

Court Convened Monday Morning

The summer term of court for Pickens county, the first to be held here since the new circuit was created, convened Monday morning with Judge Mauldin presiding. F. H. Anderson, the new court stenographer for this district, was at his post, as was Solicitor Bonham. Judge Mauldin presides with grace and dignity. His charges are clear, unbiased and to the point, and it is safe to predict that by the time he has completed the rounds of the circuits of the state he will be one of the most popular judges presiding over any court.

A good many people were present opening day. Probably the case which attracted most attention is that of the State vs. L. L. Hendricks, charged with the murder of Henry Brock. This case is continued, as Judge Mauldin is disqualified from presiding over its trial, he being distantly related to the Brock family. This case will come up at the next term of court here.

The case of the State vs. Marshall Summey, a 15-year-old boy, charged with killing Dewey Dobson, a 14-year-old boy, came up Monday and it was thought would be disposed of in a short time, as it was generally supposed that the killing was an accident, but the testimony took a rather sensational turn and the case developed into a legal battle of some proportions between Solicitor Bonham for the State and Carey & Carey for the defense. After being out 1 1/2 hrs. the jury said not guilty.

Full court proceedings will be given in The Sentinel next week.

Presentment of Grand Jury

To the Hon. T. J. Mauldin, Presiding Judge:

We, the Grand Jury of Pickens county, desire to make this our final presentment for this term of court. We have passed on all bills handed us by the Solicitor and made such findings as the evidence in our opinion warranted. The committee appointed at the last term of court to confer with the Supervisor in regard to building a fire proof vault for the protection of the county records have made an investigation, and we recommend that the Supervisor have this work completed as soon as possible at a cost of not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500.00).

A committee has been appointed to audit the books of the several county officers and to make report at the next term of court.

Thanking all officers for courtesies extended us during this term of court, we beg to be excused from further attendance.

J. C. GARRETT, Foreman.

900 PERSONS PERISH WHEN SHIP SINKS IN ST. LAWRENCE RIVER

CANADIAN PACIFIC LINER, EM-PRESS OF IRELAND, RAMMED BY COLLIER.

A LARGE HOLE IN SIDE

Steamer Goes Down in Fourteen Minutes After Impact---Little Time For "Women First."

Rimouski, Quebec.---Sinking in 90 feet of water within 15 minutes after being rammed amidships in the upper reaches of the St. Lawrence River, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Ireland carried down with her more than 900 of her passengers and crew. Of the 1,957 persons on board the liner, only 433 are known to have been saved, making the probable death list 934.

Looming up through the river mist, as the Empress of Ireland was lying to, waiting for the fog to lift or day to break, the Danish collier Storstad crashed bow on into the side of the big Canadian liner, striking her about midway of her length and ripping her side open clear to the stern.

Crash Near Shore.

The crash occurred not far from the shore of Father Point, 130 miles from Quebec, which the Empress of Ireland left the afternoon before bound for Liverpool and 10 miles from this point on the St. Lawrence. In reality therefore, although the liner was heading for the sea and the collier coming in from it, the disaster was not one of the ocean, but of the river. Unlike the Titanic's victims, the Empress of Ireland lost their lives within sight of shore---in land-locked waters.

Immediately the ships crew recovered from the shock of the collision and when it was seen that the liner had received a vital blow a wireless "S. O. S." call was sounded.

A special train was made up on which many were taken to Quebec and Montreal.

The president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, issued a statement saying that the Empress had sunk within fourteen minutes. No one aboard had time to size his belongings much less to dress. Those found in the lifeboats were in their night clothes. The women suffered most. Only a few were saved, according to the earthly lists, and indications are that they lacked the strength to combat conditions which confronted them. There was not time, as was the case on the Titanic, for calm deliberation and rigid observance of the unwritten rule of the sea, "Women first!"

A party of Salvation Army members en route to London, was almost wiped out; Laurence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, is among the missing and other prominent persons in the first cabin were unaccounted for.

Of those saved crew members and third class passengers predominated. From partial lists available it was evident that but a meagre sprinkling of the first cabin passengers were rescued. Only three names of those in the cabin appeared in the preliminary list of rescued. They were G. W. G. Henderson and C. R. Burt, address not stated and Walter Fenton of Manchester, Eng.

The stricken vessel sank as if she were lead. An explosion, apparently originating in her engine room, hastened her end, and those persons who were able to make their way from their cabins found themselves on a perilously slanting deck. Many leaped and were drowned. Others were fortunate enough to grasp driftwood or were picked up by lifeboats. It is apparent that the great hole torn in the ship's side admitted such a deluge of water that many must have been overcome in their beds.

The rescued, fighting their way to the lifeboats from the careening deck, slinging desperately to the rails or leaping blindly overboard, broke their arms or legs or otherwise injured themselves so badly that twenty-two died after being picked up. Groaning and in some cases practically insensible, others were landed here while the populace of the village gathered with medicines and stimulants to relieve their suffering.

Vessel Cut Wide Open.

The vessel bound for Quebec from Liverpool with 77 first, 206 second and 504 third class passengers, was cut wide open by the collier Storstad and sank within 20 minutes in 19 fathoms of water.

Many Were Injured.

Of those saved the majority appeared to be members of the crew or from

STRIKE AT THE EASLEY COTTON MILL

The first strike ever known at a cotton mill in Pickens county took place at the Easley cotton mill Tuesday morning, when about 100 workers in the weave room quit work, leaving only about six workers in that room, according to information The Sentinel has received.

As told us, the trouble seems to be as follows: One day last week some of the machinery of the mill got out of fix and as a result a large part, or probably all, of the mill was closed down for forty-five minutes. The mill authorities asked that the employees make up the lost time, which some refused to do, and ten of the employees were discharged, and a large number of others walked out. It appears as if the I. W. W.'s had a part in causing the walkout.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by a local application of the mucous membrane of the middle ear. When this tube is closed, you have a rumbling sound, or ringing in the ears, and when it is open, deafness is the result, and unless inflammation can be taken out of the tube, restored to normal hearing will be cases out of the question.
