

THE ANDERSON INTELLIGENCER

FOUNDED AUGUST 1, 1860.

126 North Main Street ANDERSON, S. C.

W. W. SMOAK, Editor and Bus. Mgr. D. WATSON BELL, City Editor. PHELPS SASSEEN, Advertising Mgr. T. B. GODFREY, Circulation Mgr. E. ADAMS, Telegraph Editor and Foreman.

Member of Associated Press and Receiving Complete Daily Telegraphic Service.

Entered according to Act of Congress as Second Class Mail Matter at the Postoffice at Anderson, S. C.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Table with subscription rates: One Year $1.50, Six Months .75, Daily .05, One Year $5.00, Six Months 2.50, Three Months 1.25.

TELEPHONES

Editorial and Business Office, 321. Job Printing, 693-L.

The Intelligencer is delivered by carriers in the city. If you fail to get your paper regularly please notify us. Opposite your name on the label of your paper is printed data to which our paper is paid. All checks and drafts should be drawn to The Anderson Intelligencer.

The Weather.

South Carolina: Partly cloudy and cooler Tuesday with moderate to fresh northwest winds; Wednesday fair.

Our Daily Thought.

"We should protect the weak, aid the needy and assist each other in all worthy enterprises."

We don't even hear any noise in the direction of Abbeville.

Most people, who talk about hard times, have never seen any of it.

Add to things not to go against: Columbia sq. meal.

What some farmers wonder at is how the moving picture men manage to catch the farm hands in motion.

Dr. Deraberg, of the German army, sounds very much like Spartanburg to us.

Paragrapners everywhere, attention! "Officer 35" of Columbia is a lady cop. Charge!

It is in the same world over. The hen-pecked husband lives next door to the wife-beating husband.

No, you needn't try to get on the good side of everybody you meet, but you can keep off the bad side of them.

Some people think because they take the opposite side of a question from everybody else they are broad-minded.

Teddy Roosevelt says that he will never join the G. O. P. again. Do we hear any mournful sobs from the G. O. P.?

"Blest be the tie that binds," sometimes thinks a man when he is trying to put on his collar and necktie.

The Piedmont Fair of Greenwood will have aeroplane flights during the week. Well, they have gas enough in that burg to furnish the flying machines and some to spare.

By Waiting Patiently.

"Patience and perseverance will accomplish all things," was a favorite saying of an old miller.

He had made this remark in a train one day on the way to market, when a pompous individual in the corner turned to him crossly and said:

"Nonsense, sir. I can tell you a great many things which neither patience nor perseverance can accomplish."

"Perhaps you can," said the miller, "but I have never yet come across odd thing."

"Well, then, I'll tell you one. Will patience and perseverance ever enable you to carry water in a sieve?"

"Certainly."

"I would like to know how?"

"Simply by waiting patiently for the water to freeze."—Dallas News.

Rev. J. E. Smith's Appointment.

Rev. J. P. Mann will preach at Hopewell church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

"Store-News" In The Intelligencer Sells The Goods.

A BOOSTER CLUB.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a new declaration of faith by Anderson's business men, who have made up their minds to cut out all this hard times talk and do a lot of boosting. That's the stuff, to use a slang expression which expresses. Why should we not boost in South Carolina, especially in Anderson? The sides here are a little bluer, the breezes a bit softer, the men are manlier, the women lovelier, the soil more fertile, the views more inspiring, the climate more invigorating, and hope more lasting than anywhere else in the Palmetto State. Suppose that cotton does not bring as large a price per pound as formerly, there would be no great suffering if there were not a pound of the fleecy staple harvested in a year. There is an abundance of grain crops and other good things this wonderful soil of ours produces, and as that young farmer said a few days ago: "In six months we will have another crop ready to harvest."

Here's to the new boosting spirit. You can do better in Anderson. That's what Sasseen thought yesterday when he got the business men of Anderson to sign the agreement to begin to boost. He also thought "you can do better in Anderson" than by being blue and going round with a long face, so he says "Boost! Boost! Boost!!"

