Asparagus, Beans and Beets

WASHINGTON, April 8.-Aspara- sets in. Beans for the fall garden gus should be grown in every home garden where it will thrive, says the Department of Agriculture's specialpepartment of Agriculture's specialist, because it is one of the earliest vegetables and is a valuable addition to the spring diet. The soil for asparagus should be made quite rich by the application of partly rotted manure before the plants are set. As soon as danger from hard frosts is over, the seeds of asparagus may be sown in the rows where the plants.

over, the seeds of asparagus may be sown in the rows where the plants are to remain. Soaking the seed in hot water for an hour or two before planting will hasten germination.

The seedlings should be thinned to stand 15 inches apart in the row. Quicker results can be secured, however, by buying roots from some seedsman or dealer. The roots may be planted in the autumn or early spring. Before setting the plants spring. Before setting the plants, the soil should be loosened deeply by spading or by the use of a subsoil by spading or by the use of a subsoil plow. When horse cultivation is to be used, set the plants 15 inches apart in rows three and a half to four teet apart. When hand cultivation is to be used, the roots may be set in a solid bed one foot apart each way. Cover the roots to the depth of four or five inches. The bed should receive a dressing of manure or fertilizer each year, preferably in the autumn.

No shoots should be removed the first year the plants are set in the permanent bed, and the cutting season should be short the second year. After the bed is well established, with proper care and fertilizing it should last indefinitely. During the cutting season, all of the shoots, even those too small for use, should be removed. After this, the tops should be allowed to grow until late in the season, when they should be removed and burned and the soil between the rows burned and the soil between the rows cultivated. Apply a dressing of ma-mure after cultivation and allow the manure to remain on the bed.

Varieties recommended: Palmetto,

Conover's Colossal, and Glant Argen-Beans.

Beans will not withstand much cold, so they should not be planted until danger of frost is past and the ground begins to warm up. The first planting is reasonably warm, and other plantings may be made at intervals of ten days or two weeks until hot weather | Early Blood Turnip. should be made as soon as the ground should be planted in late summer, and successive plantings may be made at the intervals suggested until about eight weeks before time for the first frost in the autumn.

Bush beans should be planted to stand three or four inches apart in rows thirty inches apart where horse cultivation is to be used. For hand cultivation, 20 to 24 inches between the rows will be satisfactory. Among the rows will be satisfactory. Among the best varieties of bush beans are the Stringless Green Pod, Refugee, Hodson's Wax, Currie's Rustproof Wax, and Wardwell's Kidney Wax.

Lima beans, both pole and bush, should be grown in the garden. These should be planted after all danger of frost is over and the soil is warm. Plant the pole beans eight to ten seeds in a hill and thin to three or four after the plants become established. ter the plants become established. The hills should be four or five feet apart. For bunch Lima beans plant five or six inches apart in rows thirty to thirty-six inches apart. When planting beans of any kind the seed should not be covered over two inches, and on heavy soils they should not becovered more than oninches.

Varieties Pole Lima, recommended: Seibert's Carpinteria Lima, and King of the Limas are good varieties of pole Lima beans, and Landreth's

Bush Lima, Dreer's Bush Lima, and Henderson's Bush Lima are good va-ricties of the bush type.

For further information on bean growing, read Farmers' Bulletin 289, entitled "Beans." It can be had by applying to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D

Beets.

Beets can be planted as soon as danger of frost has passed, even before the ground has become warm. Sow the saeds in drills 14 to 18 inches apart, covering to the depth of about one inch. As soon as the pasts are well up, thin them to stand their to four inches apart. Make two or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three plantings so as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as to have a Notte or three planted as soon as the soon as the planted as soon as the planted as the planted as soon as the planted as the planted as soon as the planted as the pl or three plantings, so as to have a continuous supply of young, tender beets throughout the season. You may thank your good fortine that you have never been af-flicted with this malady; for it is the cause of a great deal of worry, trouble and peevishness. Those trouble and peevishness. Those who are in the habit of making mistakes, one after another, cause considerable trouble to others (of course, without meaning to) yet doing a great deal of harm.
Well, this dread malady broke out in our print-shop Wednesday night, causing the ad of one merchant to quote articles at different prices from those intended.

In the ad of the well known and reliable old firm of the Lesser Co. this victim of error it has made this good firm advertise "White Bed Spreads, "Marseilles patterns, value $1.50, Friday 10c;" whereas the selling price should have been $1.00 for this grade Bed Spread. For everybody knows it is impossible to sell $1.50 grades of Resides of R sible to sell $1.50 grades of Bed Spreads at ten cents each.

In another place in the same ad. this same erroritis bug showed his hand by advertising "$1.00 Muslin Skirts, Friday at $1.19;" whereas the item should have been "Muslin Skirts, regular values, Friday sale at 79 cents."

cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diairrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.
