New York Cotton

New York, July 27.—With all the other speculative markets, cotton was considerably excited over the war news from Europe this morning and in sympathy with Liverpool cables which were very much weaker than expected. It opened 10 to 23 points lower with a big trade in which the selling by domestic long, Liverpool and the continent was conspicuous features. It declined further to a net loss of 15 to 23 points and then began a return movement which was continued irregularly throughout the entire day. Final prices being generally 6 to 9 points higher and about top for the session.

The improvement after the first hour was materially aided by more reassuring advices from Europe, which afforded the market an opportunity to reflect the bullish crop advices which today included many drought reports from the Atlantic states as well as the west.

Some large Southern and Western accounts were covered in the early break and it was also evident that the spinners were taking advantage of the opportunity provided by the war scare and to get some cheap cotton. A couple of bullish private conditions were received and the trade here is prepared for only a slight improvement in the report to be issued next Friday.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, July 27.—Spot cotton easier; good middling 717; low middling 669; sales 5,000; speculation and export 300. Receipts 9,000. Futures steady; July 694; August 694; September and October 659 1-2; December and January 650 1-2; February and March 652 1-2; April and May 654 1-2.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, July 27.—The cotton market was almost entirely dominated by European political news today. In the early trading the market fell off 15 points from the level of Saturday's close on fear of war but later there was a stiff advance on reports that efforts to bring about mediation were circulated. The trading months at their highest were 4 to 6 points over last week's final figures. The close was 3 to 4 points up.

In the morning there was free short selling, but the market was steadied by the profit taking operations of the sellers of last week. This buying became very heavy when the news took favorable trend and the ring found difficulty in supplying the demand.

Very little attention was paid to weather news, which was considered unfavorable because of the lack of rain over Sunday and the forecast calling for continued hot and dry weather.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, July 27.—Cotton seed oil was higher on covering by the refiners in old crop deliveries, fresh buying of new crop months for both domestic and European account and in sympathy with the strength in lard and cotton. Final prices were 2 to 14 points net higher.

Money On Call

New York, July 27.—Mercantile paper 4 1-2 to 5. Sterling exchange demoralized; 60 day bills 485; demand 491 to 492. Commercial silver 485. Bar silver 52 5-8. Mexican dollars 40 1-2. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds weak.

Grain & Provisions

Chicago, July 27.—Wheat that was thought yet to be averted made the wheat market react sharply today after a decided advance. The close was nervous at the same as Saturday night to 8-10 higher. In corn the outcome was unchanged to 2-3 up and for 5-11 unchanged to 1-2 off. Provisions scored a net gain of 10c to 25c.

Stocks and Bonds

New York, July 27.—The one subject of discussion in financial circles today was the impending crisis in Europe. Demoralization in the London market which was also bearing the weight of latest developments in Ireland was strongly reflected here.

occured as the morning progressed. Canadian Pacific totting a total of 4 1-4 and other securities of the first class yielded 2 to 3 per cent. Dealings in the first hour approximated 200,000 shares at noon, the total was 350,000. Additional large gold engagements for Europe, including $5,000,000 to London, added to the general unsettlement.

Foreign exchange advanced to 490. The market recovered substantially in the afternoon on rumors that Austria and Serbia might agree to arbitration.

Eleven Sailors in Serious Smash-Up During Fire Drill (By Associated Press.) New York, July 26.—Eleven sailors of the White Star liner Baltic were injured today by the fall of a boat during a fire drill. LYNCHING AVERTED

Negro Rushed Away from Town to Avoid Angry Troops. (By Associated Press.) Gordonsville, Va., July 25.—Armed guards patrol the streets of Gordonsville tonight following an attempt by members of the Virginia militia, now in annual encampment here, to lynch James Addison, a negro. Addison, it is alleged, made a murderous attack on a militiaman early in the evening at a street carnival. He was arrested by the civil authorities and taken to jail. Several hundred soldiers gathered in the doors of the jail and seized the negro. Arrival of a relief guard from camp averted further violence. The negro was rushed away from town and all soldiers have been rounded up in camp.

YOUTHFUL BANDIT SHOOT UP TRAIN

New York, July 25.—Two men and a woman were shot on a New York, New Haven and Hartford express train from Boston within the city limits tonight in a supposed attempt by a youthful "bandit" to hold up the passengers. With a red bandanna handkerchief over his face and brandishing a revolver the youth, who later said he was Charles S. Parnell, 24, of Brooklyn, rushed from the rear end of the last car through the coaches firing indiscriminately.

John Shay, aged 23, of New Haven, a trainman, was shot in the arm; Austin Dyce, a sailor, was shot in the abdomen; Mrs. Bessie Thorpe, 36, of West New Brighton, Staten Island, was shot in the face.

