

The Reform Movement.

Our anti friends have expressed themselves on divers occasions as being pleased with the prospect of an early dissolution of the reform movement in this state. They base their opinion on the fact that the leaders are wrangling among themselves for the best seats in the synagogue...

We publish the above from our steamed contemporary, the People's Journal, so that the readers of The Sentinel can enjoy the double gratification of knowing there was yet something to please an anti and at the same time assure them that the reform movement is in no danger. We are glad to know this. It is the hardest thing any party ever tried to do yet, to repel the outsiders in its own crowd quiet, without throwing them something. The anti-reformers are wrangling enough themselves to know that is nothing, only the biggest wrangler gets the best place. Of course the movement will continue vigorous until every fellow in it gets an office. The purpose of the movement are being rapidly accomplished, to-wit: Getting office and stepping from one to another. But a reformer told us last week that the movement as an expensive as it was encouraging to the rank and file, and that for his own part he was still gnawing a file.—Sentinel.

The Journal was pleased to see the Sentinel agree with its views on the future prospects of the reform movement and was a little surprised, that the Sentinel would admit so much. The Sentinel says that it is glad that the reform movement is in no danger, but seems to have a very low estimate of its purposes. It quotes a reformer as being dissatisfied on account of the expenses under the present management of State affairs. As to the purposes of the reform movement the Sentinel should rely by this time have been better informed. They have been declared on the hustings; they have been published in the newspapers; they have been expressed in legislative acts; they are written in the hearts of the people. The shievements of the State government under reform management to incontestible evidences of the purposes of the reform movement. The Sentinel is so ungenerous as to assert that "the movement will continue vigorous until every fellow in it gets an office, and the purposes of the movement are being rapidly accomplished, to-wit: getting office and stepping from one to another."

If the State government is extensive, are the Reformers responsible? The conservatives have not failed to co-operate in the administration of State matters, but have thrown every obstacle possible in the way of a harmonious management of public affairs.

THAT DECISION.

Samson's riddle is still puzzling the adversaries of the dispensary system and the solons of the legal professions. It might have been most in that reporter, but it was so cruel, when he called on Chief Justice McIvor to explain his opinion. It took thirty eight pages of closely written manuscript for him to reach his present conclusion and to convince Justice McGowan of the correctness of the opinion, the task would have been endless to make an ordinary newspaper reporter understand something for which every lawyer in the State has a separate and distinct solution. It is a kind of draw game in which every party thinks he has won, but is not fully satisfied about it. The prohibitionists and liquor men played to each other's hand until they paralyzed Governor Tillman, and now they are wrangling over the game. Governor Tillman is serene and indifferent, as the game seems to have been a jaw-bone game with no stakes in sight and may take a different turn, when something substantial and practical is put in issue to be settled.

It was a fine intellectual contest on a speculative question and the decision has as much force of law as an essay on evolution. It seems that the proper thing for the anti dispensary lawyers to have done would have been to have abandoned their cases and made up a case on the dispensary law now in force, and then they would have known where they are at. It is too previous for them to get before the Courts at this time and Governor Tillman's obedience to the law, as enacted by the majority of the Supreme Court, is a serious impediment to another attack on the dispensary system.

We publish this week an article from Prof. R. Means Davis of the South Carolina College, written to the Southern Christian Advocate on "The Free Coinage of Silver," which to our mind is an excellent exposition of the subject, and should be carefully read by the people, especially the Southern people.

How the free coinage of silver at the present ratio is expected, or rather could be expected to bring prosperity to the South, which produces no silver, is a question that puzzles us.—Easley Democrat.

The JOURNAL has not space to point out to its esteemed neighbor the fallacious of the Professor's argument against the free coinage of silver, but would suggest that our neighbor carefully study the subject and hear arguments on the other side, before it adopts the views of Prof. Davis.

The tariff bill, after many modifications, will soon be in shape for a successful passage through the senate. The people have almost lost interest in it and will hardly appreciate the benefit furnished by the advocates of tariff reform.

From Liberty.

April 30th, 1894.

The farmers are about done planting, only lack a few short rows.

Cotton and corn is coming up, with an abundance of grass, if the frost did get as fine crop as was ever seen, there was plenty of seed left to make several more fine crops. Wheat is growing finely, beginning to head out; oats are doing tolerably well, more rain would help the oats in this section, rust has made its appearance on the blades of the wheat, some say they saw rust on wheat before the cold spell in April.

The forest is beginning to look a little spring-like again. Last week was very dry and windy and a little warmer mercury run to 90 Sunday, the warmest in some time. The moles, worms and insects seem to be getting in full time on what little corn and garden truck was left by the frost, but may be things will all work out right in the final round up.

Mr. Wood, Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine Agent of Greenville, and family, visited Liberty last week, and they got a little crowd together and went on a fishing expedition to Twelve Mile river, and from reports we suppose they (the fish) had as fine time as usual, as but few were hauled ashore, not one piece round for the crowd, and they too small to divide, etc.