THE PEOPLE CAN STOP IT

Anderson has just received some undesirable and some very desirable advertising on account of the raid made yesterday on the illicit liquor dealers in the city. The undesirable advertising comes from the fact that such a condition existed in Anderson as made it necessary to employ a detective agency to come here to ferret out the violators of the liquor laws. The desirable part of it comes that the officers of the law, backed by a healthy public sentiment, are so desirous of stamping out this undesirable and illicit traffic in liquor.

It has been known for some time that too much liquor was being sold in Anderson, and an effort has been made to put a stop to it. Young men, who have been cut at nights, have been falling under the influence of the sellers, and they have been going home intoxicated. Several young men have lost good positions on account of their shortcomings along this line, and it is to be commended in the City Council that they have taken the matter up with so much energy and determination to stamp it out. But, the City Council, nor detectives cannot stop this illicit sale of liquor. The people must stop it. They can do it, by lending their aid to the efforts being made to stamp it out, and by creating so strong a sentiment against this violation of law that no one will dare to attempt it.

The editor of this paper was at the services Sunday morning at the Baptist church. There were present over 1,200 persons to hear that masterful sermon by Dr. White. While listening to this sermon, and noting the great number of influential and prominent citizens present, we could but think how little in earnest they must be if they do not "clean up" certain conditions in Anderson, among them being this same liquor business. Now if these same people and those who go to the other churches will get busy and create a sentiment so strong that it will require much nerve to attempt the sale of liquor, then it can be stopped entirely, and permanently. The time has come in the civic life of the city that this very thing must be done. Anderson is growing by leaps and bounds. Hundreds of men seeking new fields are thinking of coming here to locate, and are investigating conditions in Anderson. Among the advantages that count is the respect for law and order among her citizens, and the absence of these places of vice. So if Anderson shall get these desirable additions to her population she must show a clean record, just a little better than can be found anywhere else.

But, are we not without sympathy for these and others not yet caught, or who will probably never be caught. We have as much respect for them as for those who will secretly patronize them and make possible their nefarious work. There could be no "blind tigers" if there were no purchasers of the liquor they offer for sale. These places could not exist in Anderson and in the most prominent places, at that, if some good(?) men did not patronize them. These "good" men go free while the poor men who served them are sent to jail and humiliated by being placed on trial for their violations of law.

The Intelligencer would make an appeal to those who sell liquor illegally, and to those who patronize them, to refrain from continuance of such illegal acts, and try to find some way of making an honest living. There are enough honest jobs to give every man something to do. Better for him to tie his hands to engage in that which will damn him eternally, and disgrace him and his. There should be enough civic pride in "My Town" to make everyone living here to wish to do better, and make of this a clean city inside and outside.

But, there are those living here who have not this civic pride, and insist on doing those things that will bring discredit upon themselves and their home city, and they should be made to feel that there is yet some authority of law, and some respect left for law. The Intelligencer stands for the enforcement of all law, especially those laws which deal with moral conditions, and strive to make a purer atmosphere in which to raise up our young men. Not only should those "clubs" raided yesterday be closed up, but if there are any others, let the good work go on until all shall fare alike. We believe in a square deal to everyone, and that all be treated on terms of impartiality.

Why build colleges and high schools, keep up a costly system of public schools, support a Y. M. C. A., and do many other altruistic things, and while doing them allow the good work done by them to be destroyed by agencies that tear down faster than the others build up? We cannot believe that Anderson citizens are that kind. They have pride and are fully alive to the possibilities of a clean city. They do not want Anderson to become like Charleston in this particular. Believing this, we are confident that the hands of the City officials will be upheld in their crusade.

THE PUBLIC DEFENDER

The country in general is just beginning to realize that heretofore a very necessary official of the judiciary has been entirely overlooked, i. e., the Public Defender. The creation of this office last spring by the city of Los Angeles aroused little more at the time than amused smiles and condemnation of the putting into practice the idea of some sociological enthusiast, but the results attained have vindicated the theories of the original supporters of the movement and also attracted the attention of every person interested in the uplift.

Los Angeles proved that often the indigent criminal was "more sinned against than sinning," and that in the past many persons, guilty of no greater crime than poverty, had been railroaded to prison, not through any individual prejudice on the part of the judge trying the case, but due to obsolete system which provided for the appointing of a youthful and generally inexperienced lawyer, just out of school to defend the accused. The result was always a foregone conclusion, with the young lawyer matched against an able and experienced lawyer, backed by the machinery of his powerful office and the prestige of the State.

