

PROCLAMATION. WHEREAS, at the spring term of the court of sessions of 1828, for Orangeburg dist. a writ was issued against HENRY GANT and ELISHA GANT for the removal of John Stone of said district, and whereas it has been represented to me that the said defendants have not yet been arrested to answer for this offence...

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, 9th May, 1829. At the last sitting of Sumter Court, the grand jury found a true bill against JAMES B. REAVES for the murder of William Bateman, and it appears that the said Reaves has fled from justice and has as yet not been apprehended to answer for this charge...

Columbia Book Store. THE subscribers are constantly receiving all the new publications, as they appear, in this country, with many English Editions, and Books in Foreign Languages. They have made a large reduction of prices on a great part of their stock, having a large collection of Books at half price...

New Books. PELHAM, The Discrowned by author of Pelham, Man of two lives, Hajji Baba in England, Translation of Cicero's Republic, Epy unmasked, Dwight's sermons, The legendary, Wait's poetical Album, Tales of a grandfather 2d series, Wanostrout's French Grammar, Letamendi's Spanish do. Cubi's do. do. Perrin's Fables by Bolmar, Williston's Tactics, Bruce's Greek Gradus, Donagan's Greek and English Lexicon, Southern Literary Gazette, American Medical Journal, No. 6. Just received and for sale by E. W. & A. S. JOHNSTON. Columbia, March 27. 1829.

CAUTION. THE public are cautioned against trusting or paying money to any person on my account, unless they hold a written order under my own hand. M. ANTONIO. June 12, 1829. 24 2m4t.

MISSING, some time in April a lot of FLOUR, GOUSSIN and IRON POTS, supposed to have been taken from Charleston in mistake, by a Canal Boat. Any information which may lead to their recovery, will be thankfully received. REEDER & CALDWELL. June 1829. 24 3t.

Dissolution of Co-partnership. THE firm heretofore existing under the name of JONATHAN S. JENKINS & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All those indebted to the concern are requested to make immediate settlement with J. S. JENKINS. J. S. JENKINS, EDW. H. FISHER. Jonathan S. Jenkins, grateful to his friends and the public for their former encouragement, begs leave to announce his intention of continuing the business at the old stand and hopes still to merit a share of their patronage. He will keep constantly on hand a good assortment of Boots, Shoes and Leather, of every description, also Tanners Oil of the first quality; all of which will be sold very low for cash. May 15, 1829. 20 1t.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD. LAST on the evening of the 17th inst, near Columbia, a WATCH of the following description: make a name, M. J. Tobias & Co. Liverpool, No. 2735, silver case with gold gild, watch, bottomed, engine turned, movement quarter seconds; attached were a gold curb chain, six strands a gold seal and key, (the seal set with a white coralline. The finder by leaving it at this office will receive the above reward. May 29. 22 1t.

THE SUBSCRIBER, on behalf of his associates, respectfully informs the public, that they have in operation a Cotton and Woollen Factory, near Society Hill, at which the following articles may be had at the prices annexed: Cotton yarns of any number under No. 10, twenty-five cents a pound; same and cotton bagging twice, thirty-two cents a pound; cotton yarns, twelve and a half cents a yard. Cotton bagging, and negro winter clothing will be prepared for the ensuing season. The public are assured that these articles are made of cotton of the prime staple. Customers can have their yarns warped into webs of any length and width they may direct, and so marked as to prevent mistake or difficulty in putting them into the loom, at one dollar each. DAVID R. WILLIAMS, For the Union Manufacturing Company of South Carolina. March 13, 1829. 25 6m

New Goods. SUPERFINE blue and black Broad Cloths, 5/4 Black to olive color'd do. Double and single milled Casimere, Irish and brown Linens, Imitation and Linen Cambrics, Bombazines, Bombastins and Circassians, White and colour'd Drills, do. do. Marcellies Vesting, Blue and yellow Nankeens, Stripe Jeans, French brown Linen, 4-4 and 6-4 stripe and plaid Ginghams, 6-4 and 8-4 striped and plaid Swiss Muslin, do Book and Jaconet Muslins, do plain and corded Cotton Cambric, Cambric Dimity, Pavilion Gaze, Rankin and Canton Crapes, Cotoply, Bengals and Balaia's, Black and Stripes, new patterns, Calicoes, Plaids and Stripes, 2-4 and 4-4 brown Shrotings, Patent, and not Suspensors, Silk and cotton Hdkfs, Cotton Hosiery, Sewing silk, Patent Thread, &c.