"Democracy as classified," by W. P. Lankford, Stone Mountain, Ga., in P. P. R., Jeffersonian Democracy—the right kind, composed (now) mostly of Populists.

Conservative Democracy—those who believe the party should carry out its pledges.

Gold-bug Democracy—those who believe in monometallicism.

Free-coinage Democracy—those who favor bi-metallicism.

High Tariff Democracy—composed of manufacturers, importers, jobbers and merchants.

Low Tariff Democracy—those who favor tariff for revenue only.

Cleveland Democracy—composed of office-holders, office-seekers, little 2x4 lawyers, and little 1x2 adtors (of which there seems to be a considerable stock on hand.)

John Sherman Democracy—composed of such men as John B. Gordon and other Georgia (and many other) Congressmen who voted to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act.

"Gag-rule Democracy—composed of those who don't believe any party has any right to exist in the South except the Democratic party."

Moderate Democracy—those who only use their heads for hat-racks.

Political Democracy—those who vote for party instead of principle.

Daddy Democracy—those who are Democrats because daddy was, and who don't know any more about political economy than the horse they drive.

Brow-beat Democracy—those who are nothing but mere tools of the bosses, and always respond to "the party lash."

Court-house Democracy—those hanging on to the end of the office rope.

Cuckoo Democracy—to which we add the "me too's" who agree to every wish of the President and sneeze every time he takes snuff—in short miserable cringing servants, with no desire only to ape their superiors.

Then comes a list of little 2 for a nickle Democrats and such as the Atlanta Constitution and Journal Democrat-Jack-Gordon and Billy Northern Democrats in this State—we add the Hampton and Haskell Democrats to this department, and the rule or ruin faction should not be lost sight of. Then the old Hero worshippers who are a part and parcel worthy of mention in this classification. We now go back and bring in the "Rotton Egg-Democrats, composed of "gut-tor snipes" Ward heelers," "ballot-box stuffers, etc. The Populist, (he says,) have been invited to go back to the old party.

We would be entirely at a loss to know which wing to join, or which door to go in at, had we any desire to return, as there are no two of them agreed on any one thing.

Union Meeting.

The two Unions of the Twelve Mile association, held a joint Union Meeting with the Baptist Church at this place on Saturday and Sunday last. Sixteen churches were represented and some very interesting addresses made. Rev. A. J. S. Thomas, of the Baptist Courier, preached on Friday night to a good congregation. Saturday at 10 o'clock Rev. J. L. Vass, Superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage at Greenwood, preached a very able and impressive sermon, after which the two Unions were organized by the election of Hon. W. T. Bowen, Moderator, and C. E. Robinson, Clerk. Immediately the Moderator declared the Union ready for business, and the first subject, to-wit: "Is it the duty of the Baptist to sustain the Orphanage?" was taken up and discussed at length by Rev. J. L. Vass and others. After which a collection was taken for the Orphanage, amounting to $6.33.

In the afternoon an opportunity was given Dr. H. Hatcher, of Atlanta, to explain the objects and works of the American Baptist Publication Society. Dr. Hatcher did not get money, but is employed to circulate Baptist literature among Baptist people that are unable to buy it. Any Baptist Minister can get tracts from this publishing house on application, on any subject he wishes, and in any quantity, to circulate among the people. An opportunity was also given Rev. A. J. S. Thomas to say a few words for the Baptist Courier. He offers to send the Courier from now 'till the 1st day of January next, to any one for $1.00, and the people appreciated his talk and offer, for he added about twenty new subscribers to his list. This paper should be in every Baptist home in this County, and the people will do well to take advantage of the liberal offer.

Saturday night was devoted to the discussion of State Missions, and some very interesting talks were made by Rev. J. T. Lewis, Dr. T. M. Bailey, Rev. W. C. Soaborn and Rev. B. Holder.

Sunday morning, at 10 o'clock, Rev. A. J. S. Thomas made an excellent address on Sabbath Schools, holding the close attention of the people for about one hour. After this Dr. Bailey preached a very fine sermon on living sacrifices.

The contributions for State Missions, amounted to $8.12.

The meeting was a very interesting and profitable one, and was enjoyed by all who attended.

A lawyer gives this advice: "Additions to rented premises, when made by the tenant should never be fastened with nails, but screws. The reason for this lies in the fact that should he wish to move away and take with him the boards and lumber composing the improvements he has made, he can simply draw out the screws and take the planks. If he fastens them with nails, however, he can remove nothing, and the improvement becomes the landlords property."

J. S. COTHRAN, G. G. WELLS, M. F. ASSEL, T. P. COTHRAN, C. L. HOLLINGSWORTH, Pickens, S. C. Have associated themselves together for the practice of law in its various branches, and will give careful attention to all business undertaken by them. Lones and discounts negotiated. May 1, 1894.
