'Step lively!'
Belated souls are following fast:
They shout and signal 'Wait!'
Conductor Time brooks no delay; He rings the hell of Fate: But you can give the man behind, With one hand on the bar,

A final chance to trick defeat And board the moving car. Make way for others as you sit,
Or stand! This crowded earth
Has room for every journeying soul
En route to Higher Birth.

Aye, room and comfort if no one Took double share of space, Nor let his greed and selfishness Absorb another's place.

"Hold fast!"
The jolting switch of Obstacles
With jarring rails is near;
With jarring rails is near;
Brace well, and have no fear,
The Maker of the Car of Life

Foresaw that curve—Despair— And hung the straps of Faith and Will So you might grasp them there. -ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

A QUEER STORY.

Dying Man Said to Have Confessed to Murder of His Wife.

The Charleston Post says a story is Section Foreman Jones of the Atlana few weeks ago, confessed to the murder of his wife, who was killed at Ravenel in May, 1902, and that the three negroes, Jim Black, James Ford and Thomas Pryor, who were lynched for the crime, were entirely innocent of it.

Capt. Tate's company, Sumter's brigade; probably killed at Fishing Creek. part of May in the deg house in the rear of the yard with her throat cut and her head crushed in from terriffic blows delivered with some heavy inwoman was discovered by her little daughter, who reported to her father, who was at work down the railroad track, that her mother had been killed. Hurrying home Jones found the body in the log house and he

It was believed that the crime was committed by the negroes for the pur-pose of robbery. The theory was that the negroes went to Jones' residence that morning after he had gone off to work, killed Mrs. Jones and dragged her body into the yard and threw it into the dog house and became frightened and ran away before looting the house.

The news of the killing spread over Colleton county and armed men started in pursuit of Black, Pryor and who, it is said, had been seen near the Jones cottage on the morning of the tragedy. About three weeks after the commission of the crime Black was captured in Georgia and he was brought to Ravenel and taken before Magistrate Behling, who committed him to jail. While the constable was en route to Walterboro with Black he was met by a mob of white citizens and the prisoner taken to the scene of the crime and strung to a telegraph pole and his body rid-dled with bullets. It was said that before being lynched Black confessed the crime, implicating Ford and Pryor. Ford is said to have watched the house while Black and Pryor committed the murder. Both Ford and Pryor suffered the same fate as Black,
