Attention is called to the fact that women have the right to participate in the Democratic club meetings this month. Women are full-fledged voters now, and if they are to acquit themselves "like women" they should show their interest in the affairs of the state and the party by attending and taking part in the club meetings on April 22 at the various precincts in the county.

Several years ago when the question of sewerage in Bamberg was freely discussed, it was generally decided that prices were too high to go into such a project; that in a few years prices would be restored to normal and then a sewerage system could be installed in the town. Prices are down now, but we do not hear anything about sewerage. Now there is no money, and folks are not in a mood to add to their taxes. The moral of this matter is that the time to install town improvements is when they are needed. Conditions are pretty nearly equal at all times; when there is plenty of money, the prices are high; when prices are low, there is no money. Although, when a bond issue is used temporary financial depression does not hinder public improvements. A lot of improvements could be had for a bond issue now.

The most striking thing at the present time is that the farmers have taken new heart. Other people will take new courage in the same degree that the farmer does. This is an agricultural county and the attitude of the planter is very near the attitude of all other people. Cotton is gone, apparently, for some years anyway. Our farmers are not laying down on the job, but are up and doing, finding new methods of making the farm profitable. The old feeling of fear when mention was made of going into new fields of endeavor is fast being dissipated. The spirit of venture is taking a grip on folks; they are not afraid of trying out new crops. Some of them will prove highly profitable, others will probably be a failure. It is a joy to note the products that are being shipped daily from Bamberg and doubtless from other railroad stations throughout the county. Incidentally some good money is being made from these ventures. While our old standby, cotton, has gone to the discard for the time, good prices are being had for other farm products, and in this the planter is fortunate. Market conditions are favorable and folks are getting cheerful again.

It appears to be the policy of the Southern Bell Telephone company never to grant an improvement in service without first entering a vigorous protest. In fact, this appears to be the policy of many of our public service corporations, and forms one of the most cogent reasons for the prevailing hostility on the part of the patrons of the corporations. In our limited knowledge of the affairs of railroads, telephone companies, telegraph companies, and such mammoth industries, we can recall few, very few, instances where improvements were installed voluntarily. It probably might appear foolish for any one absolutely unacquainted with big business to suggest any policy to people who handle millions of dollars and serve millions of people, and yet it is the opinion of the common consumer that perhaps ought to be sought. The telephone company secured a raise in rates that was very material, an increase that was held to be not justified in the opinion of most people, and at a time when folks had reason to expect a decrease if any change at all was made. Bamberg patrons of the company petitioned for an improved service, and were answered by the company stating that its income will not justify the installation of better service. From past experience, the people of Bamberg do not know whether this means there will be no improvement, or whether the improvement can be had if the fight is kept up. In the meantime the telephone company is fighting most vigorously the putting into effect of the legislative act restoring the old telephone rates. In some cities the telephone company is rendering service that is worth the money, notably in Columbia. If it were the policy of the company to give the people of Bamberg, for instance, service that is worth the price charged, the company would accomplish far more in stopping public hostility than by pursuing the policy of fighting the people whenever the subject of improvements is broached. As a consequence of constantly opposing improvements, even though a new system is finally installed, and it is not unlikely that it may be, the seed of hostility is merely fertilized, and the same old feeling prevails that the company is opposed to the people.

BUSTING THE BUCKET SHOPS.

Little Gamblers Swept Aside by the Big Ones.

Newspapers and "stock exchanges" are carrying on a bitter war against the "bucket shops" and curb brokerages in which the common people are fleeced in stock speculation. Practically the only difference between a stock exchange and a bucket shop is clientele, one being exclusive while the other invites the hoi polloi. The elements of the gambling are the same. There is this, perhaps, that may be said of the cheaper concern, that because of the opportunity more swindlers in proportion are bucket shopping, but the sheep are shorn in Wall Street by the same methods in both places. It makes little difference to an investor whether he is "sold out" or his deposit is stolen. The tiled floors of marble palaces in the financial district have seen more men end life with bullets than have the less pretentious establishments now under the ban.

Back of both stock exchange and bucket shop is a greater power than either, a power that holds the destinies of both in a grasp so tight that it is able to crush at any time. The

And Is Happening to Bamberg People Every Week.

The case told below is not an uncommon thing. The same occurs frequently and will continue to happen as long as folks have kidneys and overtax the kidneys.

C. H. Herron, Bamberg, says: "My kidney trouble started with a slight pain across the small of my back and gradually got worse until my back ached all the time. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and unnatural. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and was entirely cured." 60c, at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

same power has present control of the fate of legitimate business as well as of the speculative markets. That power, through its ability to control the money volume, can rule or ruin as it pleases.

In 1907 that power brought on a panic as suddenly and as unexpectedly as if a bolt had fallen from a clear sky. New York banks refused to honor the drafts from their country correspondents and the whole country was thrown into a turmoil. Wall Street went wild. Money commanded almost any rate. The power, represented by an international banking institution held "the street" in suspense almost to the closing minute, then turned loose a stream of money it had obtained in ample time to have business hours before.

The grip of that power has not lessened since 1907.—Dearborn Independent.

STATEMENT

Of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the act of congress of August 24, 1912, of the Bamberg Herald, published weekly at Bamberg, S. C., for April 1, 1922.

State of South Carolina, County of Bamberg.

Before me, a notary public in and for the state and county aforesaid, personally appeared R. M. Hitt, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the editor of The Bamberg Herald and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, to wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are: publishers Hitt & Bruce, Bamberg, S. C.; editors R. M. Hitt and R. M. Bruce, Bamberg, S. C.; managing editors, R. M. Hitt and R. M. Bruce, Bamberg, S. C.; business managers, R. M. Hitt and R. M. Bruce, Bamberg, S. C.

2. That the owner is: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent. or more of the total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities: (If there are none, so state.) None.

R. M. HITT, Editor.

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of April, 1922.

H. L. HINNANT,

(My commission expires at pleasure of governor.)

NOTICE CONCERNING PLOWING IN PUBLIC ROADS.

Pursuant to recommendation of the Bamberg County Grand Jury, the landowners of the county cultivating lands adjacent and adjoining public roads are hereby urgently requested not to plow into or allow their hands to plow into the roads. Landowners are requested to plant two or three rows of crops adjacent to roads parallel with the road, so that there may be proper turning space without the necessity of turning plows in the roads. It is against the law to allow plows to damage the roads, and it is an unnecessary practice. The county spends large sums of money in road building, and the roads belong to the people. I have no desire to prosecute anybody, but I must insist that this practice be stopped immediately. The farmers and tenants can cooperate in this respect, and there should be no necessity to bring action against anybody. Full notice is being given before I take such action.