RECEIVING AND IN STORE: 200 pieces Cotton Bagging, 150 Coils Bale Ropes, 100 bags prime Green Coffee, 35 hds Sugar, 10 Molasses, 400 casks of Liverpool Salt, 2250 bushel of all of which will be sold at a small advance for cash. The public are respectfully invited to call and judge for themselves. F. & J. McCULLY. June 12, 1829. 24 4

Additional Supplies. Spring Goods. NEW style fancy Prints and Calicoes, Black and White, and coloured Ginghams assorted, Plain and Watered, Coloured and Black Gros de Naples Silks, Super Plain and Striped, Cotoply, and palmy reens, Extra Gauze Bonnet and Belt Ribbands, Super Gauze and Cambric Handkerchiefs, 36 and 40 inch 1/2 inch 1/4 inch Silk do. Coloured Merseilles and Silk Vestings, Yellow and Blue Nankeens, Hamilton and Wilmington Stripes, Black Circassians and Frontals, Rouse and Wigona Casimere, 100 pieces of the best 7-8 and 4-4 Irish Linens, Super Scotch Shirtings, White and Coloured Drills, Leghorns for Ladies, Misses and Gentlemen, Osnaburghs, &c. G. T. SNOWDEN & Co. April 4, 1829. 1f

NOTICE. THE Co-partnership heretofore existing between Squier & Ross and James Horn, under the firm of James Horn & Co. is this day dissolved by mutual consent. These indebted to said firm, are requested to make payment to A. C. Squier, & Co. who are duly authorized to settle all claims of the concern. JAMES HORN, SQUIER & ROSS. Columbia, Feb. 25, 1829. SQUIER & ROSS having taken ABRAM C. SQUIER into partnership, the business in future will be conducted under the firm of A. C. Squier, & Co. February 25, 1829. 10 1f

CLOTHING AND HATS. A. C. SQUIER, & CO. HAVE just received a fresh supply of Clothing and Hats, comprising a general assortment suitable for the present and approaching season—made in the best and most fashionable style, which they will dispose of at greatly reduced prices. Columbia, April 8, 1829. 15 1f

House and Lot for sale. THE Subscriber's large and commodious dwelling HOUSE, formerly occupied by Colonel Pride, situated in one of the highest and most pleasant parts of Columbia. Terms one third cash, the balance on a credit of one and two years with interest. Application may be made to Mr. Wm. McMillan in Columbia or to the subscriber, on Crane Creek. JAMES DOUGLASS Sen. December 2. 60 1f

A Great Bargain. THE subscriber offers for sale his plantation in Newberry district, containing near two thousand acres of land, situated between the waters of Satuda and Little river, on which there is an excellent dwelling house and all other houses necessary for a country residence. Also, 100 head of hogs, 60 head of cattle, and 50 head of sheep, and a large quantity of corn, fodder, and oats. The subscriber considers it unnecessary to make known any terms of sale; he invites the immediate inspection of all persons who may wish to purchase;—it is enough to say he will sell very low—far beneath the actual value of the premises. Reference may be had to Col. J. G. Brown, of Columbia, to Col. D. F. Moon, at Newberry C. H. or to the subscriber residing on the premises. PETER MOON. May 22, 1829. 21 11

NOTICE. THE notes and accounts of the Telescope Office from the 1st January, 1824, up to July, 1828, are placed in the hands of my attorney J. O'Hanlon, Esq. for collection, with positive instructions to collect the same without regard to persons. June 12, 1829. 24 3

