"Judge Mauldin." Sounds pretty good, doesn't it?

What has become of the old-fashioned boy whose profane vocabulary consisted of "doggone"?

"For the love of Mike," as Jeff would say to Mutt, let the "nigger" alone. He's out of politics in the south, at least.

Wonder what the State means by referring to "empty champagne corks?" Always thought the "happy juice" was in the bottles.

"Somewhere in Great Britain isn't there a Carnegie for Ulster?" queries the State. If there isn't, there is surely a wooden ulster waiting for him here.

"Told you so." Senator Gore, the blind sage of Oklahoma, was acquitted of the Bond charges by the jury after just ten minutes' deliberation.

If Charleston prefers to have barrooms, horse races, gambling, and other kinds of devilment in her back yard, why should the demizens of Podunk and Punkin Centre object?

A big rattlesnake was found one day recently in the very heart of Atlanta, and yet that city wants a regional bank. A Keeley institute would be more useful.

Columbia dispensaries sold more whiskey than any others in South Carolina last month. Of course nobody will even think that it was because the legions were there.

A seed farm of Hartsville, this state, won first award, world's class, sheaf fry; third and fifth awards in cow peas, southern zone sweepstakes in sheaf oats, and fourth award Canadian field beans at the national corn exposition being held in Dallas, Tex.

President Huerta, of Mexico, celebrated the first anniversary of his administration last Thursday. We have a package of government garden seed to wager against a pickled sardine that he doesn't celebrate a second anniversary of his presidency.

Last Wednesday the Columbia State was twenty-three years old. That is a pretty good old age in the life of a daily paper, and if all of the papers of South Carolina were on a par with the State, we should hope for all of them to live forever. Twenty-three times twenty-three more anniversaries for the peerless State.

We adore woman and give profound reverence to the angelhood of their higher and purer and nobler and better nature, but we are opposed to their entering the political field, for amid the briars and the thorns and the nettles and the weeds that grow so wildly there, and choke out the flowers of purity and honesty and stainless deeds, their tender sensibilities and frail feet could not bear the contact, and they would hurt and bleed. In such a realm she is out of her place, for home is her throne, and there she reigns a queen and rules the heart most royally, for with love as her scepter she wields a wand of enchantment and brings all hearts in willing vassalage to her shrine of loveliness and makes every throb a tribute of homage and adoration.

Send in your name as a contestant in the Pickens Sentinel prize contest. The game is not half played and by entering without delay you have a splendid chance to win the $700 piano or the diamond ring, a beautiful solitaire, or a life time scholarship in Draughon's business college at Greenville.

So many couples are marrying in Pickens that the county is not large enough to furnish standing room. One day last week Rev. D. W. Hiott united a couple in the holy bonds of matrimony on board the train between the towns of Pickens and Easley. The knot was tied while the engine and train were standing at a water tank. It might be added that immediately after the ceremony the bride and bridegroom made "a flying trip" to Easley.—Tugaloo Tribune.

The Piedmont Magazine, a new monthly publication, devoted to the interests of the Piedmont section, made its first appearance last week. In quality of reading matter and mechanical excellence it compares favorably with any, and is better than many of the most popular magazines of the north. It also carries many pleasing illustrations. It is a magazine this section can feel proud of and should receive our hearty support. It comes from the press of the Oulla Printing and Binding Co., an Anderson concern.

Do You Like To Read Good Books?

If you do you will be pleased with the announcement that The Sentinel will soon run in serial form one of the best novels recently published.

"The Hollow of the Hand," a fascinating story by George Barr McCutcheon, the world-famous author, will begin in an early issue of The Sentinel.

You cannot buy the book for less than $1.20, but you can read it in The Sentinel for nothing. Watch for first installment.

Champion Hawk Killer

Uncle Mark Bolding is the champion hawk killer of Pea Ridge. He has hung up nine of the pesky things in one apple tree since Christmas, not missing a shot. Although he is 71 years old, he still enjoys the fun of killing them; but he says the best fun is eating fried chickens his neighbors are so liberal with, as his appetite is still as good as a boy's.

Death of Mrs. Melissa Holder.

Died, at the home of Mr. Ben Holder, Jan. 27, 1914, Mrs. Melissa Holder, nee Simmons, aged 58 years, of dropsy. She was buried the day following her death in Olenov cemetery church, where she had been a consistent member for several years. Rev. Mr. Powell preached the funeral. She leaves one brother, two daughters, a loving companion and a host of friends to mourn her death.

The death angel also visited the home of Mrs. Archer Robinson Jan. 30. She had been suffering with consumption for several months.

She bore her affliction with patience. She said the Lord doeth all things best, and the night before her death she talked of heaven and tried in her feeble way to sing, but she was too weak to sing, which she did. She asked everybody to stand up for Jesus.

We believe these two souls are with the Almighty, where they will get their reward for their earthly sufferings. Isn't it sweet to think that although we must bear heavy burdens on earth, we will get a happy home and no burdens to bear in heaven?

Mrs. Robinson leaves a kind and devoted husband and two children to mourn for her. She was buried the day after her death at Olenov.

Local Women Agree With Stage Beauties

Of all women in the world, probably those on the stage are most particular about their personal appearance, and especially in the care of the hair; and when such leading stage beauties as Ethel Barrymore, Elsie Ferguson, Natalie Alt, Louise Dresser, Rose Coghlan, Laurette Taylor and many others are so enthusiastic about Harmony Hair Beautifier as to write in praise of it, that is certainly evidence that it does just what they say it does—that is, beautifies the hair. There are many women right in this town, and men, too, who regard it as indispensable, because it makes the hair glossier and more silky, easier to dress and make stay in place. Sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us—Pickens Drug Co., Pickens S. C.—Adv.

T. J. Robison Killed In Greenville Monday

The following is taken from the Greenville Piedmont:

"Tom Robison, age 52, lies at the point of death at the City Hospital as the result of a pistol shot inflicted Monday by a young man, Lynn Dunn, who, according to witnesses, was in an intoxicated condition and pulled out his revolver and shot Robison only after exchanging a few words. The shooting affray occurred about 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in Davis' near beer place just out of the city limits on the Piedmont road. According to reports Lynn Dunn had been drinking throughout the day and at the time was thoroughly intoxicated.

"Immediately after the shooting the wounded man was taken to the city hospital and his assailant taken to jail. But one shot was fired, a .32 calibre, which lodged in Robison's forehead just above the right eye. As a last resort to save his life an operation was performed.

"Robison is a widower, his wife having died some years ago. He has three children.

"Dunn is a young man, probably 23 years of age. He is reluctant to discuss the case today, stating that he was drunk yesterday and knows nothing whatever of the killing.

Mr. Robison died Wednesday, and his body was buried at the family burying ground two miles from Abbeville.

That Thomas Jefferson Robison came to his death as a result of pistol shot wounds inflicted by Lynn Dunn was, in substance, the verdict rendered by a coroner's jury, following the examination of several witnesses.

The dead man formerly lived in Pickens and was well known here. Let The Sentinel have your next order for printing. Done and ratified in council assembled at the authority of the same and corporate seal affixed, this 24 day of February, A. D. 1914. G. R. HENDRICKS, Mayor. W. F. MAULDIN, Clerk.
