In the list of "things to see" in Anderson which was published in yesterday's issue of The Intelligencer for the benefit of the visiting Clemson College cadets the name of the Sullivan Hardware company was inadvertently omitted. His window is attracting a great deal of favorable comment.

THE STORY OF "STOP THIEF"

George Kleine Presents the Finest Story Ever Staged at "The Anderson" Today

The Cast:
—Nell Jones (a light-fingered maid)
—Mary Ryan
—Jack Doogan (her fiance, also a thief)—Harry Mestayer
—Mr. Cluney (a self-confessed kleptomaniac)—Albert Tavernier
—Dr. Willoughby (who thinks he knows a kleptomaniac when he sees one)—William Boyd
—Mrs. Carr (mother)—Augusta Burmeister
—Joan Carr (Dr. Willoughby's fiancée)—Della Connor
—Madge Carr (Mr. Cluney's fiancée)—Marguerite Boyd
—The Detective—Dan Moyley
—The Clergyman—Seldine Powell
—Mr. Carr is a kleptomaniac and has two daughters, Madge and Joan, are to be married to Mr. Cluney and Dr. Willoughby, respectively. Pretty Nell Jones, a light-fingered maid, is engaged that afternoon by Mrs. Carr after promising her sweetheart, Jack Doogan, a crook, that she will assist him to do one last job. Jealous and mysterious things begin to happen in the Carr home with the arrival of the happy bridegrooms-to-be.

A ruby suddenly disappears from the library table—into Nell's shoe—but the culprit, Nell, is discovered by Cluney in his overcoat pocket a few minutes later! The family promptly suspect Nell and Cluney telephones for a detective. While he is in the act of phoning, Nell slips the jewel back into the box where it is recovered by Mr. Carr and as Cluney lays down the phone, Cluney is stunned by the discovery and confides in Dr. Willoughby, who unsuspectingly informs Cluney that he evidently suffers from unconscious kleptomania.

The situation is further complicated by the arrival of Nell's sweetheart, Jack, whom she tells of the expected detective. This dignity, is met by Nell who, after deftly stripping him of star and watch, introduces him to Jack as Mr. Carr's. Jack sends him away on a mysterious mission and Nell then introduces Jack to the family as the detective from central headquarters. Cluney confides to him that he suspects himself of being a kleptomaniac and asks that Jack keep a close eye on him.

Complications set in thick and fast. With two kleptomaniacs and two real crooks and a double wedding pending, Mrs. Carr has her hands full. Wedding presents disappear and reappear in the most astonishing way. A busy investor leaves $10,000 in steel stock as security for a loan and when he returns with cash to redeem his collateral, both steel and money disappear—into Jack Doogan's pocket. This leads to the theft of a wagon-load of police, but before the captain can read his search-warrant, even that vanishes through Doogan's nimble fingers into Mr. Carr's side pocket! Even cookeys Dr. Willoughby shares the general hysteria and finds himself possessed of the stock securities but unable to replace them without openly branding himself a thief.

The return of the detective adds a touch of drama to the evening. With an automobile liberally filled with movable valuables of all kinds ready for departure, Jack draws his gun and under its cover makes his escape, hurrying to the upper rooms of the building with faithful Nell at his heels. Believing him to have jumped through an open window, the police scatter out-of-doors and a second later Dr. Willoughby stops Jack and Nell in a hallway at the point of his revolver. This Jack deftly wrenches from the doctor's hand and again has the company at his mercy. But Nell longs for peace and the good-will of her erstwhile employers and so prevails upon Jack to throw away his gun. Then follow explanations and forgiveness. Jack shows his marriage license and the minister ends an exciting evening with a triple wedding. At the Anderson Wednesday.

CHILD'S TONGUE BECOMES COATED IF CONSTIPATED

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-aches or diarrhea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

PLEASANT MEETING DIXIE CHAPTER

Mrs. O. D. Anderson was the hostess for the Dixie Chapter yesterday afternoon at her handsome home on Calhoun street. Besides a good attendance of members there were also quite a number of visitors and the afternoon was a particularly pleasant one. Jonquils were used in quantities everywhere making the parlors bright and attractive. The election of delegates to the district convention at Easley was the most important business for the afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Barton was elected, and Mrs. Carrie Patrick also goes as a State officer. The program for the afternoon was a very fine paper by the Historian, Mrs. J. R. Anderson. The chapter is studying South Carolina history and Mrs. Anderson's subject was "Christian Priver and Christian Gadsden." Mrs. J. E. Barton read a splendid paper on "Fort Moultrie." There were two very pretty songs on program, one by Mrs. T. L. Cely, and the other by Mrs. Jas. Craig, also an attractive instrumental duet by Mrs. A. M. Sharpe and Miss Alberta Farmer. After the program was concluded the gracious hostess invited her guests into the prettily decorated dining where a delightful salad course was daintily served and a very pleasant afternoon.

NOT AN ISOLATED CASE

Many Similar Cases in Anderson and Vicinity.

This Anderson man's story given here is not an isolated case by any means; week after week, year after year, our neighbors are telling similar good news.

W. H. Smith, farmer, 549 E. Orr St., Anderson, says: "I was afflicted with pains across the small of my back. When I was picking cotton, a sharp pain would often catch me in the small of my back and I would have to brace myself in order to straighten up again. The kidney secretions passed too freely and they were scanty and burned in passage. The secretions were highly colored, too and looked like brick dust. I had suffered for a couple of months when I read of Dean's Kidney Pills and got some at E. S. S. Pharmacy. The first few doses relieved me and one box fixed me up in all the shape."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Dean's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co. Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