Columbia Female Academy. THE Spring Term of the Columbia Female Academy, commences on Monday the 6th day of April. The following is the course of study adopted in this seminary:—Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar with Murray's Exercises, Ancient and Modern Geography with Maps, Linear Drawing, History of the United States, History of England, Blake's Natural Philosophy accompanied with experiments, Wilkin's Astronomy, Rhetoric, Goldsmith's history of Greece and Rome, Logic, Moral Philosophy, Tyler's Elements, Botany and Chemistry. The Latin, French, and Italian languages, are also taught. Great regard will be had for the health and comfort of the pupils as well as for their moral improvement. Parents and Guardians are invited to visit the school at all times during the hours of study, to observe the discipline and hear the recitations of the scholars. April 5, 1829. 16f

COMMITTED to Union Jail, on the 6th inst, a negro man named GANSEY, five feet six inches and a half high; supposed to be about fifty or sixty years of age; says he belongs to Israel Holman, living in Newberry district. JOHN ANDERSON, Jailor. May 29. 25 1f

COLUMBIA HAT MANUFACTORY. THE subscriber begs leave to inform his friends and the public in general, that he has commenced the MANUFACTURING OF HATS in all its various branches, he has neither spared pains nor expense to obtain first rate materials and workmen, and hopes to merit a liberal share of public patronage; he also hopes that all who are interested in the encouragement of southern manufactures, will call upon him and examine his Hats previous to their purchasing elsewhere, as the arguments, is often urged in trying times, they will be money in the country be expended by the public daily understood and appreciated by an elegant and extensive assortment of gentlemen's Black and Drab Hats; Consisting of all the different qualities and shapes together with youths and childrens Hats, and also Military Hats for all grades of officers, all of which will be disposed of at wholesale or retail for cash, as low as they can be purchased in Charleston, and warranted superior to those brought from the North, persons residing in the country wishing hats of any particular quality or fashion, can be accommodated in the shortest notice by forwarding the rise of the head and the height of the crown. N. B. All hats purchased of the subscriber will be dressed gratis. Cash paid for all kinds of Hatters for O. HOCHTRASSER. December 25. 66 1f

COMMERCIAL HOTEL. THE subscriber very respectfully informs his friends and the public generally that he has opened a HOUSE OF ENTERTAINMENT for Travellers and Boarders on the Main street, and in the midst of the cotton market, this house is large and convenient, and the best the market affords, will at all times be in plenty. The latest news from Europe is received at every arrival, the current prices from New York weekly, besides different daily papers. November 21, 1828. 47 1f

WASHINGTON HOTEL FOR SALE. THE subscriber will offer the above splendid establishment to the highest bidder, on the first Monday in July next, containing an acre of Land, more or less, with all the appurtenances thereunto annexed. The terms of sale will be thereunto annexed. Dr. one third of the purchase money down, and Dr. one third of the purchase money to be received in cash, the balance to be made payable in 1, 2, 3, or 4 years, with interest on the unpaid balance. ABRAM D. JONES, the Charleston Courier, and Savannah Mercury, will insert the above once a week till the last week in June, and forward their accounts to me for payment. A. D. J. November 27. 47 1f

Mrs. MARY NUTTING. STILL continues the MILLINERY and BASKING business at her old stand, where she keeps a constant supply suitable for town and country. The store, back store and cellar lately occupied by John G. Dunlap, to rent. Apply as above. June 12, 1829. 24 1f

Mary Ann Becket, friends in the city, and the Ladies of Columbia, that she has commenced the MILLINERY and MANTUA-MAKING business, in all its various branches, at the Commercial Hotel. She has engaged Mrs. Porter from New York whose abilities in the Millinery and Fancy Dress Making business are well known here. Mrs. Porter has brought from New York the latest fashions of that City, and having a regular correspondence, will always be able to make their work agreeable to the latest advices. The patronage of the Ladies will be thankfully received and punctually attended to. November 21. 47 1f

Spring and Summer Fashions. MRS. HEFFERNAN, respectfully informs her friends and the public in general, that she has just returned from Charleston, where she has selected a handsome assortment of Spring and Summer fashions. She has also brought up with her a young lady, to attend to the DRESS MAKING business, lately from New York; who for the last six months conducted the business of Mrs. Day, in Charleston, and has given the most general satisfaction. Columbia, May 22, 1829. 21f

