Palmetto Rifles Underwent Inspection Friday Night by U. S. Army Officer

The Orr Mills band, which for the past four years had been the regimen-tal band of the 1st South Carolina In-Interest in Meeting Woodmen of the World.
There is considerable interest locally, and especially in Woodmen of the World circles, in the biennial State convention of the order, which is to be convened in Charleston next Tuesday. It is understood that the fantry, National Guard of Fouth Carolina, will be mustered out.

The band has expressed a desire not to stand an examination, and has requested that it be mustered out of service. This request was made up-on the arrival here Friday of Lieut, Hunt, 40th Infantry, U. S. A., who came to inspect the local company of the National Guard and the regimen tal band.

The Orr Mills band was 10 years old, and after it had sixth year became regimental band of the 1st Infantary, N. G. S. C.

The request for the mustering out of the band was brought about by the resignation of the head musician, R. W. Hembree, and the retirement of other members from the organization.

Lost Thursday afternoon an inspec. Last Thursday afternoon an inspec tion of the Palmetto Rifles, the local company of the National Guard State, was inspected by Adj. Gen. W. W. Moore. The inspection was conducted by Gen. Moore alone, as the United States army officer, who was detailed to assist in the inspection, did not reach here in time.

Lieut. Hunt, who was to assist in the inspection, arrived in Anderson Friday morning. That night some 25