The Western city has pointed the way. New York is following suit. One by one the daily newspapers and weekly and monthly magazines are starting to advocate the proposition, and before long States and municipalities in every section of the country will be endorsing and instituting the idea.

Interviews with prosecuting attorneys in various cities shows that these officials recognize the necessity of providing some other system than the one now in vogue, and consensus of opinion is that the creation of the office of Public Defender will work to the benefit of the community in general, and incidentally be a money saver.

Statistics show that nearly every city of any size appropriates yearly a greater sum of money for the payment of lawyers appointed to defend indigent prisoners than would be needed to pay the salary and office expenses of a first class man.

THE SCHOOL PAGE.

We desire to call especial attention to the School Page in this issue of The Intelligencer. We thought that it would prove a popular feature but we had no idea that there would be such a wealth of school notes, and information as would be gotten together in this page. We may have to enlarge and give more than one page a week, but when we do we shall be glad to do it. Too much attention can not be given to matters pertaining to our schools. We invite contributions to this page at all times.

Advocates Uniting Methodist Church

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Mobilization of a great army of Methodists in one organic union, to include the northern and southern divisions and all branches of the denomination was advocated here tonight by Secretary Josephus Daniels in an address at the centennial celebration of the Foundry Methodist church. Such a union, he said, would have an enrollment of 5,295,384 souls. "If Methodists were united today," said Mr. Daniels, "they could mobilize an army for righteousness which would fight to fight the evils of our country. All denominations have agreed not to encroach upon each other's missionary territory and yet one great family of Christendom can not agree at home. There is a Northern M. E. church in Atlanta and a Southern M. E. church in Seattle."

Letter From the People.

Editor Intelligencer:

It seems to me for the first time that the situation confronting the farmers of this state has become very serious, and demand careful thought, and action in regard to any legislation pertaining to relieve the farmers of the present seeming hard times, when we trace back the history of nations, we will find that slavery of man to law, and the giving up of liberty and freedom has been accomplished through the hope or promise of temporary held or ease in times of distress, which hope or promise, would light up our prospects for the present equal to brightness of day, when the morrow would dawn on us as pitch darkness. Bound, with no hope for a short spell, rather than give up our freedom which is more precious than wealth to the farmers of this country or any other, for that is the only source through which we can look for peace and happiness. All the schemes or plans that are being brought forward pretending to aid the farmer is not the work of charity, but simply a business proposition, seeking to reap a reward direct from your labor while in this distressed condition, and we had better touch light of the help proposed, lest we will soon want help again to our sorrow. Now let me ask one question: Did not our governor state in an open letter before our last primary that if Richards was elected he, the governor, would take for granted the people of the state wanted an extra session of our legislators, and he would so call them, but if Manning was elected, he would know the people were opposed to an extra session, and he would do nothing. Now if he made that promise why did he not comply with it and save the taxpayers sixty or seventy thousand dollars while times are so hard. And I will ask again, is South Carolina different in her laws, and constitution, from all the other Southern States, to give our governor just cause to differ from all the other governors in adopting a resolution, that the states could accomplish nothing, this being while they were at Memphis, Tenn., consulting together. Now if our state constitution is so framed as to give the legislators a right to pass laws to take from us the right to plant our land to what extent in violation of their oath, the constitution gives us the right and have taken oath to uphold them both. There sure would be a clash and the weaker must give way to the stronger and if our state constitution does give us the right to plant our land to anything as suits us best, then why should our governor and legislators be wasting time and money discussing such legislation as would take from the people of the state their rights guaranteed them; and thus in violation of their oaths. It is passing strange how sound we people can sleep and let our rights be trampled on when there is a little strange noise that tends to frighten us. When we hear the booger then is the time to be on our watch. Now, Mr. Editor, I have not written this as any slur upon any one, but because they are facts as I see them, and if they are not facts I hope you will so state it in your paper, for I wish the people to know the danger they are in, and from whom to look for the trouble to come, and to know as long as we are free people our prosperity is an individual problem and must be worked out by each individual alone, and for God's sake let's not invite a matter to come over us at this time if we have to live on bread alone.

