The latest joke: International law.

The old box scores look pretty good, don't they?

"Plenty of money," says a headline. Lead us to it!

All Fool's day. Look out for the practical joker!

Today is April 1. Which should bring forth many flowers.

Is money contagious? Some people take it from others, anyhow!

Sarah Bernhardt has recovered and America didn't get to send its farewell to 'er.

"Elevating the Negro"—headline in Greenville News. Rope, education, or work?

Don't forget that now is a good time to swat the pesky fly; also swat the fly-breeding places.

The title of the latest song hit by REG is said to be "I didn't raise my ante 'cause I couldn't."

Keep the South's money in the South by patronizing the home merchants. In other words, be loyal.

Now that Governor Manning has appointed his military staff, European nations and Mexico should have a care!

Dull business has changed it from "eat, drink and be merry" to "sit, think and be weary."—Belton Journal. Well, why don't you advertise?

Col. William Banks of the Columbia Record is kicking because preachers do not pray for newspaper editors. Maybe since moving back to Columbia the Colonel feels the need of prayer more than when he resided in the Piedmont.

Some of the newspapers published in other counties are presuming to advise the people of Anderson county as to how they should vote on the good roads bond issue. The people of the county will probably vote just as they please.—Anderson Mail. That's the stumpy, Browne, old scout; tell it to 'em. Let every man vote as he pleases on every question.

When a man is doing well and making a good living for himself and those dependent on him, and perhaps making a little extra money, you never hear him proclaiming it from the housetops; but just let him strike what he thinks is a streak of hard luck and you will hear him holler to beat the band. Why not praise the good times as well as complain about the hard ones?

The Anderson Intelligencer wants to annex Clemson College and parts of Pickens and Oconee counties to Anderson county. Anderson county is already larger than either Pickens or Oconee county, but it's just like some people to want to hog everything in sight. We do not believe we want to get mixed up with that bunch in Anderson that wants to run everything, and if we are not mistaken the Oconee people voted against it the only time they ever got the chance.

Miss Mary Johnson, whoever she is, has got it about right when she says: "We are the only race that preys upon its young. The birds feed their nestlings. The lions and wolves go out and hunt food for their cubs. But we put our young children, before their bones have hardened, into the jungle of labor and bid them bring us meat." A manufacturing concern in Gastonia, N. C., paid a dividend of 85 per cent on $180,000 recently, and two-thirds of the workers who helped to make such dividends possible were children—boys and girls—who should have been in school having a play hour occasionally before they forget how to play. What crimes are committed in the name of dividends!

Our Weekly Riddle—What is a sure sign of an early spring? It is a cat watching a hole in the wall with her back up.

Some More History of Old Pickens District

By N. BOONE CARRY

WILLIAM L. KEITH was the first clerk of the court of common pleas for Old Pickens district, served twenty-eight years consecutively and died in office. He was very popular and a remarkable man—was never defeated for any office though often opposed by good and strong men. He was the father of our late brilliant W. C. Keith, who will be remembered by many of your readers as one of the best lawyers in the upper part of the State. There was another son, Elliott M., also a lawyer, who is said to have been no less brilliant and able than W. C. Besides these there were Thomas, John and Marvin. The first two died or were killed in our civil war, the latter having died in Mississippi several years ago. There were two daughters, Mrs. Mary Towns and Mrs. Eliza Earle, both now of Greenville. Many descendants of the Keith family are living in Pickens, Greenville, Anderson and Oconee counties and are among the most respectable and influential citizens of their respective counties.

Col. Keith was succeeded in the clerk's office by James E. Hagood, who is well remembered by many of us as a most efficient officer, kind and genial gentleman. He represented the county of Pickens one or two terms in the legislature and for many years was clerk of the United States district court of South Carolina. He died a few years ago. He was the father of W. M. Hagood and James E. of Easley, B. A. Hagood of Charleston, and Mrs. Mary Alexander of Pickens. All have succeeded well in life. Mr. Hagood was the last clerk of the old district, so it will be seen there were only two clerks during the existence of the district.

I have heard my mother say that in the early days of Old Pickens there stood a pillory and public whipping post on the public square where certain malefactors were punished for their misdeeds. I sometimes think this method of punishment would be more effective in preventing crime than that of the present day.

Within a mile of the old court house site there is a small plot of ground called the "gallows lot," where those condemned to death were publicly hanged. Several were there publicly executed without any of the privacy or electrical refinement of the present day. Criminals were punished in those days—jurors were not so merciful and governors so tender-hearted as some have been since. The negroes of that community say the "gallows lot" is "haunted" and carefully avoid it at night. Chickens roosts and watermelons near there would be secure.

