ANDERSON MAN NOT TO OFFER FOR OFFICE

COL. JULIUS E. BOGGS DOES NOT CARE FOR POSITION

GIVES HIS REASON

Says That He Cannot Offer For Position of Attorney General Because of Sacrifice

Anderson people and people of all this section will regret to learn that Col. Julius E. Boggs, one of the foremost lawyers of the Anderson bar, has decided not to run for attorney general. Some time ago Col. Boggs was mentioned as a probable candidate for the place and for a time it was believed that he would run but yesterday the Anderson attorney made a definite statement to the effect that he would not be in the race. The following letter was received from Col. Boggs yesterday:

I wish to say that I appreciate very much the kindly mention of myself as a prospective candidate for Attorney General. This is an honor worthy of any lawyer's ambition. My circumstances and environment are such that I could not make the campaign except at a great sacrifice. I shall not be a candidate for any office in the approaching primary. I think it is a great time to keep the vote low, avoid excitement and be comfortable, all of which promote good feeling, health and happiness. Respectfully, JULIUS E. BOGGS, Anderson, S. C. June 4th, 1914.

THE BROOKLYN BACK ON THE JOB

Admiral Schley's Flagship Has Again Been Put Into Commission for the Navy

Philadelphia, June 4.—The cruiser Brooklyn, which has been stationed at the local navy yard for nearly ten years, and which at one time was ordered to the scrap heap, will sail soon for China to take her place as flagship of the Atlantic squadron.

The Brooklyn was Admiral Schley's flagship during the Spanish-American war, and led the fighting when the Spanish fleet was destroyed at Santiago. The ship was struck about twenty times by shells and her sides still show the scars. Several years after the war the vessel was put out of commission. About a year ago work was begun on overhauling her. Today she is one of the best and fastest cruisers in the navy.

GOOD BYE, TOBACCO

Synod of Reformed Church Puts The Ban On Its Use. Bloomington, Ind., June 4.—Tobacco and its users came in for a warm debate at today's session of the annual synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church of the United States and Canada.

The church now refuses to license a minister, elder or deacon, or to appoint a Sunday school pupil or teacher, who uses tobacco, and it is proposed to bring the membership up to the same standard.

PARCEL POST SERVICE

Washington, June 4.—An urgent deficiency appropriation of $425,000 for the parcel post service was asked of congress today by Postmaster General Burleson. He wants $350,000 for wages and service and $75,000 for indemnity for articles lost.

RAIN DRENCHED BLUE AND GRAY

AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE EXERCISES AT ARLINGTON THURSDAY

A SUDDEN STORM

President Wilson Cut Short His Address But Was Drenched On Return to Capital In Car

Washington, June 4.—A terrific thunder storm broke out over Arlington national cemetery late today while President Wilson was addressing a great crowd gathered for the unveiling of the monument erected there to the Confederate dead. Rain drenched the blue and gray veterans and the women and children before they could seek shelter. There was a wild dash for automobiles and trolley cars, participants and spectators alike forgetting the almost finished program.

The president, who had cut short his speech as the rising wind and darkness announced the approach of the storm and hurried to his car with his two daughters, Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Payne. They were inside before the rain came, but the machine's top afforded poor protection and the party was drenched on the seven mile drive back to Washington.

The ceremonies were held at the base of the magnificent monument in the Confederate section of the cemetery. Only a slight canopy protected the speakers and the crowd was without shelter and far from any building.

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, made the address, presenting the monument to the president on behalf of the women of the Confederacy. Tumultuous applause greeted her when she said:

"Yours, Mr. President, was Jefferson's spirit when at Mobile you said the United States had no interest in Mexico or any other foreign lands, except to see that the citizens enjoyed the right to the pursuit of happiness under a constitutional and just government."

The president acknowledged the tribute with smiling approval.

General Washington Gardner, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and General Bennett H. Young, commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans were notable among the speakers and both were cheered with equal enthusiasm. Colonel Robert E. Lee, grandson of General Lee, also spoke, while the sculptor, Sir Moses Ezekiel, a Confederate veteran who designed the monument, was present.

Master Paul Micon, a grandson of Colonel Hillary A. Herbert, pulled the cords which released the draperies.

