TOWNVILLE NEWS

TOWNVILLE, April 20.—A mass meeting of prominent citizens and business men was held last night at the school house. The organization of the meeting was perfected by the election of Rev. J. E. Crim as president. Immediately thereafter a lively discussion of various measures for improvement in the appearance and in the sanitary condition of the town followed.

Mayor Fant and several of the members of the town council were present and offered many valuable suggestions. Rev. W. T. Hollingsworth, Rev. R. H. Lupo, Pleas Mahaffey, Lee Gaines, S. J. Grubbs, J. D. Compton, J. E. Carnes, and others made short speeches suggesting measures for various improvements.

To stimulate improvement in the appearance of the town a purse was raised, from the proceeds of which four prises or more are to be given. A first and second prize will be given for improvement in the appearance of premises occupied by white people. Two prizes will also be given for improvement in the appearance of premises occupied by colored people. A committee, consisting of Rev. R. H. Lupo, S. J. Grubbs, and C. H. Witt, was appointed to act as judges in this contest.

Several resolutions were passed, one asking the town council to set apart Friday, April 23, as clean-up day; another requesting that the town council institute garbage service; and a third resolution commending the suggested formation of a civic league.

The interest in clean-up day is already manifest, and judging from all indications Townville will be quite improved in appearance at the end of the week.

An Age of Progress

It used to be a common error to neglect life insurance. It isn't now. There are many evidences that this is an age of great humanity and of intelligent altruism. The insane are no longer treated for "devils;" the State is spending money in order to provide proper treatment in sanitariums for tuberculosis patients; the boards of health of cities demand stricter compliance with the rules of sanitation and of hygiene; criminals in prisons are treated as human beings; fuller educational advantages are provided by the government; pure food laws are in operation, and man's duty towards his neighbor seems to be more fully realized than perhaps ever before. As consideration for our fellows has become more marked, so has consideration for the welfare of our families. That is why men think more of life insurance today than formerly, and why it is no longer a common error to neglect life insurance.

The reason many men have not taken adequate insurance may be summed up in the one word DELAY. Probably one-half of the men who die uninsured, underinsured or insecurely insured, meant to insure but delayed. Are you going to be one of them? Or will you take and maintain Mutual Benefit Insurance?
