London, (By Cable). -- A remarkable report to the effect that General Kuropatkin and his army of Russians are hemmed in between Liao-Yang and Mukden is current here and in many quarters is given credence.

Dispatches from Manchurian points received during the last twenty-four hours have intimated that the wily Japanese have a deep-laid plan on foot by which they will attempt a master stroke, which, if successful, will impose a crushing blow on the Czar's land forces. What this stroke is the report mentioned seems to make mani-

Several dispatches, notably one from the Central News Rome correspondent, indicate that General Kuroki has ent, indicate that General Kuroki has sent a large force of troops to the north of Mukden and that the latter place is now practically cut off.

These reports, if true mean but one thing, and that is that the Japanese for the time at least are markets.

anese, for the time at least, are masters of the situation. If a large force now lies between Mukden and Russia, General Kuropatkin will have to fight a double-headed enemy, with a large force in front and another large force in his rear. To add to the importance of the movement, it is stated in some quarters that the Japanese force outnumbers the Russian.

Russians Are Outgumbered.

The exact number of the Japanese is not known, nor, in fact, is the strength of the forces known even approximately. Until this is known naturally the full importance of the reported flanking movement cannot be appreciated. Several experts this morning expressed the belief that the force back of Mukden numbers fully 50,000. They base their belief on the fact that three divisions of the Japanese Army approximating that num-ber are known to have left the main force and nothing as to their whereabouts has been heard for some days. These divisions are said to be the ones back of the Manchurian capital. Other reports at hand indicate that the fight will occur at Mukden, and not at Liao-Yang, as has been ex-General Kuropatkin is reported to have discovered that his position at Liao-Yang was untenable and has, as a result, retreated toward the capital. This report is not confirmed, but, owing to the remarkable silence as to exact whereabouts of the main Russian force, is given some belief.

Discredited in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, (By Cable).-The report that the Japanese have taken up thus blocking the further retreat of the Russians, is discredited here. An officer of the general staff points out that the only route by which the Japanese could have marched thither is most mountainous, and would the Russians an opportunity of overwhelming the enemy.

It is stated that the general mili-

The landing of the Japanese division at Huang-Tsia-Tung is believed to be the first move in an attempt to in between the Russian forces at iao-Yang and those at Mukden. The Russians are confident of blocking this attempt, as the ground which the Japanese would be compelled to occupy is level, thus giving an excellent opportunity for the employment of the Russian cavalry.

A battle is not expected for some days, owing to the extreme care and slowness of the Japanese advance.

Rome Hears Otherwise

Rome, (By Cable).—According to a telegram received here from Tokyo, two Japanese divisions have arrived near Mukden, with the objective of cutting General Kuropatkin's line of retreat northward.

Paris, (By Cable).- A dispatch to the Temps from Mukden says that the mandarin of the district northeast of Feng-Huang-Cheng has notified the Tartar marshal at Mukden of the .r. rival of the Japanese in his territory which indicates that their objective is to turn Liao-Yang by the northeast. The steady rain of the last two days," the dispatch says, "has interrupted the progress of the Japanese toward Liao-Yang, the artillery being unable to move owing to the heaviness of the roads.

This Prophecy is Ventured on Strikes By Mr. D. M. Parry.

THE ASSOCIATION AND LABOR POLICY. Manufacturers la Illis Address Before Its

Annual Convention in Pittsburg Says That Organized Labor is Having Some Valuable Pittsburg, (Special). - Nearly 700 delegates were in their seats when the ninth annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers was called to order by Chairman D. C. Ripley, of the local committee of reception. Following the invocation by Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young City

Stewart then welcomed them to the state, and Congressman J. E. Brown received them on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.
President D. M. Parry, of Indianapolis, then took charge of the convention and delivered his annual address. In reviewing the labor events of the past year he said: "The theory that the condition of labor can be bettered by checking production and making life and property insecure was put to an extensive test and the results were disappointing to those who believe in that theory. There are many indications which go to show that organized labor is learning a very valuable lesson in economics and law observance, and iopes can be reasonably entertained hat the strikes which have characterized the last year will be less strenuous in the immediate future.

"In regard to the National Associa-tion of Manufacturers I am positive that any crusade having for its object the grinding down of labor would meet with a determined opposition of practically the entire membership. The policy of this association is primarily one of peace. If we stand for anything we stand for the development of American industry. It is obvious that men will hesitate to invest their capital in productive enterprises if it means constant struggle with labor unions and if frequent strikes tend to destroy trade by making un-certain the filling of contracts. In-dustrial strife adds a hazar! to investments involving the employment of abor which cannot fail to be injurious to industrial development, thus causing permanent loss to all classes. Therefore our policy is one which looks to the maintenance of peace and not to the adoption of measures that will arouse hostilities."

Speaking of the closed shops Mr.
Parry said:

"The closed shop is against public policy and is of doubtful legality. The liberty of the individual would be impossible if he is debarred from the possible if he is debarred from the right to contract for his services because he does not belong to a union. I believe that this truth will become generally recognized and that the day must come when no industry will be allowed to run on the closed shop plan. Washington, D. C. (Special).-In an opinion by Chief Justice Fuller, the United States supreme Court sustained the action of the immigrant authorities at the Port of New York in ordering the deportation of the Englishman Turner, alleged to be an anarchist. The Chief Justice said in his opinion that Turner did not himself deny that he is an anarchist. The opinion upheld the law for the exclusion on anarchists and affimed the decision of the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, which refused a writ of habeas corpus to Turner.