With passengers and trainmen in hot pursuit as Parnell ran toward the front of the train he reloaded his revolver, pulled the emergency cord and jumped off in an effort to escape. A score of infuriated passengers pursued him to the porch of a building in the Bronx. He held the crowd at bay until the arrival of policemen to whom he surrendered.

TRIAL CAUSES MANY THRILLS

JUDGES WILL FIGHT A DUEL OVER THE READING OF THE LETTERS

PRISONER WEEPS

Nervous Collapse Followed Reading of Letters Sent By Husband to Former Wife

Paris, July 25.—Madame Henriette Caillaux, whose trial for the killing of Gaston Calmette has provided many thrills for Paris, faintly when her husband's love letters, written to her before his divorce from Madame Gueydon, were read in the court today. She recovered after an hour, and although in the dock the remainder of the sitting, seemed scarcely conscious of what was going on.

The evidence after the love letters, wandered off into the discussions by surgeons as to whether M. Calmette could have been saved by an immediate operation. A remarkable feature of the trial is the quarrel which has arisen between the present judge of the court, Louis Albaladejo and Judge Louis Dagoury, one of the three judges sitting on the bench with him, as a result of which a challenge to a duel has been sent by Judge Albaladejo to his colleague.

Preparations for the duel, however, have been suspended until the decision of the minister of justice has been rendered as to whether they may fight. The two judges sat side by side today, without speaking.

The quarrel between the two judges arose out of an incident which occurred at the palace of justice late last night, but the nature of which could not be ascertained. The seconds appointed by Judge Albaladejo are Generals Daubert, former military governor of Paris, and Emile Brunet de Laborde.

It was rumored, however, that the Gudden letters were the direct cause of the trouble. The Figaro says that when the discussion concerning the reading of the letters seemed to be going unfavorably for the defense on yesterday, Judge Albaladejo announced that there would be a recess. Judge Dagoury said in a low tone: "You dishonor us, sir."

The two judges, after going into their private room during the recess, engaged in a heated discussion, it was said. Eventually Judge Dagoury admitted that he had said more than he meant to say and apologized.

Peacemakers Fail. Maitre Henri-Robert, Labori and Chenu intervened as peacemakers, and the incident was regarded as closed. This morning, however, a report of it was made public on the front page of the Figaro, which left Judge Albaladejo no option but to send his seconds to his colleague.

The court was thrown into an uproar when Madame Caillaux collapsed. Maitre Laboria had begun reading the Guyton letters. He remarked when he took up the second one: "The Letters Are Read."

"In this you will find burning love, but nothing indecent as common rumor has reported, and a report of it was made public on the front page of the Figaro, which left Judge Albaladejo no option but to send his seconds to his colleague.

Mme. Caillaux, with her head bent low was crying bitterly. Her sobs could be heard all over the court room. Then with a sigh she fell prostrate on the floor. The four judges at once arose from their seats and Judge Albaladejo announced the suspension of the hearing.

Mme. Caillaux, after her collapse, was taken into an ante-room, where she remained unconscious until the physicians gave her a hypodermic injection of ether.

The letters read today were written in the second person singular, in first of them said: "My dear little Riri (an affectionate nickname for Henriette.)

When I met thee I felt the impulse of my life toward thee. I was drunk, I was humiliated and wounded. I threw myself towards the notorious passion. With splendid courage thou hast reconquered thy liberty, asking of me but one promise—to give thee my love. There was between another person and myself such a difference of character."

Prisoner Quails at Evidence. While this portion of the letter was being read, Mme. Caillaux disappeared completely behind the side of the prisoner's enclosure. A pitched body was thrown with furious violence. The reading continued: "We have everything to fear from a woman's fury."

AUSTRALIANS WIN

Chicago, July 25.—Australia today made it a clean sweep over Canada in the Davis cup series. In two final matches, Norman E. Brooke defeated R. B. Powell, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, and Anthony Wilding won from B. H. Schwengers, 7-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Today's events had no effect on the Davis cup series. Schwengers today gave a much better account of himself against Wilding than he did against Brooke and at the start of his match seemed to have a chance to win. The marvelous activity of the tall New Zealander, however, triumphed in the end. The Canada was forced all over the court by wild while the latter, barely moving, did all of his work with his wrist and racket. Powell had no chance against Brooke. The latter, if he had exerted himself apparently could have made every set a shut out. His play in the opening set was the best shown in the matches.

Opening of the western tournament was robbed of great interest by the late arrival of most of the out of town entrants and the attraction of the international events. Only a few tournament matches were played. Doubles in the first and preliminary rounds of the western tournament included the victory of E. H. Smith, Texas, over A. G. Stanton, Chicago, 7-6 and 6-3.