Washington, June 4.—In the presence of several thousand persons, including many Confederate veterans, Daughters of the Confederacy, as well as former Union soldiers, and with unique and interesting ceremonies participated in by the President of the United States, the Confederate Monument in Arlington National Cemetery is to be unveiled today.

Among the special guests on the program are members of the cabinet, senators and representatives, other prominent government officials and former distinguished officers of both the Union and Confederate armies.

Organization of men who wore the gray from 1861 to 1865 are to be well represented, every southern state having arranged to send a delegation. Members of the Old Guard of Baltimore, which includes men who saw service on either the Federal or Confederate side or in the National Guard are to attend the exercises in a body. The program provided for an invocation and music by the United States Marine Band, an address by General Bennett Young of Louisville, Ky., commander of the United Confederate Veterans to be followed by Gen. Geo. W. Gardner of Albion, Mich., commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and a former member of congress.

Col. Hillary A. Herbert, chairman of the executive committee of the Arlington Confederate Monument Association, is to formally turn over the monument to Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens of Mississippi, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, who received it on behalf of that organization. Mrs. Stevens in turn is to present the shaft to the government. President Wilson, accepting it.

The actual ceremony of unveiling the shaft being pulled by little Paul Micon, the 11-year-old grandson of Colonel Herbert, who was secretary of the navy under President Cleveland.

The dedication ceremonies today marked the culmination of years of work on the part of prominent Confederate veterans and members of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The movement to raise money for the erection of the shaft began soon after the battle of Gettysburg. Confederate soldiers were gathered in a beautiful section of the nation, with the name of each soldier, wherever it was possible, placed on a marble headstone.

333 H. E. Lee Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, which had been formed in this city to raise money for the monument, soon had obtained $1000 and the Stone Wall Chapter a similar sum. On November 9, 1908, Mrs. Margaret S. Thompson, president of the Daughters of the Confederacy of the District of Columbia, asked all Confederate organizations in Washington to take an active part in the work and the Arlington Confederate Monument Association was formed, with an executive committee, the present membership of which is as follows:

Col. Hillary A. Herbert, chairman; Mrs. Marion Butler, vice-chairman; Wallace Streator, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Conway Landow, recording secretary; Mrs. William Oscar Rooks, corresponding secretary and Judge Seth Shepard, Capt. John M. Hickey, Almer H. Ferguson, Mrs. Maud S. Thompson, Mrs. Rust Smith, Mrs. Jas. F. Malenrs, Mrs. Archibald Young, Mrs. B. Claughton West, Mrs. Mary F. Wilcox, Mrs. Jennie L. Munroe, Mrs. Leonard G. Hoffman, Mrs. Marcus J. Wright, Mrs. Lindley L. Lomax, Mrs. William Anthony Wayne and Miss Fannie W. Weeks. An advisory board also was organized.

In 1907 a considerable sum had been raised and at their annual convention in that year the Daughters of the Confederacy, which has chapters all over the south and in many northern states, took over the work and formed a monument association of their own, the executive committee at Washington, however, being continued.

In November, 1910, a committee of design was formed and Sir Moses Ezekiel, the Virginia sculptor, whose studio is in Rome, Italy, was called before it at a meeting in Washington and submitted a design for the monument which was accepted. The cornerstone was laid in November, 1912.

The monument, including the base, is entirely of bronze and stands on a foundation of dark gray, highly polished, Woodstock granite. A heroic-sized figure of a woman typifies the south. In her extended hand there is a laurel wreath with which to crown the dead; her other hand rests on a plowstock, while underneath, on a circular base, are thirty-two life-sized figures representing the heroism and sacrifices of the men and women of the south, as well as the enthusiasm that was aroused when the touch of war was sounded. The soldier who went to the front is shown, the officer leaving his child in the care of an old "mammy," the blacksmith who has forged his own sword and the bride putting the sword and sash around her husband's waist. Inscribed on the monument is:

"To Our Dead Heroes
"The Daughters of the Confederacy"
"They have bent their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks."
"Not for fame not for place or for rank; not lured by ambition or goaded by necessity; but in simple obedience to duty as they understood it these men suffered all, sacrificed all, dared all and died."

SHE RODE WITH LEE

Anderson Man Saw Belle Boyd the Confederate Spy.

