As China Sees the Whites

In his book, "The Chinese Revolution," Arthur J. Brown reprints a paragraph written by a Chinese who had seen much of Europeans and North Americans at Shanghai. "We are always told that the countries of the foreign devils are grand and rich," the Chinese observed, "but that cannot be true, else what do they come here for?"

They jump around and kick balls as if they were paid to do it. Again you find them making long trips into the country; but that is probably a religious duty, for when they wave sticks in the air nobody knows why. They have no sense of dignity, for they may be found walking with women. Yet the women are to be pitted, too. On festive occasions they are dragged around a room to the accompaniment of the most hellish music."

Another interesting paragraph is from the pen of a Chinese who had just returned from a tour of Europe and North America. He wrote to a relative as follows:

"You cannot civilize these foreign devils. They are beyond redemption. They will live for weeks and months without touching a mouthful of rice, but they eat the flesh of bullocks and sheep in enormous quantities. That is why they smell so badly. They smell like sheep themselves. Every day they take a bath to rid themselves of their disagreeable odors, but they do not succeed. Nor do they eat their meat cooked in small pieces. It is carried into the room in large chunks, often half a pig, and they cut and eat with knives and prongs. It makes a civilized being perfectly nervous. One fancies himself in the presence of swordswallowers. They even sit down at the same table with women and the latter are served first, reversing the order of nature."—Kansas City Star.

A Great Revival at Salem

The Salem correspondent of the Keowee Courier says:

One of the greatest revival meetings ever held in this section was closed on Sunday night, August 2. The meeting had been in progress for two weeks, conducted by Rev. W. H. Nicholson, pastor of the church here, and Rev. R. W. Kelley of the Six Mile section of Pickens county. J. L. Brock of Seneca conducted the music for the meeting throughout.

There were 35 additions to the church by restoration, profession of faith and by letter. Evidences of great good having been accomplished are shown. The meeting is said to have been one of the best ever held in this section of the county.

On the fourth Sunday in August there will be 23 converts baptized, the baptismal service to be conducted at the usual place near Salem.

The Salem community has been greatly stirred spiritually, and it is earnestly hoped that the good work accomplished may be lasting. Every evidence tends to strengthen the belief that it will be.

Anderson County's Favorite Son for Congress

FROM the best information we can get as to the Congressional race in this district it appears that John A. Horton will be in the second race and just at this time it is not certain who the other man will be, Aiken or Dominick. Mr. Horton made a most favorable impression at each of the campaign meetings and many people were heard to remark "that he was a good, clean reliable man that could be trusted." John Horton has no political record to speak of and that is considerably in his favor, but he has a most remarkable record in his business career having made a success in every undertaking and the people of the Third district have decided that they will quit voting for people with "political records," as they have never received any special benefits from these records. A great many people are going to vote for John Horton because he has been a success in conducting his own business and they believe that is the best indication that he will attend to the people's business more efficiently than the politician.

Many people in the Third district, and especially in Abbeville, his home county, do not understand why Mr. Aiken voted against President on the repeal of the free Panama toll act. They say if President Wilson and Secretary Bryan could see they were wrong and changed their minds why couldn't Mr. Aiken. Some do not understand either why Mr. Aiken should have voted against the "Pure Food Bill" which was before congress for several sessions and which was bitterly fought by the manufacturers. Mr. Aiken was one of 17 democrats to vote against the bill, and he gives as his reason that there was an objectionable clause in the bill. If so, why didn't he propose an amendment knocking out the objectionable clause? Another thing many people do not understand is why Mr. Aiken is shown as being "present" 14 times when questions were being voted upon instead of casting his vote either for or against. Being "present" and not voting is the same as voting for a bill.

Everywhere you go you find a sentiment for a change. As Mr. Aiken has been in congress 12 years and his father was there 10 years and many think it an opportune time to make a change, any many there are who are turning to Mr. Horton because he has made his own way from the ground up, educating himself and knows what it is to sweat to earn a living by the "sweat of his brow" and having made a success of his own affairs the people will take delight in honoring him by making him their representative.

Remember, Mr. Horton has no political organization and cannot send out letters under a frank, and has no friend to appoint men to office that are working for him on the side. Stick to John Horton if you want a friend that will do "tie to."

Vote For John A. Horton For Congress

A man without any political record except that he served the town as mayor for several terms but that is better he is a successful business man, and has made a success in his own affairs and will represent the Third District and work for the best interests of all the people.

Vote for him because he is a man that made his own way, worked on the farm because he had to, paid his own way through college, went into business, and the people of the town realizing he would do to trust helped him to organize a bank and he has made a success of it.

Having made a success of every undertaking don't you believe he will make you a good representative?

Coming from the people and having to make his own way and not born with a silver spoon in his mouth—"don't you believe him more capable of realizing the hardships and struggles of the great majority of the

SCENTING A ROMANCE

By JANE COLLINS.

"Did you have a birthday or anything?" inquired the girl who was planning remnant price tags on different lengths of ribbon.

"Who—me?" answered the young woman at the lace with the extremely blonde hair. "Why?"

"Oh, I didn't know," rejoined the girl at the ribbons. "Of course there was Christmas. You might have had it ever since then and I not noticed it. I only asked."

"Whatever are you talking about?" cried the girl at the lace with elaborate carelessness. "Really, Julia M'ree, I don't see how you expect folks to understand you when you don't talk plain!"

