

How Do You Feed Your Crops?

DO YOU KNOW just what your cotton and corn need, and are you furnishing it in such quantities as required and in such shape that the plant can use it?

Suppose you should put the food for your stock in a box, nail it up and place it in their trough—would you expect them to thrive and grow fat?

Hardly!

Well, did it ever occur to you that when you use lumpy, badly mixed fertilizers you are putting this same proposition up to your crops—offering them plant food in such shape that they can't get to it?

Fertilizers, to do your crops any good, must dissolve in the soil waters. These are constantly in motion, rising to the surface during the day and sinking at night—passing and re-passing the roots of the plant, which absorb the food contained in the water—and this is the only way in which the plant can feed.

Therefore, when you buy fertilizer, you should do so with the idea of furnishing food for your crop and on the same principle that you should purchase food for your stock. It should not only contain the necessary Ammonia, Phosphoric Acid and Potash, but above all else these should be in soluble form—the mechanical condition of the fertilizer should be such as to permit the plant to absorb every particle of it, and the goods should be manufactured from materials that will not give up their plant food at one time, but furnish a steady supply throughout the entire growing season.

This is the fertilizer you should have and can get—in only one way. It is impossible to produce a goods like this by the dry-mixing of raw materials, whether you do this at home with a shovel and a screen or buy it from someone who has made it the same way—the only difference being in the quantity.

These materials must be ground to a powder, and it requires machinery costing thousands of dollars to do it properly. They must then be so manipulated that when complete, you have a compound, each ounce of which is exactly like every other ounce, and not a mixture, one part of which would contain too much Ammonia and too little Potash, while another part would be exactly the opposite—and all of it contain plant food locked up and not available.

Remember that the chemical analysis of a fertilizer is no test of its crop growing qualities. The chemist can pulverize lumps and by the use of various means search out the plant food; your crop can't.

You can take an axe, break open the box and get the corn; your mule can't.

Don't risk a crop failure!

The appeal of W. J. Bruton from the decision of the Mayor's Court, finding him guilty of violation of the town ordinance relating to contraband liquor came up for hearing in the higher Court on Wednesday of last week. He had been tried in the town Court on two counts, one for selling liquor and one for transporting contraband liquor on the streets in the night time. The written verdict of the Mayor failed to state whether he had been convicted upon both of these counts, or only one of them. The Court decided that they would sustain the conviction upon the count for transporting contraband liquor, but not upon the count for selling and the case was remanded to Mayor Little for the purpose of re-sentencing Bruton. After this decision of the Court Bruton remained about town, but on the following morning he had disappeared and could not be found. He is still absent.