Chief Justice Fuller, in his opinion, first reviewed the facts in the case, including the claim of Turner that he is a lecturer on sociological questions, and that his counsel contends that he was an anarchist in theory merely. He then referred to the fact that Turner's counsel attacked the immigration law as unconstitutional on the ground that it is in contravention of the First, Fifth and Sixth Amendments and also of section I of the Constitution, and because "no power is delegated by the Constitution to the general government over alien friends with reference to thir admission into the United States or otherwise, or over the belief of citizens, denizens, sojourners or aliens, or over the freedom of speech or of All the contentions were negatived by the decision of the Chief Justice, who said, among other things: "Whether rested on the accepted principle of international law that every sovereign nation has the power, as inheren; in sovereignty and essential to self-preservation, to forbid the entrance of foreigners within its dominions, or to admit them only in such cases and on such conditions as it may see fit to prescribe, or on the power to regulate commerce with forright nations, which includes the entrance of ships, the importation of goods and the bringing of persons into the ports of the United States, the act before us is not open to con-stitutional objection. Nor is the manner in which Congress has exercised the right, although when such a case The Chief Justice also expressed the surprise of the court that exception should be taken to the law on the ground that it is obnoxious to the constitutional provision prohibiting the abridgement of freedom of speech, the exercise of religious privigovernment for redress or grievences. I think the engagement showed is not permitted to enter this country is expelled, he is, in fact, cut off worshipping or speaking or publishing or petitioning in the country, but that is merely because of his are secured, and cannot become such by an attempt forbidden by law. ### FRENCH TREASON CASE.

Alleged Attempt to Divulge Plans of Fort Offered Per Sale.

Paris, (By Cable) .- The Matin's London correspondent having obtained nearly a hundred authentic plans of the fortifications at Toulon, besides numerous other documents, the paper has began the publication of the history of a treason affair which seems likely to exceed in importance the offences with which Capt. Dreyfus was

On April 21, the correspondent received a letter written in a queer semi-French, semi-Italian jargon, and signed "Fragola Pietro," telling him signed "Fragola Pietro," telling him that the writer, who was employed at a hotel, had been acting as a guide to two persons who had come to London to sell a large parcel of docu-ments of the highest importance con-cerning French naval defenses. The letter stated that the men had gone to Brussels, leaving the writer penniless. He, therefore, wanted to nego-tiate for the transfer of the documents, but was unwilling to treat direct with the French government, pre-ferring to deal with the Matin or some other newspaper.

The corespondent thought the let-ter was probably a begging trick, but replied, addressing his answer to the post-office, to be called for, and making an appointment, which Fragola duly kept. The man's desperate state of hunger evidenced his sincerity.

Fragola told the following story: He was formerly, he said, employed at the war ministry in Rome, but became compromised in a case of espionage and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Subsequently he came to London, living from hand to mouth. Recently he had acted as a guide and secretary to two men of Italian origin, with one of whom—a nathralized French citizen-he had formerly been acquainted at the war ministry in Rome. Both of these men, Fragola said, worked for foreign gov-ernments, and had several times sold important secrets to Germany at high prices. The Italian's name was Cesare Golio and that of the naturalized Frenchman Jeremie Mesqui. The latter had long been a contractor on public works at Tulon. They had gone to Brussels five days ago, leaving him entirely without means of liv-ing. He found after their departure that Golio had left documents behind him, and these he wanted to sell.

Fragola thereupon produced eightyfive plans of the Toulon forts, some of them the French originals and others accurate copies, made at the Italian war ministry. He also had in his possession a list of plans of Cherbourg, Brest, and Toulon, with typewritten instructions, alleged by Fragola to have emanated from the Fragola to have emanated from the German staff, concerning the marking of batteries of artillery. There was also a letter appointing a render vous at the Thuringer Hof, Berlin, for November 13, signed "X." To this was attached a card inscribed "Felix Friedrich Scholtz."

The Matin's corespondent gave Fragola a few shillings and persuaded

DEAD BODY HANGING IN CHURC.

Gruesome Sight Met the Congregation Emanuel Baptist Church.

Chicago, (Special) .-- The dead body of a man dangling at the end of a rope in the belfry of Emanuel Baptist Church, 2320 Michigan avenue, was the gruesome sight that met the eyes of he congregation as they assembled for Sunday morning's service. The police were notified at once and the body was cut down and taken away.

In one of the pockets of the dead man's coat a memorandum book was found bearing the name and address of William Johnson, 2233 Webster avenue, Pittsburg. Written on a fly leaf of the book were the following words:

"Well, I see that nothing but my death will satisfy the outraged public. Therefore I will give it, but I will be my own executioner.

It is supposed that Johnson had been hanging in the belfry since Fri-day night, when he was last seen to enter the church. He lead been employed on different occasions by pastor to repair the electric lights at the top of the steeple.