"I never was any hand to crowd in," explained the girl at the ribbons. "If my friends can't tell me things I never did like to be curious about other people's business and you know it. Only I thought I'd ask. Diamond rings don't grow on bushes for the picking! You can't blame a person for noticing a headlight like that!"

"Oh!" said the girl at the lace with a faint blush. "I didn't know you had seen it. I couldn't imagine what you meant. Goodness—why make a fuss over a simple thing like that?"

The girl pinning ribbons gave a sort of choked cry. "Simple!" she echoed. "Well, diamonds aren't so terribly simple. You talk as though you used them instead of gravel for your walks around your paternal estate. Hattie Doggett!"

"Better! I am chosen to put on airs that's their own affair! Only my father is a city official instead of just a clerk like yours. He's a policeman, and he's taught us not to put on dog! Just remember, he says to us often, 'that people will find out fast enough the position I hold without you kids boasting about it and don't act as though you were better'n other folks! Be kind to them!'"

"None of our family would go around pretending diamonds was the dirt under our feet, though the land knows we could have diamonds if we wanted 'em! Not that we'd be so foolish as to spend hard earned money for foolishness like that!"

"I think," said the extremely blonde young woman at the lace, "that you are very sensible, Julia M'ree. Land knows when a girl is so homely she hasn't any chance of marrying she is wise to save up for her old age! Not that I'm saying I bought my ring myself!"

"I don't suppose you did!" said her friend. "I never supposed you ever saw so much money at one time in your life! It's awful, being so impudent! Well, if you didn't buy it suppose some one gave it to you—and I must say that what any girl can see in that sappy, weak-eyed pinhead of a Percy Fox that floorwalks in the next aisle but one is beyond me! I'm sorry for the girl that ties up to him—a two room flat for her for the rest of her life!"

"Ye-es," agreed the blonde young woman at the lace, languidly. "I don't think much of Percy myself."

"Oh!" said the girl at the ribbons, somewhat blankly. "When he didn't give it to you? I don't like to pry, but I must say I have my opinion of a girl who keeps her affairs from her best friends and never talks about her steady company. I've told you all about Oscar long ago, and you never saying a word! Any child would know that a fellow who gives a girl a diamond ring expects to marry her! I don't suppose I'll even be invited to the wedding! Not that I care—but I must say it's a shabby way to treat an old friend!"

"I don't want you to think I care in the least, Hattie Doggett, about your affairs! I don't want to know about your feehonny, for he's not of the slightest consequence to me! I have plenty of interesting things happening to myself to take up my time. Only a girl can't be very proud of a man she's ashamed to talk about even if he can afford to give her diamond rings, which isn't saying they're in good taste when they're as big as a chunk of ice!"

"You make me laugh," said the blonde young woman, turning her hand so that the stone in question caught the rays of the arc light above. "It does sparkle, doesn't it? I'd just as soon tell you as not about the ring, Julia M'ree. My kid sister got it in a stocking full of candy and popcorn, and truck at a party and maybe it cost 10 cents. I wore it just for fun."

"Hm!" suspiciously sniffed the girl who was pinning tags on ribbons. "Why didn't you say so before? I don't believe you at all, Hattie Doggett—and I bet you're ashamed of him!"

Dead Joke.
Orville Wright said in Dayton of his stabilizer:

"With my stabilizer an airman won't need to think about his balance any more than an automobilist thinks about his. This will not only make for comfort. It will make for safety. There will be no more aeroplane jokes as Golde's.

"Old Gobbs Golde was informed by his wife that Scattergood, their son, wanted to take up flying.

"Send the boy in here to me with a sledhammer. I'll break his arms and a leg and half a dozen ribs, and knock out an eye and a row of teeth. That'll be just the same thing as flying, and it'll save us about $10,000."

Enthusiasm.
Enthusiasm is faith in action. "Faith believeth in all things." Enthusiasm puts that belief to the test. The enthusiast believes that the thing can be done; he has faith to believe that it ought to be done; he has enthusiasm to do it. To the unthinking, enthusiasm is but the foam on the deeply stirred waters. In truth, it is the striving of the waters themselves. It is the very life of effort.—From "The Power of Mental Demand," by Herbert Edward Law.

CAROLINA MAN WITH PUZZLING STOMACH DISEASE WINS RELIEF

W. R. Davenport of Parker Better After First Dose of Remedy

W. R. Davenport of Parker, N. C., long suffered from a peculiar malady of the stomach. He sought treatment with but little relief. At times it seemed that he would have to give up hope. He took Mayor's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and found immediate benefit. He wrote:

"For years I have suffered from a disease which puzzled doctors. They termed it catarrh of the stomach, saying the only hope would be a change of climate, and that in all probability I would never get well. Then I heard of your remedy. One trial bottle gave me instant relief. It made me feel like a new man. Your full course of treatment has about cured me. Several of my friends have also been cured."

Thousands of others suffering from maladies of the stomach have found relief as quickly as Mr. Davenport did. This remarkable remedy is known all over the country. The first dose proves—no long treatment.

Because of the remarkable success of this remedy there are many imitations, so be cautious. Be sure it's MAYR'S. Go to Pickens Drug Co. and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing in cases they know of—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 124-150 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill.
