From Manning Times.

The question of biennial sessions of the general assembly will be considered by the voters at the coming election. This matter has given politicians a taking argument to present to the people and on first blush it does appear in the interest of economy to do way with appeal. economy to do way with annual sessions, and only have the legislature meet once even the legi islature meet once every two years. When a member of the Senate we cast our vote twice in farmer not getting within 25 points at did so, as we then thought, on the ground of economy, but since then we have studied the matter more carefully, and observed the working of biennial sessions in other States, and it has convinced us, the plea of economy will not hold good. A session of the legislature it is said cost about $50,000, and under our constitution it is limited to forty days, but this limit refers only to regular sessions, and favor of biennial sessions, and least of what it is sold for before it fers only to regular sessions, and should special sessions be called they would be unlimited, and day to serve as petit jurors for the there is no telling where the term of Court: cost would go. Our observation J A Parker, is, in States where they have G D Matheson, biennial sessions, the cost of J M McIntyre, special sessions is more than the J H Pate, regular sessions, and instead of M J Covington, saving money to the people they dames W Smith, add an additional expense. We H K Covington, therefore do not think it wise to charge, especially now, that we are beginning to make progressive strides. To charge our constitution would entail a complete revolution in our financial system and disrupt our entire gov ernmental body, and in our opinion we are in no condition to tamper with the governmental machinery. tal machinery.

There seems to be an idea that if the people adopt the riennial sessions amendment in the coming election the matter goes into effect right away, and those who are elected in this election hold for four years, those offices which were formal ly two, but this is a mistake. The general assembly which submitted the amendment has

The premium list is very liberal this year, and it is to be hoped that the management will meet with success in inducing a very large number of new exhibitors to attend the Fair, so that the Fair will become representative of every section of the State and of all the resources of Carolina. Information and premium lists will be cheerfully supplied upon application in person or by letter to Secretary Love at Columbia. Let all who are thinking of exhibiting, or who have thinking of exhibiting, or who have the products or stock, make up their minds right now to exhibit, write for a premium list and then make their entries at once. Join the processios, that is making this State one; of the best in the country.
