HANSON-STURTEVANT MARRIAGE EVENT

Miss Harrison Mayne Hanson Becomes the Bride of Mr. R. H. Sturtevant.

On Thursday, January 27, at the home of Mr. R. O. Hanson, near Conway, a very pretty wedding was solemnized when his sister, Miss Harriet Mayne Hanson was married to Mr. Richard Harrison Sturtevant of Boston, Mass. The ceremony was at high noon, Rev. W. R. Phillips of Pages Mill, officiating, using the beautiful ring service. The bride was gowned in cream white satin charmeuse with bodice trimmed in point lace. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Rook Party.

Miss Lois Howell entertained several of the young set on Tuesday evening at a Rook Party. The parlor and dining room were thrown together in which were placed small tables and chairs for two couples to the table. The electric lights, which were covered with tissue paper, filled the room with soft-colored light of a delicate hue, presenting a very lovely scene.

CONWAY ASTONISHED BY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Conway people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising foul matter it relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble.—Conway Drug Company.—adv—(G-4)

RIVER STEAMER RUNS NOW TO TODDVILLE

The mail steamer Commanche now runs between Georgetown and Toddville, arriving at Toddville every Monday afternoon and returning every other day. The management of this boat endeavored to make arrangements to run the boat to Conway, but stated later that this could not be done on account of the lack of wharf accommodations here.

Mrs. E. S. C. Baker Entertains.

Mrs. E. S. C. Baker entertained at a "tacky party" on Tuesday evening, February 8, complimentary to her visitors, Misses Annabel Tedder and Vera Allen. Mrs. Baker was a grand hostess, having arranged various contests and games for the evening's amusement, in which all heartily partook and enjoyed. Among the most amusing was the "guessing contest." The boys were placed in a dark room, with pencil and cards, the girls were in another room which was curtained off with a diaphanous screen. When the girls appeared before this screen, the boys wrote their names on cards provided for the purpose. Clarence Sessions, Corbet Anderson and Mr. Montgomery tied in this contest and the winner was determined by drawing marked cards. Corbet Anderson drew the lucky card. Probably the funniest number on the program was the "love-making" contest in which the girls made love to the boys. Miss Annabel Tedder easily won the first prize and Miss Lettie Jones the second. Towards the end of the program a prize was offered to the one wearing the "tuckiest" costume. Votes were cast and Corbet Anderson was declared the "tuckiest" and Miss Florence McNeill the "un (?) tuckiest." Both were presented with prizes. Among those present were Misses Grace Powell, Annabel Tedder, Lettie Jones, Louise Powell, Jeanette McQueen, Florence McNeill, Jessamine Burroughs, Margaret Howell, and Messrs. Clarence Sessions, Andrew Johnson, M. W. Wall, B. Sommerlyn, Odell Davis, Simpson Beverly, Corbet Anderson, Joe McMillan, Bert Jones, Dusenbury Andersen, and Mr. Montgomery.—Contributed.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

The artesian flow obtained some months ago at the plants of the Quaker Light & Ice Co., is still running a great stream of chrysal water, which is being utilized in making ice.

Thomas W. Livingstone of Hammond, S. C., was in the city on business recently.

Recently some of the old buildings still standing in the business portion of the city were condemned as unsanitary and a fire menace. Year by year these old buildings are coming down and new and modern structures are taking the place of them.

J. O. Anderson was in Conway last Saturday on business.

The old shed in front of the brick stores on the eastward side of Main street below the L. H. Burroughs store was torn down last week; and the stores took on a new appearance when a coat of paint was put on the front and other improvements made in the property. That portion of the street is now looking well.

Last week wound up with bad weather.

One of the numbers of the lyceum course came on last week and was among the best that will be had this season. The entertainer was Louis Williams with his electrical devices. The performance was interesting as well as instructive from beginning to end.

R. B. Nichols was in the city one day recently.

MILITIA PAY BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Effort to Defeat The Beckett Bill Fails by Large Majority

PLANS OF STEERING NOT YET ADOPTED

Immediate Consideration of This Bill Blocked by An Objection Raised.

Columbia.—The House objected to immediate consideration of a resolution by Mr. Odum authorizing the speaker to appoint twelve members as a steering committee for the remainder of this session. The object of the committee is to pick out from the large calendar those bills most worthy of consideration before adjournment sine die.

After debate the House refused to recommit the bill by Mr. Beckett providing for an annual fund for maintenance and encouragement of the attendance on drills and instructions by the officers and enlisted men of the National Guards. The bill, which passed second reading Wednesday night would give millilitan fifteen cents for each attendance. No appropriation is necessary to carry out the provision of the bill during the current year.

Messrs. Moore and Fair opposed the measure. Both pleaded for patriotic soldiers rather than paid militiamen at a paltry sum of fifteen cents. Both called it an "entering wedge" in the annual appropriations. Mr. Beckett pointed out the service rendered by the National Guards, and claimed that the service is not measured by dollars and cents. The object of the small compensation is to increase the good comradeship between members of the militia. Mr. Belser spoke in behalf of the bill, saying that the State should encourage the growth of its militia. Mr. Berry opposing the measure, likened it to the trajan horse of wood. He maintained that it would be raising a "Dutch supper militia." Mr. Berry spoke highly of the service rendered by the Edisto Rifles, of which he has been a member, and said that this bill would bring in the degrading spirit of commercialism. Mr. Scason called attention to the resolution adopted by the House endorsing President Wilson's program of preparedness and maintained that the House should be consistent and support the militia.

Mr. Graydon said that the militia is to preserve peace and is not an "entering wedge" of militarism in behalf of preparedness. He pictured the sturdy army of Belgium and pointed out that it takes a great deal of technical training to develop the modern soldier. "This bill is a matter of justice," said he. The House refused to recommit the bill on aye and nay vote of 71 to 30. The measure was given a third reading and sent to the Senate.

Death of Agnes M. Gatlin.

On last Monday morning after an illness of several weeks, Mrs. Agnes M. Gatlin quietly passed away.

Mrs. Gatlin had been in declining health for the past two years and her death, while very sad, was not unexpected. She was in her 76th year. She leaves three children, two sons and one daughter; Messrs. Will and Arthur Gatlin and Miss Bessie Gatlin. Mrs. Gatlin was the widow of the late G. W. Gatlin, who preceded her to the grave by a few years.

Mr. and Mrs. Gatlin and family moved here about 10 years ago and have resided on Elm Street since that time. During their stay here they have made many friends, all of whom regretted to learn of the death of so good a woman.

The funeral was held at the Conway M. E. Church and conducted by Rev. E. L. McCoy, her pastor. Interment took place at Lakeside cemetery.

We extend to the family our heartfelt sympathy.
