Junior Missionary Society.
The Junior Missionary Society met on Monday afternoon with Miss Frances Anderson, on Calhoun street. Mountain work was the study for the afternoon and several very fine papers on the different phases of the work were read by Miss Kathleen Norryce, Miss Florida Harris, Miss Jean Harris, and Miss Frances Anderson.

After the program a dainty menu was served.

The Guild.
The Guild of Grace Episcopal church will meet with Mrs. Ralph Ramer on Thursday afternoon at half past four.

Treasurer of W. M. U. Societies of Saluda Association.

I trust that you all are receiving large contributions for home missions. Rev. W. E. Wilkins our State secretary, informs me that if the faithful women reach the $13,900 which they have planned as their part of the year's home mission work, that it looks now as if our State would surpass its splendid record of last year. Wouldn't that be a glorious victory for this year? Such a triumph would thrill the hearts of thousands of the faithful co-workers over our State and in other States. May Saluda not fall short in her gifts, so gather all the gifts possible and send in all money to Miss King immediately.

MRS. E. W. MASTERS,
Superintendent.

The regular meeting of the Royal Ambassadors was held on last Sunday afternoon. This is a live organization and a splendid program was given on "Ambassadors for Christ." The following boys made talks on different phases of the subject: Jimmy Daniel, Earle Daniel, Tom Campbell and Frank Duckworth. The program was closed by a talk from the Chief Councillor Chas. S. Sullivan, Jr., and it is needless to add that this was helpful and much enjoyed.

We Could Preach a Sermon on Shoes

The Text Would Be, "Fit," "Style," "Wear" and "Price"

We carry a line that for range of styles and prices cannot be equaled in this county. If all the people in town knew as much about our shoes as we do, we would sell all the people in town. And for this coming week we have named prices on up-to-the-minute shoes that cannot be duplicated, much less beaten, quality and style considered.