Portrait & Landscape Painting. THE subscriber takes the liberty to inform the public, that he occupies rooms over the store of Mr. D. T. Snowden & Co. corner of Richardson and Taylor streets, where specimens of his style of execution may be seen, and orders punctually attended to, by their humble servant JAS. M'GIBBON. N. B. Any person who may desire perspective views of their country residence painted, may have them executed with accuracy and despatch. June 12, 1829. 24 1f

A. BLANDING will hereafter practise in the Courts of Law and Equity, for the districts of Richland, Lancaster, Darlington, Sumter and Kershaw JOHN M. DESAUS. SQUIRE is associated with him in the Districts of Kershaw and Sumter, and will attend to the office business of those Districts. June 5, 1829. 23 1f

Lands for Sale. THE subscribers offers their Lands for Sale, lying in Newberry District, and on the south side of Enoree river, and on both sides of Duncan's Creek, including the fork of said Creek and River, running up said Creek for a mile and a half, and lying on both sides of the Charleston Road, leading from Cross Keys to Ruff's, containing about fourteen hundred acres one hundred and fifty acres of low grounds on said Creek and River—said Lands are well watered, as any section of the country, and its soil suitable to the production of any produce raised in any other part of the District whatever. Said lands can be had on very reasonable terms by applying to the subscribers who live on the premises. The above Land can be divided into separate tracts to suit purchasers. WILLIAM & DANIEL EPPE. April 10, 1829. 15 1m

Hot Guns. HIRAM HUTCHISON, & Co. HAVE just received from New York, an assortment of double and single barreled SHOT GUNS, with flint and percussion locks, some very superior. An additional supply of BOILING CLOTHS, Mill Saws, and Saws for raising Mill Stones together with a general assortment of seasonable DRY GOODS, all of which they offer very low for cash. June 19, 1829. 24 3

Amount of duties Port of Rich- As statements bearing of the amounts of Duties in some of the other ports of the United States, we have thought it right to our Custom House for a similar and we have been favored with presenting rather a result, for the first quarter of the present year, than those of New York. We wish similar exhibits made from the ports of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, New Orleans, and others where there is any considerable trade: Amount of Duties on merchandise imported into the Port of Richmond during the years 1827 and the first quarter of 1829—

Quarter	1827	1828	1829
March quarter, 1827	$4,511 27
June do do	1,594 54
Sept. do do	51,844 66
Dec. do do	4,213 90
March quarter, 1828		Nothing.
June do do		$13,022 89
Sept. do do		42,819 87
Dec. do do		2,410 13
March quarter, 1829,			11,523 93

New York, June 3. Dr. Scudder furnished Graham, who is well known in this city as the Blind Poet, with a pair of artificial eyes. Mr. G. has been entirely blind for years. The operation of setting was performed in a few moments. Mr. Graham experiences no inconvenience in them. They appear perfectly natural, and move in the same manner as human eyes, and to the observer cannot be distinguished from them. This is the second attempt, S. has made of putting in a pair. Hates, however, that he has put in five aged and fifty single eyes, some of which have been worn six years, and all with ease and comfort.

A tempest in a teapot. The National Journal, the organ of their pestilence-and-famine party, exclaims respecting the turning out of the coal tools, coffin handbill makers and distillers, in the true Ossian style. "Will people of America sanction, even by their apathy, deeds like those, which will have made the swords of the fathers our country leap from their scabbards! Aid it! Genius of the Republic!"—This reminds us of the fellow in the play, who, when he got his nose pulled and the pullet got out of hearing, clenched his fist and heroically exclaimed—"ALL HELL SHAL BE FOR THIS!"

South Carolina Exposition.—We shall commence next week the publication of the "Exposition and Summary" of the use of the Tariff: Courtesy and justice both require this course. The people of the West should know the grounds on which our Southern brethren base their opposition to this system, and they will be better prepared to act upon it.—Ky. Gaz.

