Brownsville Letter

Brownsville, June 12th-We have had plenty of rain. Crops and grass are hustling now.

Rowland Thompson, a colored tenant on Mr. C P Hodges place, was the first to bring a cotton blossom to our little town on the 10th. That speaks well for him as a good farmer.

Mr. G Z Harper is very ill a this writing with typhoid fever.

Mr. M E Brigman, one of our best farmers, called last week and said he was planting corn after oats and had sold over two hundred bushels this season. No wonder he is having his nice new building painted. We expect if cotton brings 12 cents this fall his pocket book will be very large. something in proportion to his size

Please tell Mr. Covington if he at anytime declares war against the dogs to call his troops out and begin work at Brownsville. It home south of town, is thought to Stella Malpass, Mr Thos J Capel, looks like in this neighborhood Mrs Cora Capel and a devoted wife there are several thousand besides the big and little ones.

DEAD DOGS IN GREENWOOD

A Sight that Would Have Pleased Mr Covington.

Arthur Thompson, Esq. a well known lawyer of Edgefield, passed through the city today on his way home from Greenwood, where he has been at court for several days. He relates a remarkable instance of "hydrophobia fright" which goes to show that "Little Old New York" is not the only town on the map that is afraid of the terrible

"A few days ago," he said, 'somebody's dog went mad, and bit more than a score of other dogs n Greenwood before his mad career was trought in to an abrupt termination. When the news went abroad, people grew uneasy, and several dog-owners voluntarily killed their pets.

"There is a city ordinance in Greenwood that requires policemen to shoot at sight all loose dogs that wear no muzzle. The town marshal is game to the core, and when the 'mad dog scare' took spent last week over in Marion hold on the people, he received orvisiting her friends and relatives. ders, to rigidly enforce the law,

And they hauled out dead dogs by wagon loads. It was the first time I have ever seen so many dead dogs in one heap. Many owners of fine dogs remonstrated but it was no use. The war of extermination went on and Greenwood is minus several dozen dogs, both desirable and undesirable."-Augusta Herald.

NOT ALLOWED TO PAY OUT

WHITE MEN WITH MONEY SERF TO CHAINGANG.

Judge Aldrich Starts Out to Mak Aiken as Good as Marlboro.

Aiken June 12. - J. C. Richardson and M. C. Todd, respectable looking, well dressed white men in the prime of life, were sentenced to serve six months each on the Aiken county chaingang today without the alternative of paying fines for having violated the dispensary law.

Both men had entered pleas of guilty but, notwithstanding the fact, Judge Robert Andrich gave them the limit, and in pronouncing sentence, expressed regret that the law does not permit him to give heavier sentences to men of their stripe. He said until the lawmakers increase the penalty for violation of this law it will not be possible to secure its proper enforcement. These men formerly operated in the blind tiger business in Augusta but the heavy sentences recently imposed for violations of the prohibition law by Judge Hammond caused these men to cross the Savannah river and ply their nefarious illicit trade in South Carelina.

They stood up in the court of general sessions and entered pleas of guilty, doubtless feeling that they would get off with mild fres which either of them, it would appear, could easily pay. But they reckoned without their bost and it is doubtful if they would have say desire to face Judge Aldrich

The People of Georgia Not Wedded to Second Term Idea

The Yorkville Enquire says: "The election in Georgia indicates that the people of that state calcuiate, that because a man has trad one term of office is no special ceason why he should have another. As a matter of fact, this two terra business is a mighty poor ergument upon which to influence a vote. The majority make mistakes sometimes, and it is very silly not to correct such mistakes at the earliest opportunity. The people of Georgia have evidently dense House on Friday the 19th instant their best. Length of service, however, should depend altogether on the fitness and acceptability of the incumbent. An unjust or unacceptable man should congratulate himself that he has, by hock or crook, been permitted to serve one term. A fit and acceptable maz has a right to expect the sufferance stop it, and with perfect safety. It of the people indefinitely.
