"SLACKER ROUND UP."

More Than Fifteen Hundred Men Inducted Into Military Service.

New York, Sept. 7 .- More than 1,500 men were inducted into mili-" tary service and 1,500 others were adjudged seriously delinquent as a result of the "slacker round up" in New York and northern New Jersey early this week. Charles F. De-Woody, chief agent of the department of justice, announced today. A total of 60,167 men were examin-

Of those classed as delinquents, Mr. DeWoody said, many will be proved draft dodgers and sent to camp.

Others who failed to file their questionnaires, to appear for physical examination or to present themselves for induction at the expiration of time extensions allowed for special reasons will be dealt with by their local boards, the official stated. Mr. DeWoody asserted that in New York City 21,312 men were examined and 756 sent to cantonments. while 2,485 were rated as seriously delinquents. Of 38,875 who passed through the hands of officials in New Jersey, 749 were ordered into service and 12,515 were listed as delinquents.

Before final passage of the measure the senate voted, 45 to 6, to retain the prohibition rider. A final effort to postpone the effective date of the "dry" legislation to December 30, 1919, was defeated.

May Go to Conference.

The bill now goes to the house, and because of the many amendments inserted by the senate it undoubtedly will be sent to conference. Prohibition leaders, however, expect the house to agree to the "dry" rider so that there will be no possibility of changes being made by the senate and house managers.

Senators voting against retaining the "dry" legislation in the bill were. Brandegee, of Connecticut; Garry, of Rhode Island; Phelan, of California; Pomerene, of Ohio; Ransdell, of Louisiana, and Underwood, of Alabama, while it was announced that many members absent and pared favored the amendment.

'W. J. Harris, Atlanta, Ga.:

Mrs. C. W. Weeks, of Fernandina, Fla., is in receipt of the following letter from her son, Corporal J. L. Armstrong, formerly of this city, under date of July 29th, from "somewhere in France":

was so glad to hear from you and to self in a certain village. He inquired know that you are all well. Well, mama, I am writing this letter at a place right near the firing line, and I wish some of the sounds of the canons could stretch so you could hear and see how the boys are knocking Fritz. I have been up here about three weeks and will leave tomorrow for the place where I have been that you don't know there is a war going on. Mama I was lying in my tent last night when Huny came over, as he does every night. Of course we put up the signal, which, if an American plane, he would have answered. but Fritz did not answer so we cut loose on him, and I saw him when he started head first, never to fly anymore. Every day and night you can see Fritz and our boys popping away at each other. Night before last we shot one down a little ways from here. I was riding along about forty-five miles an hour when Fritz sent out one of his big ones (16 inches thick and about 5 feet long) and it bursted about 150 yards back of me. Well, you know how it feels to sit in a sail boat as the sails jibes?

motorcycle; it leaped like a frog. "Mama I would not take $100,000 for my experience in the last month, and I only hope you can see some of the real moving pictures I am in taken in the hottest part of the fray. I will have to stop now until Fritz leaves from above, although three of our planes are popping it to him. Well, here goes the bunch of us for the dug out. Forty-five minutes and am back again. Huny won't fly any more, as our plane No. 13 knocked all his flying feathers out and is heaped up in the field not very far from my tent.

"You have to pick out your lacking, as it is also in England. The chance up here to do anything, as the roads of France are wonderful, but boys are so hot after the Huns that anything but run.

"How are all? Hope well and and tell him we are knocking the fiz out of his name-sake. Love to all "JACK."

Hitchcock was forced to walk more than a hundred miles. This he did in eight consecutive nights, hiding during the daytime. He lived on the food he had saved from his meager rations in the prison camp. He was entirely ignorant of the country through which he passed, but guided himself by a small pocket compass. On the "I received your dear letter and eighth day of his tramp he found himof a small girl whether he was in Switzerland and, upon being told that he was, made his way direct to Berne, where he arrived August 30 and called at the American legation.

Hitchcock was captured March 6, when he was forced to land after an aerial combat with three German machines. He was wounded in the thigh and his machine became diabled at an altitude of 1,000 metres, but he managed to land safely inside the German lines. He was immediately seized by several Germans and taken to a dressing station. From there he was sent to a hospital at St. Arnold. Later he was transferred to Saarbrucken.

It took two months for the wound in Hitchcock's leg to heal. He said he was not maltreated by the Germans, but that there was plenty of suffering among the prisoners, who were barely existing. He said he had been saved by the arrival of packages containing food from France.

Hitchcock will leave for the United States in about three weeks. He intends to transfer from the French to the American flying corps.
