

YOUR EFFORTS TODAY AND TOMORROW MEAN YOUR SUCCESS

Be On Time—Be The One To Reach The Prospective Subscriber First—Tomorrow night your opportunity to own a Ford Touring Car for a little work will be gone forever

Tomorrow night at nine o'clock rings down the curtain on the last big act of the Intelligencer's Contest. Your last chance to secure a fine touring car for a little work. Get as many subscriptions as you possibly can by tomorrow night, at nine o'clock.

Look over your list and see who has promised to give you a subscription at some time during the contest, and show them just how much it means to you to get their subscription now. Show them that you are out to win and they are sure to help you, as you know all the world loves a winner. You must work if you hope to gain anything. It was not like it was at the start of the race, that you could afford to lose a little, but now it is different, every second counts.

This has been a great contest; great people have been contesting; the honor will be great to the one who is declared the most popular lady of Anderson and adjoining counties, and it will be great to ride around in that fine Ford Car that you have won by your own efforts.

The candidate that expects to win this honor must hit the high places between now and tomorrow night at nine o'clock.

Financial and Commercial

New York Cotton

(By Associated Press) New York, March 10.—Cotton was more active for some weeks and ruled generally firm with active months some 20 to 25 points above the low records of Monday morning. Houses with Wall street and western connections were heavy buyers particularly of new crop months. Outside buyers generally showed some improvement.

An idea that developments at Washington made any immediate legislative action against commodity exchanges improbable, was supposed to be partly responsible for increased activity. Aside from that, talk around the ring reflected no particular news change, but buyers were probably encouraged by continued reports of apparently steady spot markets, and apparent failure of the increasing March premium to attract southern shipments here. The close was firm and from 7 to 20 points net higher, with March selling 58 points over May.

Liverpool did not fully meet the local advance of late yesterday and the opening here was steady at an advance of 2 points on March, but generally 2 to 5 points lower in sympathy. Some of yesterday's most prominent buyers bought again this morning, however, and prices soon became firmer. Liverpool was a heavy seller of both summer and early new-crop months on the advance and the offering combined with considerable realizing, caused slight reactions during the morning.

After the close of the English market offering became less active, while the buying movement showed increased activity as prices worked higher. Last prices were at practically the best of the day.

Spot cotton quiet; middlings uplands, 12.10; gulf 12.35. No sales. Cotton futures closed firm, steady. March, opened 12.25; closed, 12.30. May opened, 12.23; closed, 11.69. July, opened, 11.53; closed, 11.69. August opened 12.60; closed, 11.68. October opened 11.24; closed, 11.48. December opened 11.34; closed, 11.48.

Chicago Grain

Chicago, March 10.—Short sellers overreached themselves today in wheat on trying to cover they found the market bare of offerings and had to bid prices to unexpected extent. The result was a strong close at an advance of 3.8 to 3.4 net. Corn finished 3.8 1/2 to 3.4 up and oats with a gain of a sixteenth to 1.8 but provisions 2 1/2 to 10 off.

Futures close: WHEAT—May 93 3/4 July 84 3/4 CORN—May 66 3/4 July 66 3/4 OATS—May 39 3/4 July 39 3/4

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, March 10.—Cotton ranged within narrow limits today and closing at a net gain of 2 to 5 points. Covering shorts again were the best buyers. In the early part of the session the prices worked 4 to 6 points under yesterday's last quotations, but the decline was not well sustained.

Selling was based on the improved outlook for the new crop and also to some extent on prospects of legislation. Telegrams from Texas stated that present weather conditions would allow a large area in the earliest sections of the state to be planted in the new cotton. In the early part of the day the price of this October held up well, standing at the highest at a net advance of 6 points. At the highest of the day the trading months were 4 to 6 points up.

Cotton futures closed: March 12.40; May 12.35; July August 12.20; October 11.24; closed, 11.51. Spot cotton steady, unchanged; middling 12.3-4. Sales on the spot 1,950; to arrive 210.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, March 10.—Cotton spot in fair demand, prices steady; middling fair, 7.61; good middling, 7.33; middling, 6.87; low middling, 6.61; good ordinary, 6.74; ordinary, 6.59. Sales, 10,000 including 2,200 American and 2,000 for speculation and export. Receipts, 20,000 including 15,000 American. Futures closed quiet and steady.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, March 10.—Cotton seed oil was easy under hedge selling by refiners and scattered liquidations by traders. The market was steady and on a decline, however, owing to light offerings of crude. Final prices were 1 to 4 cents net over.

Cotton Goods

New York, March 10.—Cotton goods were quiet today with prices on heavy goods easy. Taffetas were in better demand for fall and spring faced styles. Some heavy creases were steady with the larger demand expected for winter.

Money Market

New York, March 10.—Money market steady, ruling rate 1 7/8 closing 1 3/4. Time loans firm, sixty days 2 ninety days 1 1/2 six months 2 1/2. Mercantile papers 4 1/2 to 5. Exchange on London 4 1/2. Commercial bills 4 1/2. Mexican dollars 55. Government bonds steady, railroad bonds irregular.

Stocks and Bonds

New York, March 10.—Sentiment was more cheerful today and the stock market improved. Both at home and abroad a better feeling prevailed. About 15,000 shares were taken for foreign account. Chief importance at home was attached to United States steel corporation's report of 37 percent increase in earnings for the first quarter of 1914. Another contributing influence was the success of last offering of Third Avenue railroad which was largely over-subscribed.

After a strong opening the market checked temporarily by renewed attacks on Chesapeake and Ohio and Lehigh Valley. Chesapeake and Ohio dropped to 50 3/4, the lowest since 1908. A few other stocks sold off, but the general market held firm and presently resumed its advance. United States Express continued its advance, rising to 87. It sold at 54 a fortnight ago.

Bonds irregular, but the trend was upward. Rock Island and collaterals touched a new low record. Total sales for value $2,550,000.

THE HOT AND HIS DADDY

New York Sun— "What would you be, my precious lad?" I asked of my curly-headed four-year old.

As he played with his roll-toy engine there. "Saw him from the wintry blast and cold. And a look of love came into his eyes."

While he ceased a moment and gazed at me. "And I saw he knew and I understood."

The depth of his childish simplicity "I just want to like my daddy!"

"What would you do, my precious lad?" Again interrupting the boy at play. He had loaded his train with wonderful blocks.

And the restless engine was tugging away. "But he stopped and smiled, as a child can do."

And dropped a formed lump with respectful gravity. "While quick from the heart the brief answer came."

And looking down forth in his handsome face. "I just want to do like daddy!"

"Where would you go, my precious lad?" "This time and just I detained him."

For childish hearts have their yearning year. "And dreams of the future which they care."

The boy, so just about his play. "Must have ambitions beyond our ken."

And yet from his lips I heard once more. "The words in confidence uttered then."

"I just want to go with daddy!"

Back of the "big eyes is one little life." "Sweet, tender heritage left in your care."

Refresh the track to prepare him for strife. "Glorious chance which is given you there."

Do you want him to like you, daddy? "It is now generally believed here."

Brooks. "While the appointment was unconditioned, it is understood that Col. West has never had any idea of standing to succeed himself."
