EDWARD E. BRITTON - . Editor.

For Reciting.

In every language there is a term that is endeared to many hearts. In our tongue we call it Father land. When we unite our language and our land the union is strong indeed, as will be seen from this selection by Samuel Lover, entitled:

FATHER LAND AND MOTHER TONGUE.

Our Father land! And would'st thou know
Why we should call it Father land?
Is it that Adam here below,
Was made of earth, by Nature's hand,
And he, our Father, made of earth,
Hain peopled earth on every hand;
And we, in memory of his birth,
Do call our country "Father land."

At first, in Eden's bowers, they say,
No sound of speech had Adam caught,
But whistled like a bird, all day;
And maybe 'twas for want of thought:
But Nature, with resistless laws,
Made Adam soon surpass the birds;
She gave him levely Eve—because,
If he'd a wife—they must have words.

And so, the Native land I hold
By male descent, is, proudly, mine:
The language as the tale hath told,
Was given in the female line.
And thus, we see, on either hand.
We name our blessings whence sprung;
We call our country Father land,
We call our language Mether tongue.

and if a child is unable to pay the erable amusement and interest. tuition, he can get no benefit from the school fund.

We took occasion some time ago, to call the attention of the school trustees for this district to the fact, that the town of Laurens has no freeschool. The money given to this district is apportioned out to all the schools, and so long as it lasts, those who can pay the tuition get a rebate to the amount of his proportionate ter at what sacrifice of sense and dren in this as in other communities spirit. But translation is not the who cannot pay even a small fee, and student's aim should not be to get the the consequence is they cannot go to Greek or Latin words into English, school at all. If this private subscrip- but to convey the sense and spirit of tion would not shut out those who are the writer. We are convinced that unable to pay, the scheme might work well, but we do not see how that can faults in the classical instruction of be done. Who is it that will say to the present. And it does not end in one "pay" and to another "no pay." -Laurens Advertiser.

The Newberry Observer is right when it says that when public money breadth of view and comprehension is received by a school it becomes a public school, no matter how small the amount paid.

Article 10, Section 10 of the Constitution says: All the public schools ish style. We have known numerin part by the public funds shall be free and open to all the children and youths of the State. * * * * *

We suggest that the Advertiser call the attention of the trustees it speaks of to this section of the Constitution,

Everyday Mistakes.

Correct these errors in your conversation.

"They came to see my brother and I," "The man whom they intend shall do that work;" "I know it was her;" "One of the balls were struck;" "Either of them are too old;" "He repeated it again;" "He gathered the fruit off of the tree."

Bix Months.

We most respectfully call the at- attend. tention of our contemporaries who have been demanding that the public on the Graded School question and schools be run six months on barely means business,

Mariboro Democrat chough money for two or three months to the language used in Scetion 1014 of the Statutes of South Carolina. It reads as follows: "The school year shall begin annually on the first day of November; but each County Board of Examiners shall have power to limit the school term according to the school fund of their county, and to regulate the opening and closing of the schools in such manner as will best subserve the edus cational interests of different locali-

Start Early.

Child training begins, and child character is formed, much earlier than most persons suppose. A child whose training is not fairly started before he is six weeks old, is likely to be a loser for life because of this neglect. And the permanent trend of a child's character is likely to be given by the time he is seven years old. Many a child is not counted by his parents old enough to be fairly under training, until his habits and his character are practically already influenced for all time.-S. S. Times.

Writing by Periods.

A method that has been successful with children, is to tell them that figures live in little families, three in a family, and each one has its name according to the family, Represent 000,000,000. Pointing to the differ-The Laurens Advertiser agrees with ent periods, "The first one is where all the Observer that the Constitution requires the term to be at least six the units live, the second the thousands, and the third the millions. ing 810 a month from the public fund Now, notice when I call off the family and supplementing all schools by private subscriptions because, it says, this destroys the free part of the school. Not at all. On the contrary, it sives a free school of six months. Millions is its name, and put it in We object to this plan, because if millions' home." Read slowly, and a tuition fee, however small, has to be separate at first distinctly the name paid in our public schools, it is not a of the period from the number to be free school. No good teacher can placed in that period. "When vawork for $10.00 a month; then if he cancies occur and other members of must depend upon private subscrip- the family are not at home, put in tions to make out a reasonable salary, ciphers." The method creates consid-

When the student is translating from a foreign language, especially from the classics, the teacher is very the mere use of language. It has a narrowing, cramping influence on the mind, instead of developing that which ought to come from classical study. It is surprising, too, how great an influence for evil this ultra-ltteral translation has on the student's Engous instances where the peculiarly Greek and Latin idioms have been quite as numerous in a composition or essay as the English. The result is, naturally enough, a forced, artificial, and awkward style. Our classical teachers, especially thoss who have the supervision of the younger pupils, cannot be too careful in demanding a translation which shall not neglect the spirit while it interprets the letter of the author.-Ex.