WINNESHORE FEMALE ACADEMY AND BOARDING SCHOOL.—The examination of the young ladies in this Seminary will commence on Monday the 29th inst. and continue two days.—Parents, Guardians of Pupils, and the friends of the Institution, are respectfully invited to attend. The success attending this Seminary since its recent commencement, has far exceeded the expectations of its most zealous friends, and the Principal pledges himself, that no exertion shall be wanting to merit a continuance of public favor. The second session of the Institution will commence on the 22nd inst. Five experienced Teachers are engaged in the various branches of instruction. June 19, 1829. 25 3t

ABSENTED themselves from the subscribers, in Columbia, in the autumn of 1827, two apprentice boys, viz. Francis Tisdale and William Tisdale—Francis having been bound to learn the Tailoring business, and William the Carpenter's. All persons are hereby cautioned not to employ or harbor the said boys, or either of them. URIAH FRITZ, DAVID WILSON. June 19, 1829. 25 3t

Periodical Literature. THE subscribers receive subscriptions for the following Journals. The Southern Review, 1st No. to appear 1st Feb. Edinburgh Review, Westminster Review, Foreign Quarterly Review, which began July last, Retrospective Review, North American Review, (of which they have complete sets.) American Quarterly Review, do do American Review of Medical Science, new series. E. W. & A. S. JOHNSTON. Jan. 11. 2 1f

Looking Glasses & Shell Combs. AN Assortment of Toilet Glasses, 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 drawers, variously mounted, some of which are very handsome. A large supply of the finest shell combs. Just received and for sale low for cash, by E. W. & A. S. JOHNSTON

HEAD QUARTERS, Columbia, June 6th 1829, JOHN P. BOSSARD having been appointed Adjutant General of the fourth Division of the So. Ca. Militia, with the rank Lieutenant, will be obeyed and respected according to order. By order of the Commander in Chief, WM. J. TAYLOR, Aid-de-Camp. 24 3

DENTISTRY. DR. AMBLER'S last visit to Columbia this season: Dr. A. respectfully gives notice of his return to Columbia. Those wishing his aid the present season will please call soon, as he will be able to remain here but a short time. May be found at Clark's Hotel or at the office of Dr. Lay. June 5, 1829. 23 1f

POETRY. A HOT DAY. The following lines have been often published, but in the dog-days they are always "to the purpose." We believe they were written by the late Lord Erskine, at the house of a friend, who he was on a visit. What a plague's a summer breakfast, Eat what'er you will! Cold butter'd bread's a nasty thing, Hot toast is nafter still! Then, how to pass the time away Till dinner, there's the doubt; You're hot if you stivy in the house, You're hot if you go out. And after dinner what to do, Not knowing where to move; The gentleman are hot below, The ladies hot above. And now the kettle comes, full trot— That's not the way to cool one; Tea makes an empty stomach hot, But hotter still a full one. Well, then an evening walk's the thing— Not if you're hot before; For he who sweats when he stands still, Will, when he walks, sweat more. So now the supper's come—and come To make bad worse, I wot, For supper, while it heats the cool, Will never cool the hot. And bed, which cheers the cold man's heart, Helps not the hot a pin: For he who's hot when he goes to bed, Heats ten times more when he's in.

