to serve his country, his native land and people for the uplift of humanity is a christian patriot indeed. And, whereas, God, who gives and who takes away, whose wisdom none can doubt, has seen fit on the eve of bloody strife, to exchange our brother's service for a peaceful sleep:

Therefore be it resolved: 1. That we do bow in meek and humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well; 2. That in Carlisle Myrick's death, the Kingstree Baptist church has lost a faithful and useful mem-

RUSSIANS AGREE.

Fearing Further Onerous Demands Delegates Accept Treaty.

Petrograd, Saturday, March 2.—In the fear that argument would result in even more onerous terms, the Russian delegation at Brest-Litovsk has accepted all the German peace conditions and is about to sign an agreement, according to a telegram from the delegates received today at the Smolny Institute. The demands already have been increased, they reported.

The message, which was addressed to Premier Lenine and Foreign Minister Trotzky, follows:

"As we anticipated, deliberations on a treaty of peace are absolutely useless and could only make things worse in comparison with the ultimatum of February 21. They might even assume the character of leading to the presentation of another ultimatum.

"In view of this fact and in consequence of the German's refusal to cease military action until peace is signed, we have resolved to sign the treaty without discussing its contents and leave after we have attached our signatures. We, therefore, have requested a train, expecting to sign today and leave afterwards.

"The most serious feature of the new demands compared with those of February 21 is the following:

"To detach the regions of Karaband, Kars and Batoum from Russian territory on the pretext of the right of people to self-determination."

The new territorial claims upon Russia are apparently advanced in the interest of Turkey. Batoum, a strongly fortified seaport on the Black Sea coast, in Trans-Caucasia, about 20 miles north of the border of Turkish Armenia, was one of the cities ceded to Russia by Turkey after the Turko-Russian war of 1877-78. Kars, also in Trans-Caucasia, 105 miles northeast of Erzeroum in Turkish Armenia, has been in dispute between the Turks and the Russians for nearly a century and finally was ceded to Russia at the same time as was Batoum. The other region mentioned probably is that of Karabagh, Trans-Caucasia, lying to the east of the Kars region and north of the Persian border.

SAVE 20 PER CENT. BY BUYING NOW

I have been very fortunate in stocking my store from the floor to the ceiling with goods at last September prices, which are at least 20 per cent. lower than today's prices. But, remember! My stock can't last long at the rate my customers are now taking advantage of them. If you, Mr. Reader, expect to get furniture within the next 12 months, it shall certainly be to your advantage to do this purchasing at once. I have one more carload which should arrive here about the 1st of March. My store is now about as full as it can get, but by March if trade continues, I shall have sufficient room for the next car. The March car will complete my September contract, and all shipments hereafter will be 20 per cent. higher. So don't put this matter off any longer; do like your neighbor is doing. Get something in your home to make it comfortable before the price is too high. Leave it to your wife, and she will buy furniture in preference to anything else in the world, for she realizes that it makes the house a real home, as comfort means happiness.

Help the Operators Serve You Better

Telephone subscribers are urged to call by number and not by name. In a community of this size the operators cannot possibly remember the names of all subscribers; when you call by name you delay your service and hamper its efficiency.

All telephones are known to the operators by numbers which are on the switchboard directly in front of them. The directory is your index to the switchboard and should be consulted before making a call.
