MOST EXPENSIVE WAY SELECTED

The error made in locating the new road appears plainer and plainer as the work on the new road progresses. Already enough money has been spent on the work between Conway and the Quattlebaum farm to have finished the road completely by the way of the new road, as it has been called, running away from the end of Third avenue.

Go out to the place where the new road leaves Fourth avenue and look at both ways. It will be seen that the two ways are almost parallel. This fact in itself is enough to show that needless expenditure has been made. If not satisfied then, go on out and look at the amount of earth that has been hauled in and the number of cuts made through hills and the lingering doubt will be forever gone.

GIVE OUR VISITORS A GOOD IMPRESSION

The local press is carrying the joint programs of the Marion District Conference with the list of delegates to the Ecclesiastical District Conference. To this list will be added the delegates to the Sunday School Conference.

The combined Conference will bring to Conway the largest body of Christian workers ever assembled here. The natural question of every citizen of this splendid town is: What impression shall our Christian guests carry away concerning Conway's religious, moral, social, intellectual, and business life? An affirmative answer on the part of Conway, as hostess to her distinguished visitors spells growth, constructiveness. A negative answer would spell loss, destructiveness.

I hold no fear. The very name of Conway is a synonym for hospitality, her citizens are alert to treat kindly and impress favorably her worthy visitors. April 25-27 is the time of the district conference, so let us think and talk in the terms of the largest religious gathering in Conway's history.

Sincerely Yours,
J. C. ATKINSON.

CARD OF THANKS.

I can not express with words my heartfelt appreciation of the kindness and sympathy rendered us by our friends in the death of my dear brother, William B. Capps. May heaven's blessings attend each kind deed.

RADCLIFFE HAS SIGNED AGAIN

The Radcliffe chautauqua will come again next year, numbers of business men having signed the contract with them.

Crowds heard the lectures and enjoyed the entertainments this time which were given in the Planters Warehouse.

The lectures were uplifting and the entertainments were of the highest class.

MUST IMPROVE

The service in supplying gasoline and lubricants here will certainly improve if the increase in filling stations means anything. There was already one and now two more are being completed.

PUTS ON PLAYS

The DeForrest Stock Company, headed by Jimmie DeForrest came to Conway the first of last week and put on plays, with vaudeville between the acts, at the Pastime theatre for three nights.

DeForrest was a member of the troupe that gave the vaudeville performances here recently at the same theatre and which had great success for an entire week.

COMPLETES SURVEY

Rufus G. Melson has about completed his surveys of the land which is located on both sides of the new highway, near the corporate limits where he will offer lots for sale to the people.

The streets have been marked out and the lots measured. A large map will show the location of the streets and avenues. It is a piece of beautiful building land.

Conway is growing and growing fast. We can build it faster by trying to do it. Let's get together and make it a big town as soon as possible.

WANTED WOOL AND HIDES

I am now in the market for all your wool, green hides and furs. I am paying best cash prices. Bring me your goods at Lewis' Fish Market or my store on Race Path. Correspondence solicited.