OUR DAILY POEM

Growing Old.

A little more tired at the close of day, A little less anxious to have our way; A little less anxious to scold and blame A little more care for a brother's name; And so we are nearing the journey's end, Where time and eternity meet and blend. A little less care for bonds of gold, A little more zeal for the days of old, A broader view and a saner mind, And a little more love for all mankind; And so we are faring down the way That leads to the gates of a better day. A little more love for the friends of youth, A little more zeal for established truth; A little more charity in our views, A little less thirst for the daily news; And so we are folding our tents away And passing in silence at close of day. A little more leisure to sit and dream, A little more real the things unseen; A little nearer to those ahead, With visions of those long loved and dead; And so we are going where all must go, To the place the living may never know. A little more laughter, a few more tears, And we shall have told our increasing years. The book is closed, and the prayers are said, And we are part of the countless dead. Thrice happy, then, if some soul can say, "I live because he has passed my way." —Christian Advocate.

LAST CHANCE FOR L. M. FRANK

Argument on a Motion to Set Aside Verdict Made Before State Supreme Court.

(By Associated Press.) ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 26.—Argument on motion to set aside the verdict by which Leo M. Frank was found guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan on April 26, 1913, was made before the State Supreme Court here today. The motion is based on the ground that the defendant was not present in court when the verdict was read. The is the only Frank proceeding now pending in the courts, all other pleas in his behalf having been lost on appeal. Frank was convicted here of murder August 25, 1913. In their arguments Frank's counsel alleged that while the jury was deliberating, the defendant's life was in danger; that the "air about the court room was surcharged with mob violence," and that the trial judge had suggested that Frank be absent when the verdict was returned.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, for the State, contending that the waiver of Frank's counsel, in which the solicitor general held Frank acquiesced, of the defendant's right to be in court when the verdict was returned, was legal and binding and barred the setting aside of the verdict on the grounds stated in the motion. The supreme court is not expected to announce a decision for several months.

Check Kidney Trouble at Once.

There is such ready action in Foley Kidney Pills, you see their healing from the very first dose. Backache, weak, sore kidneys, painful bladder and irregular action disappear with their use. O. Palmer, Green Bay, Wis., says: "My wife is rapidly recovering her health and strength, due solely to Foley Kidney Pills." And W. T. Hutchens, Nicholson, Ga., says: "Just a few doses made me feel better, and now my pains and rheumatism are all gone and I sleep all night long." For Sale by Evan's Pharmacy.

Advertisement for B.O. Evans store. Text: 'A Store For All Men and All Boys. We have never reached the point in our career where we regard one man as better than another, or where we feel qualified to tell you how much money you should spend. But we have reached the point where we give far better values for the money than any other clothing store you'll find. This store was founded on the rock of honor, and true honor in merchandising lies in making your dollar do its entire duty. It is wisdom and economy on your part to concentrate your purchases here. B.O. Evans Co. The Store with a Conscience.'

OUR DAILY POEM

Growing Old.

A little more tired at the close of day, A little less anxious to have our way; A little less anxious to scold and blame A little more care for a brother's name; And so we are nearing the journey's end, Where time and eternity meet and blend. A little less care for bonds of gold, A little more zeal for the days of old, A broader view and a saner mind, And a little more love for all mankind; And so we are faring down the way That leads to the gates of a better day. A little more love for the friends of youth, A little more zeal for established truth; A little more charity in our views, A little less thirst for the daily news; And so we are folding our tents away And passing in silence at close of day. A little more leisure to sit and dream, A little more real the things unseen; A little nearer to those ahead, With visions of those long loved and dead; And so we are going where all must go, To the place the living may never know. A little more laughter, a few more tears, And we shall have told our increasing years. The book is closed, and the prayers are said, And we are part of the countless dead. Thrice happy, then, if some soul can say, "I live because he has passed my way." —Christian Advocate.

Opening

Several Schools in Anderson County Began Their Session Yesterday.

