EHRHARDT BUREAU

W. F. Hiers, Manager.

Married Men Win.
Ehrhardt, June 26.—The annual classic between the married men and the single men was staged last week, and once more history was repeated. It may be a unique fact, but an established one nevertheless, that the married men are better ball players than the single men. It seems to be true, as demonstrated by this game and other like games in the past, that the more married you are the better game you can play. A married man, to say the least, is a game one. However, all that may be said to the contrary, the score stood 9 to 7 in favor of the married team.

Ehrhardt Wins at Home.
Ehrhardt came from behind and won from Fairfax. The game was well played except one bad inning which each team had. The playing of Zeigler and R. Roberts for Ehrhardt and Nix for Fairfax featured. Batteries: Ehrhardt; Hiers, Kirkland and Bullock; Fairfax, Preacher and Rivers. Hits off Hiers, three in three innings; off Kirkland, five in six innings; off Preacher, seven.

Returned From Encampment.
The young men from here who have been on the national guard encampment returned yesterday. All these boys are hearty supporters of the Harding international disarmament conference, hoping that not only will the world agree to disarm but that all the armies will be disbanded, the national guard included.

Dr. Hiers on Visit.
Dr. Harry G. Hiers, of Roper hospital, Charleston, is here on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hiers. Dr. Hiers is a graduate of the South Carolina Medical college, and for the past two years has been connected with Roper hospital. It is understood that he has decided to locate here, and in the near future his services will be available.

Personal Items.
Prof. L. E. Kirby and family are spending their vacation in the upper part of the state.
W. S. Clayton and family, of New York city, are here on a visit to relatives.
Mrs. Seth Williams, of Allendale, a niece of Capt. J. M. Dannelly, is visiting relatives here.
Misses Septica and Lorraine Smith, of Hopkins, are visiting their sister, Mrs. H. J. Hiers.

The Band of Hope.

When the wife of Joe Betts, an Alabama darkey, died he mourned her sincerely. "I see going to put a black border to my house," he said to one of his neighbors.
And he did. A week later a broad band of black outlined the front of his little dwelling.
A couple of years passed. Then one of his neighbors, stopping to speak to Joe, found him gazing up at his little black-legged house with an air of perplexity.
"It lasts well, Joe," said the neighbor in a tone of sympathy, "but the black grows a little rusty. You will put on another coat?"
"Yessuh," said Joe. "Daisy Moore, she says it needs one 'other coat of paint."
"Daisy Moore! Oh! But has she said another coat of black paint, Joe?"
"Uh!" grunted Joe, and then his look of perplexity vanished in a slow grin. "I see going to ask her tonight," he added briskly.
Two days later the sympathetic neighbor, passing again, was greeted by Joe from a ladder set against the house.
"How does yo' like it?" he asked, waving his paint brush toward the band of bright red glowing across the top of the little house. "Daisy Moore she picked it out. We git married next week."

—Miss Maggie Zeigler left yesterday for Colliers, S. C., to visit friends.
—Mrs. H. D. Calhoun, of Barnwell, was the guest of Mrs. C. J. S. Brooker last Friday. Mrs. Brooker delightfully entertained a few friends in her honor Friday afternoon.
—W. E. Free returned Saturday from Glenn Springs, where he spent a week. Mr. Free says that the Piedmont section has had little rain yet, compared to this section of the state.
—J. L. Knight, of Lexington, Ky., who operated the Denbow warehouse last year, spent several days in the city last week renewing old acquaintances. He has no connection with the local market this year.
—Rev. Geo. P. White left yesterday by automobile for Asheville, where he and Mrs. White, who is visiting in Union, will spend a few weeks. V. J. Hartzog and W. D. Rowell accompanied Mr. White to the up-country for a short visit.

OLAR BUREAU

R. Fair Goodwin, Manager.

How Olar Viewed the Fight.
Olar, July 27.—Mr. Editor, no doubt you recall how during the great world war the neutrals gave very wise, if unwelcome, advice to the belligerents. Well, same thing here. Yesterday at Barnwell and during the Bamberg-Barnwell game some of the more enthusiastic fans came near letting their enthusiasm run into a too spirited argument. In fact the temperature around about the center of the left wing of the spectators became so warm that something like a human cyclone drew into this part many persons and things, including cocoa-cola bottles, knife butts, and base ball paraphernalia.

Lightning-like, the dome of yours truly was struck with an idea—lucky it wasn't a bottle—"great food for a little write-up," says I. So I betakes myself hurriedly right into the front line, trying to beat Bellinger to it, but I never did see him. I perched myself upon the fender of an automobile, arms a-kimbo, reasoning that this would afford me an excellent view below me, and at the same time give me an air of neutrality. Debate grew warmer and warmer. I did not object to this especially, but some of the participants were very careless about how they tried to impress their arguments, or with what tools they drove them in. And after a few minutes it looked too contagious for me. I have been vaccinated, but I am not reckless, so I gave way a few kilometers while there was still a small opening to my west.