The effects of Gaming.—A friend upon whom we place the most perfect reliance, has communicated the following facts, which are said to have created considerable sensation among the friends of the parties.—Their publication may be productive of good effects, and may lead many a thoughtless mind to profitable reflection. A young gentleman of this city, living with his widowed mother in Broadway, above Canal Street, had for several months been in the habit of coming home at late hours in the night, often keeping his mother waiting until one or two o'clock. Her advice, given in the mildest manner, had no effect upon him, and his restoration to regular and virtuous habits was only effected by the following singular occurrence. One night, rather earlier than his hour of returning home, his mother heard the footsteps of a person running up the stairs, whom she supposed to be her son. As usual she went to meet him, but instead of meeting her son, she was seized by a genteel dressed young man, who snatched an elegant gold watch from her side, and made his escape before the screams of the lady brought her servant to her assistance. Shortly after the son came home, and found his mother in a most distressing state of fear and indisposition.—During a subsequent conversation, she remarked that the robber resembled in his general appearance a young companion of her son, who had often called to see him. The son was much surprised, and admitted that he had that evening been in company with the individual alluded to, who had lost all his money at play, and had left the house at which they usually met, at an early hour, much dejected. He could not however believe that a person whom he considered of unimpeachable honor and integrity would commit such an act. But the conviction of his mother that she was not mistaken, and her desire that he should take measures to discover whether her suspicions were unjustly founded, induced him to endeavor to ascertain their correctness. The next night they met again at the gaming table. The son took his friend aside and mentioned the occurrence. The young man burst into tears and confessed that he was the robber. He declared that he had pawned the watch and that the money he was then venturing at play was the proceeds. He solemnly assured gaming from that time, begging his friend to save him from disgrace and destruction, by keeping the secret, and promising in a week to redeem and return the watch to its owner.—He was as good as his word. The two young men are now correct in their habits, and often meet at the lady's house. They enjoy each other's society and friendship, and endeavor to find pleasure in the paths of virtue and respectability.

From the Boston Statesman. THE PORTRAIT.—(ORIGINAL.) Horatio. Well, have you seen the picture, Vivian? Vivian. Ay. I've knelt to it, Horatio! Hor. What is it like? Viv. Like? Why, no angel! 'Tis the fairest thing created out of Heaven. Hor. Had it wings? Viv. Out on you, scoundrel! has an essence wings? The picture is ethereal. Hor. So is not the fair original. But tell me now, What are its beauties, Vivian? It should have a volume in its eye-brow to be fair. It must be eloquent. The red lip must melt With sentences like psalms— and you must swear She did not speak in vulgar consonants. But lip it all in liquids. Come, describe! How is the forehead rubery? Viv. Why, noble! 'Tis a clear, ample brow. Th' expression deep As the moon sky is deep, and there's a light of intellect upon it as the fount of truth that her eye were there. Hor. 'Tis bravely said. Paint me the eye as well. Viv. Minerva's eye— But softer than a sky of Italy. Its birth is beautiful, and yet with all its brilliancy and life, your gentle thought, in its chaste lustre might have bathed itself. Hor. Blank poetry! But was the eye-brow fine? Viv. Like to a slight enlaving, as of jet, To imitate the truth. Hor. The lashes? Viv. They Were long and sliken, nice embodied shade Guarding her gentle eye— you would have sworn The painter slighted them. Hor. Go on! Her cheek? Viv. Was a pale coralline—as the blood Had me led through and stood irresolute Between her beauty's service and her heart. And then the lip was an incarnate rose— The bee would light upon it—and her smile! Got deam yourself a fair Elysium, And paint its richest lip from memory,— Paint it when breathing to the passionate lute! Hor. Was her neck fine? Viv. The cheek stole into it As if 'twere rounded with the summer wind And polished by the dew. 'Twas beautiful! And then its queasily arching, and the fall Of the light shoulders off—the airy play Of shade upon the carving of the throat— And the proud look it wore! She should have had 'Tis Cleopatra chiding Antony? Hor. Was the expression sweet? Viv. Ah, there, Horatio, My pencil is at fault. I cannot paint Its witching inspiration. There's a flash Of something thro' her glorious lineaments, A kindling up like violence within, Which starts you like a careless fidgeting Upon a harp too exquisitely strung. The veins are living, and emotion speaks Like a repeated echo, every where— And the slight curl, and the pomegranate eye Upon her lip hath language—Ah, Horatio!

