Michigan's Contest In Full Swing

Detroit, July 19.—(By the Associated Press).—Michigan's Republican contest for the United States senatorial nomination at the state wide primary September 12, regarded by Michigan politicians as one of the most important campaigns in the country this year, is in full swing.

Three candidates are in the field. Senator Charles E. Townsend, veteran senator from Michigan, expounder of a Lakes-to-Ocean waterway and one of the most prominent members of his party in Washington, is defending his seat against two aspirants.

One of these is Patrick H. Kelley of Lansing, congressman from the Sixth congressional district.

The other is Major John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion. The issues in the Michigan campaign promise to be sharply drawn, with the seating of Senator Truman H. Newberry, junior senator from Michigan, as one of the chief battle cries of Senator Townsend's opposition, especially in the camp to Congressman Kelley. The senior Michigan senator upheld his rival in the senate when he was under fire following charges of unlawful campaign expenditures.

Senator Townsend is seeking re-nomination on his record at Washington. His supporters hail him as father of the Lakes-to-Ocean waterway idea and point out that he has worked long and earnestly in behalf of this project. Among his friends are many of long time Republicans of this state, which has been strongly Republican.

Friends of Congressman Kelley are campaigning with the assertion he is of the "progressive" type of Republican. Mr. Emery hopes for the solid support of former service men. He came into prominence when chosen head of the American Legion upon the death of Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., last year, serving in that capacity until the last national convention of the Legion.

Major Emery is a former service man, having served as an officer with the A. E. F. Before entering the service he was in business at Grand Rapids.

Each of the three candidates proposes to enter every county in the state during his campaign. Major Emery at present is conducting his campaign in the upper peninsula. Congressman Kelley has opened his campaign in the southern part of the state. Senator Townsend has given his first campaign speeches in southern Michigan, and plans a whirlwind campaign during August.

Senator Townsend, in a recent Detroit address, answered those who have criticized him for his stand on the Newberry question saying:

"It is not the use, but the abuse of money that should be and is condemned in election campaigns. Expenditure of a single dollar to bribe a single voter is a detestable crime. Expenditure of a single penny to correctly inform a single voter is a commendable and justifiable act of good citizenship."

"The people not only are entitled to know, but must be fully informed as to the candidates themselves, their qualifications, and what they stand for, else they cannot exercise the right of suffrage intelligently on election day. Reasonable campaign expenditures, when honestly made for the political information of the people, are not wrongful, but are necessary to insure an intelligent exercise of the right of suffrage."

The reputed discoverer of the Klondike gold fields died in Vancouver, British Columbia, recently. He kept 22 nuggets from the first two pans of gold he washed on Bonanza Creek and had them made into a golden telegraph key which was presented to President Taft in 1899 and used by him in opening the Alaskan-Yukon exposition in Seattle.

Anti-Parochial School Measure Postponed

Detroit, July 18.—With the certainty that the proposed amendment to the state constitution, requiring all children of school age to attend the public schools, will not be submitted to the state's voters at the November election, interest in the primary campaigns now centers in the three-cornered Republican race for United States Senator.

The proposed amendment, known as the anti-parochial school measure, was withheld for the election next spring. This measure was expected to vie with the senatorial race for interest throughout the state.

The three candidates seeking the nomination here on Sept. 12 are United States Senator Charles E. Townsend, long a Michigan representative in the upper house at Washington; Congressman Patrick H. Kelley of Lansing, and Major John G. Emery of Grand Rapids, former national commander of the American Legion. No Democratic aspirant yet has entered the race but the party strongly has urged former Governor Woodbridge M. Ferris, one of the few Democrats in the history of the state to become governor, to take up the fight. The invitation to the former governor was extended some time ago at a convention of the party in Grand Rapids.

The Republican senatorial fight will be one of the greatest political battles in the history of the state that saw the birth of the party, in the opinion of Michigan politicians. The issues are clearly defined but the one most often heard arises from the charges brought against Senator Truman H. Newberry, junior senator from Michigan, with respect to campaign expenditures, particularly Congressman Kelley, are assailing the senator because he championed the cause of Senator Newberry on the floor of the senate.

Senator Townsend is seeking re-nomination on his senatorial record that includes sponsoring of the lakes-to-ocean waterway, a movement he is credited with having instigated.

Major Emery, war veteran and former business man of Grand Rapids, is seeking support among the former service men. He served as head of the American Legion following the death of Commander Frederick Galbraith and came into national prominence.

Believing that the eyes of the nation will be on Michigan in September to an extent not approached in any other state this year, politicians in the state are anticipating a memorable political fight for the senatorial toga. Each of the three candidates hopes to go into every county in the state during the campaign.

Newspaper People Gather at Missoula

Missoula, Mon., July 18.—Editors and publishers from all parts of the United States are here tonight in readiness for the opening session tomorrow of the annual convention of the National Editorial association.

Addressees by men of national prominence, discussions of present-day newspaper problems and entertainment features including a war pageant and two mountain trips will be combined in the four-day program which will keep the visitors busy until Saturday night.

Two special trains were chartered by the incoming delegates.

A gigantic military spectacle staged by the War Department and depicting the battle of Chateau Thierry will be held south of the Missoula fairgrounds Friday evening. Heavy artillery, tanks, airplanes and other instruments of modern warfare will be brought into play during the reproduction of the famous engagement. General Morton, commander of the ninth corps area, with headquarters at San Francisco, will be in command and will also address the Election of officers and selection of the convention city for 1923 will bring the business sessions to a close Friday afternoon.

England Not Enthusiastic Over Return Match

London, July 18.—There is less enthusiasm in England than in France over the proposed return match of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Georges Carpentier, world's light-heavyweight champion, although the genuine British fighter is making much noise in the hope that the bout may be staged in London. Those financially interested in the proposal are disappointed with the feeble public response.