Mal. Wm. F. Lee of Co. D., Hampton Legion says that Belle Boyd, the sixteen year old girl, was an interesting mounted figure by the side of Gen. Lee the day after the great battle of Sharpsburg. The army was assembled at Winchester for general review and her healthy and pretty face of light complexion with dark hair, while she enjoyed the splendid scene upon her prancing steed and in the protection of the great commander of Southern forces—was an inspiration to the soldier boys.

Miss Boyd was born and reared somewhere in that valley. She became a spy through having been driven from her home in flight by bodies of Yankee soldiers one of whom she shot dead in her home when he entered in assault, then after the killing she fled for refuge to her countrymen and remained with the army during the war.

ATLANTA IS WICKED

Churches Do Not Appear to Show Much Progress There.

Atlanta, June 4.—While revivals of many denominations are working overtime in Atlanta to Christianize a city which they say is now so in name only, some of them are pessimistic about results. Attention is pointed to the fact that one Atlanta church, a Methodist house of worship on Boulevard, has been for some time past converted into a laundry, and that another discarded church building not far from Atlanta is being used as a barn.

An article of this same tendency of falling off in Sunday worship and seeking recreation on the golf links, and picnics and in the city parks, is further seen in the fact that there are today several churches in Atlanta with erected, which have stood unfinished for years.

A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

Fell From Window and Was Dashed to Death in Atlanta.

Atlanta, June 4.—W. O. Childers, once a noted soldier of fortune, but recently reduced to circumstances, was dashed to his death from a hotel window on Walton street, today. The coroner is making every effort to ascertain whether the death was suicide or accident.

Childers was once an expert civil engineer and is said to have done important government work in Central America.

Some light on the possible manner of his death is shed by a friend who declares that when drinking Childers had a mania for sitting in open windows, and that upon some years ago, he was sitting in a room on the second floor of a hotel in New York, when he fell out of a window in the Grand building.

From Cotton to Wheat. Some persons are making good gains in Alabama this year. According to the Birmingham Ledger, an estate of the acre in Greene county has been sold for $5,000, or about $25 an acre, and an estate of 1771 acres in Marengo county for $25,000, or about $14 an acre. These lands are to be planted in cotton culture and devoted to Atlanta. And some persons estimate that Atlanta lands are worth $200 an acre.

CIVIL COURT TO CONVENE ON 15TH

Bar Association Voted Yesterday To Arrange Outing For His Honor, Judge Prince

The Anderson County Bar Association met in the court house yesterday morning and arranged the roster for the approaching term of the court of common pleas, which is to convene here on June 15.

At this meeting it was unanimously decided by the association to have an outing in honor of Judge Prince and with that end in view the president of the bar association was authorized to appoint a committee, whose duty it shall be to arrange for the event. The president announced that the committee would shortly make report as to what form the outing will take.

The following is an official copy of the roster as arranged yesterday:

COTTON GOODS

The Market Showed More Activity During Last Week.

New York, June 6.—Cotton goods markets have broadened steadily throughout the week and prices have advanced. The buying has been done by converters, blenders, printers, jobbers, and bag manufacturers, and engagements have been made which will carry the mills moderately well through the summer on gray and brown. Print cloth prices are up 1-8c a yard and sheetings are 1-16c. Prices have been quoted on shirting clambury on the same level as a year ago, 5 1-2c for 32 inch goods, while bleached madras has been priced at 6 3-16c. 1-4c advance. Business on those lines is up to the volume of last year. Bleached goods are in better call from the manufacturing trades. Denims and tickings are comfortably in order for the next two months in the largest mills. Wide sheetings, pillow tubulars, sheets and pillow cases, and other domestics are in better demand. Wash goods sales during the week were active, the best selling cloths being printed fancies in sheer constructions. Yarns are still quiet and prices are low. There has been a better spot demand for underwear and hosiery and preparations are under way for opening for spring, 1915. Prices on cotton goods are as follows: Print cloths 28 inch 64 x 64 3-2c nominal; 64 x 60, 3 1-2c; 38 1-2 inch 64 x 64, 5 1-4c; sheetings southern standards 8c; denims 9 or 14c; tickings 8 or 13 1-2c; prints 5 1-4c; staple ginghams 6 1-4c; dress ginghams 9 3-4c.

WILL RUN FOR HOUSE

Representative O. D. Gray Will Not Offer for the State Senate. (From Friday's Daily)

Hon. Oscar D. Gray of Williamston, who was in the city yesterday, stated definitely that he had decided not to enter the race for this state senate, for he considers that the house really has the greater opportunity for service. He will announce for reelection in a few days.

