Uncle Dave's Letter

When I was a boy there used to be a story in one of my readers that told of a man who went a long way from home to look at a piece of land he had bought. In order to get a better view of the place than he could from the ground, he climbed to the top of a stub of a tree. When he reached the top he found that the stub was hollow. His foothold giving way, he fell inside, clear to the bottom. He must have had some interesting thoughts on the way down, but these were as nothing compared to his feelings when he found a bear lying curled up down there.

Many a man has driven away evil by a song. Singing gives the gospel to others. Many a heart, untroubled by the sermon, has been broken by a song. Singing lifts us for heaven. There preaching will not be needed; there the sacraments will have no place; but there praise will be unceasing.

A word of cheer! The world loves a man Who can look in the face of disaster And cry, "I hope."

A word of joy! The need is great today For those who can meet this world's sorrows With a cry of "Hope."

It is not economy to go without the Intelligencer. It may be the most extravagant thing you possibly do.

If Adam couldn't get along peaceful in one little garden, how can the man who fences the world in ever hope to be happy?

The Intelligencer is a paper of high ideals and a consistent record.

More sugar and flour for $1 and fewer free garden seeds is what the people want, Mr. Congressman.

To be a good farmer, a good man, a good neighbor and a good friend is to be truly successful. The world means no greater success than that. May we all attain it!

Opportunity knocks at each man's door, but where does the poor fellow come in who has no door?

Of what is society composed? The under dog, the middle-man and the man higher up.

No wonder Shakespeare exclaims, "What's in a name?" when Christian County, Kentucky, goes wet.

If all the law books in the country were burned in a single night, we would have better laws in ten years than we have at present time. If attorneys based their arguments more upon an innate sense of natural justice, common sense and fair play, instead of fortifying themselves with decisions of other courts, I believe we would get better results. Lawyers rely too much upon precedent and not enough on common sense.

We are weaving character every day, and the way to weave the best character is to be kind and to be useful. It is what we think and what we do that make us what we are.

We make our money out of our friends—Our enemies will not do business with us.

Never tell your wife a lie. Also, be very careful not to tell her the truth all the time.

Dr. J. C. Harris says that radium was prophesied in the Bible. It is a relief to find an eminent surgeon who knows all about the Scriptures. May this attitude spread is our hope, until the common practice of all the hospitals is to "Open the patients with prayer."

If a thing is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well. Did this thought ever come to you? What is the use of doing anything, if all we do ends in nothing of worth? It were better to have rested and not labored. We are placed in this life to work and to do. Let us then do everything well. Accomplish something. Aim high and build, not on the sand of uncertainty, but on the rock of sureness and lasting strength. To live well is to leave a reputation, which will last long after we cease our earthly existence. So let us live that we may leave "footprints in the sands of time."

Footprints that perhaps another, calling o'er life's solemn morn, A feet and a shipwrecked brother, So long shall take heart again." UNCLE DAVE.

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY CONVENTION CLOSES

Matter of Date and Place of Next Meeting Left With Executive Committee

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Feb. 18.—Closing its three days biennial session in this city tonight, the laymen's missionary convention of the Southern Presbyterian Church east of the Mississippi left the matter of date and place of next meeting with the executive committee. Features of the final session were addressed by Rev. Dr. Robert W. Smith, executive secretary of foreign missions, Nashville, on "That Which is Committed to Us"; W. E. Doughty, educational secretary laymen's movement, New York, "Intercession, the Highest Form in Service"; J. Campbell White, general secretary of the laymen's movement, New York, "Leaving Your Mark on the World."

being a discussion of the practical side of financing the work of evangelization. J. Campbell White led the stewardship discussions.

The feature of the morning session was the address on "Efficiency" by George C. Shano, of Philadelphia in which the speaker contrasted the practical methods of business with those of church work, giving as an instance a Philadelphia financier who in a few minutes bought five boats for $237,000 and borrowed $500,000 with which to pay for them, but had a Bible class of 50 students that he would not increase by a single member.

lent across the provinces of Vilna and Grodno. In the Carpathians heavy fighting continues and the Russians claim to have repulsed all the Austro-German attacks, while in Bukovina the Austrians, with their German supporters, are pushing across the country. They have occupied Kolomena, in Galicia, about 16 miles north of the Bukovina frontier. It is again reported—this time officially—that they are in possession of Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina.

The allies, in the hope of relieving the pressure on the Russians, have taken the offensive along the western German accounts differ as to the result of this, it is evident that the French and British have made gains at some points, which they say might have been maintained. The Germans have evacuated the town of Naroy, north of Ponto-Monsson, which they had captured last week after a severe fight.

LaVallieres

A lady came into my place a few days ago and said that she had been all over town looking for a LaValliere.

I felt a little bad as I was the last on the list. But when she wrote a check for $50.00 and put on one of the prettiest LaVallieres I had, I felt better.

LaVallieres from $3.00 to $50.00.

Has Used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for 27 Years.

"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used in my household for the past twenty years. I began giving it to my children when they were small. As a quick relief for cough, whooping cough, and ordinary colds, it has no equal. Being free from opium and other harmful drugs, I never felt afraid to give it to the children. I have recommended it to a large number of friends and neighbors, who have used it, and speak highly of it." writes Mrs. May Minnie Shortwell, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.

NO COMMENT ON GERMANY'S NOTE

that none of their vessels would be permitted to fly the American or other flag. German submarines would be obliged to visit and search neutral vessels for contraband before destroying them as prizes.

The suggestion in the German note that American warships should not be permitted to visit and search neutral vessels was looked upon by officials as impracticable. If mines were laid, as Germany announces her intention of doing, convoys, as well as merchantmen, in the opinion of American officials, would be endangered by mines, and public opinion in the United States might be more seriously aroused by the destruction of a warship than by a mere merchantman should.

In fact the disposition was to regard the sowing of mines in large sea areas as creating a menace more than submarine warfare. When mines were laid in the North Sea the American government took the position that it could not determine which of the belligerents was responsible for the action and did not protest, especially since pilots were furnished by Great Britain and neutral vessels were enabled to proceed with their journeys. With the admission by Germany of her intention to lay mines, it was intimated that a protest might be forthcoming, unless pilots were given to neutral vessels carrying legitimate cargoes.

In German official quarters here, complications with neutrals over the war zone decrees were not regarded as likely to occur, because it was pointed out that Germany's campaign was aimed at steamers carrying cargoes of contraband and not vessels devoted entirely to passenger traffic. It was said that not only was it probable that German submarines would carefully avoid interference with any American ships, but that they would also refrain from attacking any of the big trans-Atlantic liners even if they were under the French or British flags.

Sank British Steamer. BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 18.—The German steamer Heger, which has arrived here, brings news that during January and February the German auxiliary cruiser Kropprin Wilhelm, operating on the northern coast of Brazil, sank the British steamer Highland Brae, 7,624 tons, the British steamer Hemispher, the British steamer Potara, the sailing ship Sumatra and the sailing ship Wilfred. The crews of these vessels are on board the Heger.