MISCELLANEOUS. United States vs. Tobias Watkins. The demurrer to the indictment against Dr. Watkins, was argued in the court yesterday, by Mr. Cox for the accused, and by the District Attorney and Mr. Key, in behalf of the United States. This morning Mr. Jones delivered an argument against the indictment. The principal grounds of the opposition to which, are, first, that it is precisely to the same effect as the indictment for forgery, ignored by the grand jury on Thursday, and secondly, that the abstract of account in which the erasures are alleged to have been made by Dr. Watkins, is not an instrument of such a nature that a forgery of it can be committed amenable to the law. On the conclusion of Mr. Jones's argument, Mr. Swann rose and stated to the court, that since the delivery of his opinion on the former demurrer, the counsel for the United States had framed an indictment, which they considered would be deemed perfectly unexceptionable, and in conformity with the rules laid down by the court. In that indictment they had set forth the false representations by which Dr. Watkins had procured the requisitions to be issued from the Navy Department; and the testimony of the late Secretary of the Navy, would, therefore, be necessary to substantiate the averments before the grand jury. Under these circumstances, he felt it his duty to move that the grand jury be adjourned until Monday, the 22d inst. in order to afford time for Mr. Southard, who had been written to on the subject, and who in answer, had expressed his readiness to attend, to arrive in Washington. Mr. Jones objected to the motion, and said that he intended, had the court been full, Judge Cranch had previously quitted the bench from indisposition,) to move to have the prisoner discharged instantly; on the ground that the indictment against him, in the event of its being sent to trial by

From the Baltimore Republican. "Iterum, iterum, iterumque." Another speech from Mr. Clay! A tremendously long, and, the Coalition papers say, a "transcendently Eloquent" speech! "He is the greatest orator living," say the Coalitionists;—and, they might have added, the greatest "Eater." Alas! poor gentleman, he ate and he spoke backwards and forwards from Washington to Kentucky, during the whole time of his Secretaryship, and yet could not keep in power; and we rather suspect, that with all his Eating and Speaking, he'll never be able to get in again. There lives not a man, perhaps, so ambitious of political power, of such longing and thirsting and yearning after it, as HENRY CLAY. In the high road to it, and that too, in an honorable way, such was his impatience to possess it that, he could not resist the opportunity which he thought the election of the President by the House of Representatives presented, to anticipate the time when probably it would have been conferred upon him by the People—and he made the Bargain of 1825 with Mr. Adams.

It was a fatal step to him, but, perhaps, most fortunate for the Country. He fell from his high estate, and, if the virtue of the American people be what we believe it to be, and trust it may continue, he fell, to rise no more. The national rebuke which he has received has not chastened his ambition, but seems only to have stimulated his revenge. A man now of desperate fortunes, the rallying point of those who expected to be rewarded by him if he had succeeded, and of those who have been turned adrift by him whom the People have chosen to reform the abuses of the Government, Mr. Clay's speeches bring forcibly to our minds that of Cataline to his band of desperate followers, when he would have led them against the liberties of his Country. But ours is a happily constituted government, and rests too firmly upon the broad basis of the people's affections, and the public virtue and intelligence, to be in danger from Henry Clay, or any other individual. The hungry and the disappointed may follow him, but the great body of the People will stand by the Administration until it does something to forfeit their confidence.—When it does, we will be among the first to denounce them, but even then, we shall look to some other person in whom to repose our confidence than Henry Clay.—The People have passed sentence upon him—nothing has transpired since to induce them to believe that they did him injustice, nor has his conduct, since they dismissed him, been such as to make atonement for his former betrayal of his trust and abuse of his power. He must remain where the People have sent him—in private life; for they will never trust him again in public.

Nashville, Tenn. May 26.—The period of our biennial election approaches, and the candidates are generally in the several counties and districts in opposition, viz: Messrs. Bell, and Isaacks; Mr. Lea is opposed to Col. Standifer; Mr. Mitchell declines to be a candidate; Mr. Troup, who is opposed at the last election; Dr. Brock is opposed by Cave Johnson, who is opposed to contend for a third term; Col. Alexander, a former member of Mr. Estlin's Gen. Carroll has again for Governor. Amount of duties Port of Rich- As statements bearing of the amounts of Duties in some of the other ports of the United States, we have thought it right to our Custom House for a similar and we have been favored with presenting rather a result, for the first quarter of the present year, than those of New York. We wish similar exhibits made from the ports of Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, New Orleans, and others where there is any considerable trade: Amount of Duties on merchandise imported into the Port of Richmond during the years 1827 and the first quarter of 1829—