After it was all over, I held some close observations to try and detect what effect it was going to have on the game. Would you believe it, it did not seem to have helped either side.

Now, my point. If such thorough argument does not help, it seems that it would be just as well to cut it out hereafter and put our time on playing ball. But if there must be a little of this kind of argumentation now and then, please use your columns towards influencing those who take part to be more careful about their methods of driving home their reasonings.

Olar Defeats Ehrhardt.

Last Thursday Olar defeated Ehrhardt in a fast game of base ball on the Olar diamond by a score of 5 to 2. Both teams at times gave exhibitions of real playing, but the single outstanding feature was contributed by Zeigler of the visitors when he invaded the territory of centerfield and made a flying tackle at and a sensational stab of a long drive, the Olar fans, though, preferred calling it premeditated robbery.
For several innings the score stood at 1 to 0, and then for several more it stood 2 to 0 in favor of the Ehrhardt boys. But in the last half of the eighth, with three hits on the part of Olar, and three errors to the debit of the visitors, the locals put across five runners for safeties. And it was thus the game ended. Batteries were, for Ehrhardt, Kirkland and Bullock, while the defenders of the mound and home plate for Olar were Cooke and Barker.

Personal Ins and Outs.

Miss Gladys Still, of Sumter, is spending a few days with Miss Eunice Hiers. Today she returns home, Miss Hiers with her.
Miss Emmie Lynes has for a while as her guest, Miss Edna Kirkland, of Ehrhardt.
Rev. C. M. Peeler is away for a ten-days series of revival services at Pinewood. The brother seems to be in demand for this line of work.
Carl Walker and "Hard Luck" Warren spent a few hours in Olar last week on business(?)
Miss Betty Matthews, of Williston, along with her brother and sister guests, spent last Monday with another of her sisters, Mrs. Paul Cooke. Those coming with her were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matthews, of Sandersville, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Tool, of Williston, and George Matthews, of Mobile, Ala.
Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Rizer and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Still, of Allendale, left yesterday for a few days vacation in Georgia. Their first stop will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Freeman, the parents of Mrs. Rizer and Mrs. Hill.
Our representatives at the various summer schools of the state have returned with tales of enjoyable as well as instructive times while away.
The writer has of this number seen Misses Coye and Grier Barker, Elma Chitty, Edna Thain, Marie Bessinger and Hilda Kearse; also F. C. Chitty, J. W. Chitty and W. B. Cave, Jr.
Miss Louise Wiggins, of Bamberg, is visiting at the home of C. H. Brabham.
—W. D. Chitty, traveling representative of the Curtis Publishing company, was in the city Tuesday. Mr. Chitty's home is in Olar.

BLACKVILLE BUREAU

Mrs. J. M. Halford, Manager.

Death of Mrs. Delk.
Blackville, July 25.—Mrs. Nancy Nevils Delk, widow of the late Henry K. Delk, died at the home of her nephew, Henry Delk, here this morning. She was the oldest resident of Blackville. If she had lived until December, she would have been 91 years of age. Out of a family of ten brothers and sisters, since her death, only one remains, Mrs. Ellen Bates, from Orangeburg.

Mrs. Delk was a good woman, and had many relatives and friends who will miss her.
Her funeral and interment will take place at Double Pond church, of which she was a faithful member, tomorrow at 11 o'clock, Rev. Davis officiating.

Negro Stabbed to Death.

Last Saturday evening, in Lonnie Baughmen's store, in Blackville, two colored men, Jim Champion and Milledge Gloster, got in a dispute and Champion stabbed Gloster in the throat. It happened so quickly the people in the store hardly knew what had occurred until they saw Gloster run out on the side walk, bleeding profusely from the wound, and falling on the street. Drs. Hammond and Gyles were summoned and sewed up the gash, but he expired shortly afterwards.

The occurrence is greatly regretted by both colored and white people, as both the men were industrious and well thought of.
The inquest was held yesterday morning and the verdict of the jury was that "Milledge Gloster came to his death from a knife stab in the hands of James Champion." It is said that both of the men were drinking "blind tiger" whiskey.

James Champion is in the Barnwell jail. As yet it has not been found out what the disturbance was about.

Building Booming.

Work has begun on the school house, and the Baptist church is progressing beautifully. C. S. Buist has begun his new bungalow, and it is coming up fast.

Personals.