Some of the British sports writers argue vehemently against the pair meeting again, "Punch" England's greatest boxing expert, asserting in the London Times that the result of the battle at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City last July was so decisive that Carpentier has no reason for soliciting another attempt at the crown and that the whole proposition is absurd.

Pasteurization of Milk

Paris July 17.—An address from Nathan Straus of New York, on "Prevention of Infectious Diseases caused by Milk and Butter" was one of the features of the International Congress for the Protection of Women and Children recently in session here.

Mr. Straus' address told of the progress in protecting the milk supply in the United States from the days when that fluid was a carrier of disease, to the present when the milk supply "cannot reach the consumer in most of our great centers of population without bearing the essential safety reached by pasteurization."

"I feel that this work is sufficiently known and introduced in all directions so that I can turn my attention to another and kindred subject. All I have claimed and proven as to the danger which lurks in raw milk applies with equal force to cream, ice cream, cheese and butter. Next to milk it is butter which for the children's sake requires serious attention."

Mr. Straus quoted Dr. Schroeder of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, as saying:

"To secure a safe butter supply requires that we should add to the widely practiced pasteurization of milk distributed to the consumer as milk, the pasteurization of all cream used to make butter. It is the only available economically reasonable expedient that has been proven over and over again to afford protection against the dangers that too often lie hidden in raw milk and its products."

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework—
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad.' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. J. JUNKINS, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

Sweden's Future
Naval Program

Stockholm, July 18.—A parliamentary commission supported by navy experts has proposed for the Swedish Navy a building program for the next ten years of four fast armored cruisers, 12 destroyers, six big torpedo boats, three mine layers and 22 submarine chasers and a number of smaller craft. The armored cruisers of 30 knots, with eight 21 centimeter and six 12 centimeter guns.

As the proposal is based on parliamentary consideration there is a probability of its being passed during the coming sessions of Parliament.

What This Country Needs

What this country needs is not a new birth of freedom but the old-fashioned two dollar lower berth.

What this country needs isn't more liberty but less people who take liberties with our liberty.

What this country needs is not a job for every man but a real man for every job.

What this country needs isn't to get more taxes from the people but for the people to get more from the taxes.

What this country needs is not more miles of territory but more miles to the gallon.

What this country needs is more tractors and less detractors.

What this country needs isn't more young men making speed but more young men planting spuds.

What this country needs is more paint on the old place and less paint on the young face.

What this country needs isn't a low rate of interest on money but a higher interest in work.

What this country needs is to follow in the footsteps of the fathers instead of the footsteps of the dancing masee—Crescent, St. Paul.

Bird Hunter Discovers Forgotten Indian Tribe

Philadelphia, July 18.—Wharton Huber, assistant curator of the ornithology section of the Academy of Natural Sciences, returned recently to this city from hitherto little known regions of Nicaragua where he assembled a large collection of birds, beasts, fish and reptiles, a number of which he believes have not yet been classified. He also claims to have penetrated to the villages of Sumo Indians who rarely had seen a white man. The scientist's specimens include 600 birds, 40 rare mammals, 2,000 fish, reptiles and insects, all of which will be placed on exhibition in the local institution.

"My research work was done about 180 miles inland from the Nicaraguan coast," said Mr. Huber. "We established our headquarters at a small mining camp whence we made trips further into the country. The average annual rainfall here is 147 inches. From the time I reached the interior until I left there never was a dry article of clothing on me. The country is infected with red bugs, smaller than fleas which burrow under the skin and inflict serious wounds."

"I went up the Prinza Polka river for 180 miles in a pitpan, an open boat made of a hollowed-out mahogany log. Then in a smaller pitpan I ascended the Banabana river to Mininda. The district is hilly, and covered with tropical forests so dense that it is impossible to enter them until a way is cut by Indians."

"The only inhabitants are a few scattered tribes of Indians apparently of Spanish and Miskito Indian descent. With a body of these Indians as guides I penetrated to certain villages of the Sumo Indians."

"The Sumo men are very skillful hunters, but the tribe is rapidly becoming extinct. With all their ability in hunting and their courage in facing wild animals, they are excessively timid of strange human beings, and will run away even from members of other Indian tribes. Miskito Indians sometimes walk into their villages and take anything they want without meeting resistance. The Sumos, numbering about 500 souls all told, have the slant, almond eyes of the Chinese and their skin is about the same color as that of a Chinaman."

Mr. Huber had with him a number of dogs two of which were killed by jaguars. The scientist believes that fully 40 percent of the birds and animals he shot were lost because neither dogs nor Indians could make their way into the jungles to the point where they fell. He used dynamite to secure his fish specimens.

Mr. Huber emerged from the jungle region weighing 40 pounds less than when he entered, at which time his weight was 180. Although he worried off illness during his expedition, he was taken down with fever immediately it was over.

July 5th Big Day
For This Family

Pensacola, Fla., July 18.—The family of O. S. Norman, of this city, has decided that July 5 is a bigger day in history than July 4 and in the future the day after the day featured by firecrackers, flag displays and speeches will be celebrated in the household.

Eloise Norman was born at 5:55 a. m., July 5, 1908. Cleo Elizabeth was born at 10:55 a. m., July 5, 1921, and July 5, 1922, became notable at 12:55 p. m. because of the arrival of O. S. Norman, Jr. It is the only instance in this city where as many as three children in one family, excluding triplets, have the same birthday, and another peculiar feature is the fact that each child was born within five minutes of the hour. The Norman family moved to Pensacola from St. Louis, Mo., last October.
