COLUMBIA CONVOCATION.
There will be a meeting of the Columbia Convocation at St. Paul's Episcopal Church beginning Monday at 8 p. m., the 19th instant.
The idea of these meetings is to revive and to deepen the Christian life by daily services carried through the week, and to awaken interest by a general discussion of subjects connected with Church life or doctrine.
Below will be found a program for the week's exercise. The people of Bennettsville are cordially invited to attend each and all of them.
We especially invite our brethren the ministers of other denominations to be present with us.
Rev. C. W. Boyd,
Rector of St. Paul's.

Tuesday morning—Duties of the Laity. Leader, the Rev. T. W. Clift.
Wednesday morning—Reformation of the English Church in the 16th Century. Leader, the Rev. Harold Thomas.
Thursday morning—Revision of the Prayer Book in the 16th Century. Leader, the Rev. A. S. Thomas.
Thursday afternoon—Sunday-school service, with addresses by the Bishop and the Rev. Churchill Satterlee.
Friday morning—Christian Socialism. Leader, the Rev. W. P. Wittell.
Saturday morning—The Chicago Lambert Quadrilateral. Leader, the Rev. H. O. Judd.

There will be preaching each evening during the week, the following being the assignments:
Monday p. m.—Rev. Churchill Satterlee; alternate, Rev. T. T. Walsh.

THE AGONY OVER.
The Trial of J. H. Tillman Has Been Completed.
The trial of Col. J. H. Tillman for the killing of N. G. Gonzales which has been in progress at Lexington, S. C., for the past 14 days came to a close on Wednesday at 1.35, when after an able and plain charge by His Honor Judge Gary, the papers were given to the jury.
Later—As we go to press this Thursday morning at 11.30, the news is: "Tillman acquitted."
A full report of the closing scenes will appear next week.

According to the Ornithological union of the United States, Bob White is a partridge and not a quail. He is often called quail, but that is a misnomer. A number of states have game laws, in which quail are protected. Since there are no quail in the United States, a conviction under such laws could not be had of those who killed partridges in the closed season. The correct nomenclature is employed in the statute of this state.

To those who at the last State Fair said "Why I've got better than that at home," the managers say, "Prove it by becoming an exhibitor at the next State Fair with your best. Get full particulars from A. W. Love Chester, S. C."

Nothing gives as large returns in proportion to space covered and labor expended as a well kept strawberry bed planted in really choice varieties. Let all in need of plants read of Continental Plant Co., in this issue. They offer also all kinds fruit trees.

Trailing Skirts are Dangerous.
The vogue of the bicyclo has departed and with it the fashion of wearing short skirts. The skirt is an encumbrance to freedom of movement at the best, but the best, but the short skirt was much less an encumbrance than the trailing garment which robes our women to-day. Its inconvenience is, however, but a trifling consideration as compared with the great hygienic dangers which every woman looses who trails her garments along the streets.
Dr. Casagrandi, of Rome, stated that he had employed a number of women wearing long skirts to walk for one hour through the streets of the city, and after their promenade was over he had taken the skirts and submitted them to a careful bacteriological examination. He found on each skirt large colonies of noxious germs, including those of influenza, typhoid fever and typhus, and numerous other bacilli which also were represented on each skirt.
That women should willingly subject themselves to filth, to say nothing of the possible danger, of trailing skirts, has long been a wonder, to sensible people.
The ordinary sticky mud which prevails in the streets of any city, adheres closely to the movement a garment touches the ground. It tries in the course of a few hours and is then shaken off when the skirt is cleansed at home. Thus the vilest germs of the street invade the privacy of the best-kept houses.

We have just received a car of nice buggies, which we are offering very low. See us before buying.