Mrs. Belle Rush and Mrs. Dr. Brockington, of Kingstree, who have been visiting Mrs. G. L. Weisinger and other relatives in Blackville, returned home today. Mrs. Rush has been a resident of Blackville for years, but is now making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Brockington, who will be remembered as Miss Mamie Rush.
Mrs. Hawkins Baxley and little daughter, Elizabeth, are visiting relatives in Augusta.
Miss Addie Altman, Mrs. Nonie Williams and J. R. Johnson, are visiting their sister in Aldelusia, Ala.
Rev. J. R. Aiken, of Columbia, is filling the Baptist pulpit for a month, while the pastor, Rev. Miller, is taking his vacation in the mountains of North Carolina.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fickling and daughter, Marjorie, are visiting relatives in the upper part of the state.
Sem Buist Rush, Dermont Boyles-ton and David Fickling have returned from Greenville after taking a summer course at Furman University.
Mrs. Cave, of Elko, was the guest of Mrs. Allison Fickling last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hartzog, of the Govan section, were in town Monday.
Mrs. R. O. Free and Miss Blanche Jumper are visiting Misses Rumelle and Bertha Ulmer, at Brunson.
Mrs. Ida Hutto, of Denmark, was a visitor in Blackville Monday.
Mrs. Quinn and her two children, of Sandersville, Ga., and Miss Clara Malony, of Charleston, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Gorman.
Little Misses Rosebud and Lillian Kelley, from Charleston, who have been the guests of their aunt and cousin, Mrs. Caroline R. Kelley, and Miss Leonard Kelley, returned home to day. One of the little girls gained five pounds and the other two pounds while visiting here, which speaks well for their environments while in Blackville. The father of these charming little ladies is Ryan Kelley, a Blackville boy, who resides in Charleston now, and whose many friends were delighted to make the acquaintance of his daughters.
Miss Ioline Boyd, of Augusta, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. R. Myrick.
Miss Geraldine Kammer is visiting her brother, Calhoun Kammer, and other relatives in Johnston.
Mrs. Eugene Fickling is visiting friends and relatives in and around Olar.
Mrs. Ollie Chitty, of Olar, visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Keel, Monday.
Coroner J. Staff Halford, of Barnwell, was in town Sunday to hold the inquest over the body of Milledge Gloster.

A BILLION IN IT.

World Waiting for a Man Able to "Heal" Her Spectacles.

Here's a chance for someone to make a billion dollars—an aspiration that comes to most of us now and then. Find a way to cure "specs," otherwise spectacles, glasses, etc. When you knock yours off your nose and they scatter into assorted fragments on the sidewalk or bathroom tiles, there is now nothing to do but dig down into the reserve corner of the pocketbook for that $1.50, if you are mildly afflicted, or $5 if your eyes claim exclusiveness, and have a new lens put in. If two are broken—well, then, double the amount. This was serious enough before the war put up * * * you know the formula—but now we feel almost justified in taking out plateglass insurance on our nose glasses.

There is another chance—spectacle insurance—but our billion-dollar "big idea" is different, and came upon reading a scientific article on "Healing in the Mineral Kingdom." It appears, although we acknowledge our long ignorance of the fact, that for a century and a half the phenomenon of healing in glass has been recognized as a scientific curiosity. Sir David Brewster long ago called attention to it, and at a recent meeting of an English microscopical club pieces of healed glass were exhibited. A magnifying glass had become cracked while enclosed by the usual metal ring mounting. The ring had been tightened up and the broken lenses gradually became cured or healed. Another piece of glass had become cracked, but when tightly clamped together the cracked parts had become firmly joined so that the junction could be discovered only with difficulty.

And now back to our billion. Cannot some one discover a simple process by which our broken glasses may be sent for a spell to a "specs" sanitarium and come away cured? Very often we must admit, the task of gathering up the remains would be somewhat arduous, but just imagine the money that might be made at a Hotel Dieu des Pince-Nez or a Touro Infirmary for Toric Lenses.

One of the oddities of this process of healing would seem to be its seeming slowness of operation. If the glass fragments could simply be jammed together 'till they become one, the process would be our old scientific acquaintance "cohesion," but there appears to be some other action at work, as though perhaps the crystals needed time to readjust themselves.

And in connection with this curious phenomenon, it is possible that it was recognized correctly years ago by that observant creature, the American boy? We recall that in our marble playing days there was a firm belief among "the crowd" who played "ring" in the bare space between the sidewalk and the fence, that those beautiful marbles known variously as "flints" or "agates," when profusely dotted with "moons" through play could, under certain prescribed circumstances, become cured. The "moons," as we all understood, were minute semi-circular cracks which, through continued play, became so numerous that the surface of the marble would crumble away. However, there were, as we have said, certain processes, and among them an essential was long rest, which rightly or wrongly we were convinced would cure the marbles of "moons." Were we shooting closely to a scientific truth?—N. Orleans Times-Picayune.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried every thing I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.
"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."
For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.
If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.
