

STUDENT SERIOUSLY HURT.

W. F. Fairey, of Orangeburg, Suffers Injury.

Columbia, Feb. 5.—William Fletcher Fairey, Jr., of Orangeburg, a member of the junior class at the University of South Carolina, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon about 1:45 o'clock when the gasoline tank on the rear of an automobile belonging to A. S. Herbert, a law student, exploded.

Young Fairey, who was standing about ten feet away, was hurled some distance, striking the side of the building near which the car was standing. The head of the tank struck the young man in the chest, causing a deep gash which penetrated the left lung just above the heart, and his left arm was broken at the wrist as he apparently raised it as the explosion occurred. He also sustained a cut on the head, another on the leg and numerous smaller lacerations.

It seems that the gasoline tank, which exploded, was a "dummy" and used only on occasions for carrying a reserve supply and had not been in use for a month, according to the owner, Mr. Herbert, who was investigating it to see if it contained any gasoline. The pet cock at the bottom had been opened and the cap was off the top. A match was struck to test further the presence of the liquid, it is said, when the explosion occurred. The theory is that the gasoline had vaporized in the tank and formed an explosive mixture with air.

RAILROAD AGENT KILLED.

C. V. Hardin Loses Life in Rock Hill. Struck by Truck.

Rock Hill, Feb. 5.—C. V. Hardin, freight agent for the Southern railway here, was instantly killed shortly after noon today, when struck by a truck driven by Sam Pursley. The accident occurred at the corner of Main and Reid streets. Mr. Hardin being en route home to dinner on his bicycle. The truck was also going down East Main street and pulled to the middle to pass just as Mr. Hardin turned to leave the Main thoroughfare. Mr. Pursley shot the truck into Reid street to avoid a collision when the rear wheel struck the curbing and dashed the rear end of the truck across the street, striking Mr. Hardin and bounding clear of the opposite sidewalk. The injured man was rushed to a hospital but died within a few minutes. Two men in the truck with Pursley said he was going at a moderate rate of speed. The general view is that the accident was unavoidable.

Mrs. F. M. Godbold.

Marion, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Sarah Vance Godbold, relict of the late Francis Marion Godbold, of Marion, died in Richmond, Va., on January 24, after an illness of about six weeks. She was the daughter of David Vance, of Laurens, born August 27, 1847, and married October 20, 1869.

She and her husband resided in the Cokesbury section of the state until about 25 years ago, when they moved to Marion, the home of Mrs. Godbold's family. Mrs. Godbold soon endeared herself to the large family connection and many friends of her husband and led a very happy and useful life in her adopted home until this home was broken up by the death of her husband nearly five years ago. She then went to live in Richmond with her son where she was surrounded by the tenderest love and care until her death.

She was a most devoted wife and mother, loyal to her church and friends, and there are many who will learn of her passing with sorrow. Her remains were brought to Marion and laid to rest by the side of her husband in the family cemetery, in sight of the place where she was born and the home where they had lived so happily. The services at the grave were conducted by her pastor, the Rev. J. M. Holladay, D. D., of the Marion Presbyterian church, of which she had been a member for many years. She is survived by one son, H. Vance Godbold, of Richmond, with whom she lived; one daughter, Mrs. Ward Thompson of Anderson. One son, Asa Godbold, of Marion, and one daughter, Mrs. James S. Bowles, of Abbeville, pre-deceased her by some years. She is also survived by one step-son, T. W. Godbold, of the South Carolina Methodist conference, and two step-daughters, Mesdames Bolt and Moore, of Laurens.

Paging Lake.

A man was walking down a street in Dorchester the other day and an acquaintance some distance behind was calling out after him, "Hey, Luke! Hey, Luke!" As the man ahead did not show any sign of hearing, a wagoner on the street corner shouted, "Stop, Luke, and Listen!"—Boston Transcript.

BON AIR, BIG HOTEL, BURNS.

Great Augusta Hostelry Victim of Flames; Loss Around Million.

Augusta, Ga., Feb. 4.—The Bon Air hotel, one of the largest tourist hostels in the South, was totally destroyed early this morning by fire of undetermined origin which was discovered at 2 o'clock. Loss, including personal belongings of guests, is unofficially placed at $1,000,000. None of the 260 guests were injured, being awakened by a night clerk shortly after the fire was discovered. Many were carried to safety by the firemen.

In recent years the hotel had been the winter home of ex-president William H. Taft, John D. Rockefeller, Nathan Straus and many other notables. The structure was erected in 1889 and was owned by local stockholders. The building was valued at about $800,000, and is understood to have been fully covered by insurance.

The guests, with such personal property as they were able to save, spent the rest of the night at other hotels or at homes in the winter colony. Several guests who were ill were carried to hospitals.

Fooled By Wife, Children Returned.

Atlanta, Feb. 6.—Finally convinced that his wife did fool him; that the 11 children he believed to be his own were mostly little ones taken from maternity homes, E. A. South and his wife have been reconciled; South has decided not to leave home, and all of the children save the last set of "triplets," supposed to have been "born" to Mrs. South on New Year day, are to be legally adopted by the family. A couple of "sets of twins" will be legally given the name of South, their education will be completed, and they will be made firmly members of the South family. The "triplets," however, will be given another home or homes.

When Mrs. South made her confession, that an overwhelming love for children, prompted her to take the 11 children—there are or were 14 in the family, four of them really her own children, but grown and gone now—from maternity homes, because she wanted to give them a chance in life," was not believed by Mr. South. He couldn't see how it was possible for his wife to "put it over on him" that way, but he was finally convinced the children were gotten from the homes. He was naturally highly riled then that he had been working for somebody else's children, and swore he would leave home. After a night of prayer and thought, he has decided he can't give up the children; he is willing they should be legally adopted, except the "triplets," and thus will end the most unusual story.

PET DOG SAVES FAMILY.

Bark of Animal Enables Family to Escape From Burning Home.

Anderson, Feb. 2.—The barking of a small pet dog probably saved the lives of a family here last night. When J. Ban Allen, Jr., and his wife woke upon hearing the little dog frantically barking at their bedroom window they found the roof of the house in flames, and they had just barely gotten out when the entire roof fell in. The flames were practically all over the house, and nothing was saved in the way of household furniture. In response to the alarm the fire company went to the scene of the fire, although a mile out of the city limits, but could do nothing as there was no water protection that far out. The house belonged to J. Ban Allen, Sr., who had left much of his household goods there when he moved to another farm which he owns near Lowndesville. The house was a large two story building and was valued at $12,000, with little insurance.

Uncle Clay's Lesson.

An old negro butler in a Southern family came upon the lady of the house finishing some work neglected the day before.

"Miss Ginnie! Miss Ginnie!" he remonstrated, "You shore is breakin' de Sabbath day."

"But, Uncle Clay," she argued, "the ox is in the ditch and—"

"Miss Ginnie," broke in the old man, "that ox ain't nothin' but a stumbling block for folks to hide behind. De Scripture do say if he is in de ditch to pull him out, but it don't nowhere say to push him on Sat'day so's to have a chance to pull him out on Sunday."—Boston American.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Bamberg resident's example.

L. B. Fowler, contractor and builder, Church St., says: "My kidneys were weak and the secretions unnatural and highly colored. My back was as stiff as leather and so lame I couldn't bend over. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of all this trouble and fixed me up in A-1 shape again."