A number of Anderson county schools began their 1914 session yesterday with good attendances. Without one single exception every school has prospects of the best year in the history of the school and patrons of the institution are well pleased. The Zion school, a seven-months institution, opened yesterday with B. C. Cromer as principal and three assistants. This is a very capable faculty and the people of the Zion section believe that the year will be a very successful one for them. The Flat Rock school, one of the best small schools in the county, began the year's work yesterday with Miss Kate Shirley as principal and Miss Pet Tate as assistant. The prospects for a good year at this school are fine. The Oak Grove school, to be directed this year by Miss Quida Major was opened yesterday morning with a large enrollment and indications are that the people of that section will experience a splendid school year. Practically all of the schools in the county are now open and by the time next Monday rolls around every county school will be ready to begin the fall term. J. B. Felton, the county superintendent of education, said yesterday that all schools in the county will do better this year than they ever have before. Gold by Parcel Post. BOSTON, MASS., Oct. 26.—Five million dollars in gold from the Philadelphia mint arrived here today by parcel post. This is the first shipment received by mail. H. M. Tate of Starr was among the visitors to spend yesterday in the city.

Advertisement for Anderson County Boosters Club. Text: 'ANDERSON YOU CAN DO BETTER IN ANDERSON. Believing that piles of push, perseverance, publicity and price will positively produce prosperity, the undersigned business men of Anderson hereby declare that we are no longer "peevish," disgruntled, or dissatisfied with our lot in life, but on the other hand are free agents, and not the subjects of luck or chance, and that from this very moment, we propose to boost, boost, boost, because we know from personal experience that boosting helps everybody; and that now all that is necessary to make business become normal again, is for all of us to make concerted efforts to pull together; and, under no circumstances will we knock anybody or anything; that we will cut out all bickerings, cants and pessimistic talk, and instead—boost, boost, boost. That the name of this organization shall be the "Anderson Boosters Club," that the initiation fee shall be A Smile, and the annual dues—Optimism, payable daily; that the rewards shall consist of increased prosperity and happiness; and the penalty for "backsliding" shall be strict ostracism by all former friends and acquaintances. In witness whereof, we have this day affixed our signatures and set our seal; October twenty-sixth, Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen. B. O. Evans, Sullivan Hardware Co., By W. W. Sullivan, Sec-Treas. Red Iron Racket, Per. L. N. Entreklin. S. H. Kress & Co., C. B. Ellis, The Lesser Co., By S. M. Lesser, pres & treas. R. W. Tribble, I. Rubenstein & Son, By G. A. Rubenstein, Mgr. Walter H. Keese and Co. Red Cross Drug Co. U. S. Woolen Mills Co., Theo. Jones, Mgr. Willis & Spearman, Jno. A. Austin, Fretwell Co. W. A. Power, Tate Hardware Co. Per J. B. Shanklin. Columbia Tailoring Co. F. M. Unger, Mgr. Southern Public Utilities Co., H. A. Orr, Mgr. Evans Book Store. T. L. Cely Co. Ideal Grocery Co. Owl Drug Co. Gelsberg Bros. Shoe Co., H. M. Gelsberg. Anderson Cash Grocery Co. Osborne & Pearson. J. W. Callahan. B. F. Fleishman & Bros. Thompson's Shoe Store. Moore-Wilson Co., By E. M. Wilson, Mgr. D. Gelsberg, Per M. Gelsberg. Zarker & Bolt, Marchbanks & Babb, Per Babb. M. E. Irie, H. C. Brown, H. M. Pinkston, M. M. Mathison, The Intelligencer, W. W. Smoak, M. F. Eagle Barber Shop, C. D. Hudson, Prop. Piedmont Coal & Wood Co., Per W. O. Ulmer. E. C. Lewis, Orr, Gray & Co. J. M. McCown, G. F. Tolly & Son, Evans Pharmacy, Bee Hires, Geo. H. Balles, B. W. Reed, Jno. W. Lulley.'

Advertisement for Jack Frost Heaters. Text: 'NOW LOOK OUT —FOR— JACK FROST HEATERS. Better come in today and select your HEATERS. Ours are the kinds that save fuel bills and make warm homes. A Home comfortably heated day and night is the greatest luxury of winter life. We have them in various styles and sizes. Sullivan Hardware Company. Anderson, S. C., Felton, S. C., Greenville, S. C.'