It is stated on good authority that the close friends of Hon. J. W. Ashley will not permit him to make the campaign this summer, as they do not think it will be to his interest on account of his health to go to Columbia in the winter.

It is understood that nearly all of the members of the Anderson delegation in the house will run for reelection. Hon. J. A. Bell is aspiring to the senate as is also Hon. H. C. Summers, Jr., who is announced, up to this time Mr. Summers and Mr. Jesse L. Sherrad are the only candidates in the field, formally.

W. F. NICHOLS ANNOUNCES

For the Office of Probate Judge of Anderson County.

Judge W. F. Nicholson, who is now completing his second term as Judge of Probate for Anderson county, will again be a candidate to succeed himself. Judge Nicholson has made a splendid official during the two terms that he has held this office and he will be a hard man to beat. Two other candidates have already announced for his office and it is probable that one or two others will also enter the race and indications are that the fight will be an interesting one. The office of Probate Judge is about the most important in the court house for this county and the state representative to protect the widows and orphans, to advise them and to help them.

WILSON'S MARRIAGE

New York, June 4.—Charles B. Dill, who was married to Mrs. E. Dill, in 1908, and who was later divorced, is reported today as committed to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

GAFFNEY WANTS A BERTH IN LEAGUE

Another Town Proposed For Membership In Piedmont League Instead of Greenwood

Since Greenwood has announced that she will withdraw from the proposed Piedmont league and has served notice to that effect on the league directors, it is proposed that Gaffney be admitted to membership in the association. It was said last night that a canvass was in progress in Gaffney, at which time the Gaffney people would be able to definitely announce whether or not they would apply for membership in the league. Gaffney is a good baseball town, which once boasted of a team winning 52 games out of 62 played and if that town is admitted to the league it will hold up its share of the league's burdens.

It seems that all of the trouble at Greenwood grew out of the fact that one parent did not care for his son to participate in organized baseball, and that son was one of those elected as directors for the new league. The young man must evidently be of some parts, as Greenwood seemed afraid to risk the venture unless he could be secured to play on the team. From this it would seem that he contributed some seven or eight of the proposed team in Greenwood.

While it is by no means an assured fact that the league is to be launched on the 15th, as he had proposed, it is believed that Gaffney may come in, in which event the first games will be played as originally planned, except for the fact that Gaffney would then play the opening games in Anderson instead of the home team going to Greenwood. Local people will hope that the plans may be completed for opening the league and that Gaffney may be admitted.

MANY AFTER A COUNTY OFFICE

Number of Anderson County Citizens Would Be "Persuaded" To Take Treasurer's Job

It would not be a very difficult undertaking to secure a man to fill the office of county treasurer. There had been but little talk about anyone offering for the position until C. W. McGee, at present county treasurer, tendered his resignation to the governor and since that time several have intimated that they may be in the race.

In his letter of resignation, sent to Governor Bleasie, Mr. McGee asked that his resignation become effective "July 1 or as soon thereafter as may be possible." If Governor Bleasie is willing to relieve Mr. McGee it will mean that a new man will be appointed to fill out the term. If however, Mr. McGee should be asked to fill out the term before resigning, he might have to consider acceding to it. Mr. McGee's term would not have expired for another year from July 1st.

While no definite announcement was made by any candidate yesterday it was understood that there is to be no dearth of them in the field and this much sought after office will be quite a bone of contention during the coming county campaign.

GREEK DENY THE ALLEGATIONS

Made In Report of Commission That Investigated Atrocities in the Balkans

(By Associated Press) Washington, June 6.—An attack on the Root-Carnegie peace foundation's commission which investigated alleged atrocities in the Balkans was issued at the Greek embassy here today as a preface to a report to be circulated by the Greek government in this country to refute charges made against the Greek army by the commission. The statement devotes much space to recounting atrocities alleged to have been committed by Bulgarians. "The full, detailed statement of the Greek government in reply to the false and baseless charges and allegations in the Carnegie commission's report will reveal the government's earnest effort to correct in some measure the terrible injustices done to the Greek nation by the commission's inexcusable work," the statement said. A woman who divorced her husband in San Francisco, went to Denver to put flowers on the grave of her three children only to find the graves empty. She has asked her husband's arrest as a result.