Could Not Do Without It

Mr. Hiott: Enclosed you will find check for one dollar for which you will please continue to send my paper. Please send me a receipt.

I could not do without The Sentinel at all. I like to hear from my old home county every week.

Tell all the boys that I am getting along alright and having a nice business at the Equinox mill store. A. E. MULL, Anderson, S. C.

On the Job

The recent activity of office-seekers causes the Newberry Observer to get off the following: Dear Governor:

Noticing that my friend John Smith is not looking quite as spry as usual, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for his office if he should happen to drop off. I voted for you in the primary.

Very respectfully,
EARLY BYRD.

The four leading clubs of Columbia, the Metropolitan, Elks, Columbia and Ridgewood have abandoned the locker system and are said to be complying with the "gallon-a-month" law. According to reports all clubs in the state which formerly handled alcoholic beverages have ceased the practice since March 12.

SALMAGUNDI

Swat the fly till you get tired; but unless you keep your premises clean there will be no use to swat.

Three state organizations of Masons—chapter, council and commandery—are to meet in Greenville, April 13 and 14.

The annual reunion of the Confederate veterans of South Carolina is to be held in Columbia on April 22 and 23.

Last Saturday, 20th, was a beautiful day—that is, the ground was covered with the "beautiful" for a short while.

The constitution has nothing to do with the case when a politician wants a job—even if he has to help make the job for himself.

Now that Anderson has voted to issue bonds to the amount of $100,000 for street improvement, perhaps she will loan us that split-log drag.

In order to keep away the flies this summer premises with stables and pigpens should be cleaned often—the oftener the better. An ounce of prevention counts more than a million swats.

The week between April 5 and 11 has been designated by Governor Manning as "cleanup week" in all of the towns in South Carolina, and let us hope Pickens will not make a farce of it.

In the case of Mr. Johnson, if the constitution were followed, he would be ineligible to be judge of the new western judicial district. But, as the Newberry Observer puts it, "What's the constitution among friends?"

Greenville News says whiskey is quoted at $1.25 a pint in that city since the gallon-a-month liquor law went into effect. There is none in Pickens at any price, so the Morally Stunted say.

Since the gallon-a-month liquor law became effective there is a noticeable absence of empty whiskey bottles to clutter up the vacant lots and alleys. After "cleanup week" there should be none in evidence at all.

Over two hundred saloons in New Orleans have gone out of business for the want of patronage. If "hard times" does that well for prohibition they should pray for more of it, instead of asking for laws that can or will not be enforced.

Billy Sunday has refused an invitation to go to Paris, France, to carry on a religious revival. He says there is "hell enough in this country" to keep him busy. Billy is right, only he might have added, "And then some."

Music Hath Charms

The Youth's Companion tells a story of a young man in Madrid, Spain, back in 1868, who succeeded in subduing a mad-dened mob by getting a band of musicians together and parading the streets, playing rag-time pieces and popular national airs, and when the mob tired of this the young man mounted goods boxes and told funny tales to the populace. By nightfall the mob subsided and went home and to bed. The charms of music is thus shown: it makes one's mind forget the turmoil and strife of the present. That young man, who was only 22 years old, did more good in his night's work than all the crowned heads of Europe are doing today. The only music the poor devils in the trenches hear is that made by the roar of cannon, the scream of shell, and the moans of the dying and wounded; while at the homes they left so short a while ago there is no music save that of the weeping mothers and the crying of the half-starved children. For be it known that thousands in Europe are at starvation's door, and yet the war is less than a year old. Yes, war is

Death at Central

Mrs. Nancy Catherine Ramseur, wife of the late Vardy McBee Ramseur, and mother of Arthur Ramseur, who was well known in railroad circles and whose death occurred two years ago, died at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ramseur, postmistress at Central, on Tuesday, March 23. Mrs. Ramseur was born in Lincoln county, North Carolina, October 19, 1826. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Ramseur, and five grandsons—Ralph, James, Vardy, Arthur and Walter Ramseur. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Central.

Death of W. H. Carey

William Henry Carey died at his home in Honea Path on March 28, after a protracted illness. The body was carried to Seneca, his old home, and interred in the cemetery there after funeral services conducted by his pastor, Rev. E. S. Reaves of Honea Path, and Rev. T. M. Galphin of Seneca.

The deceased was born at Old Pickens, April 8, 1853. His brothers were John C. Carey, deceased, James P. Carey of Pickens, N. Boone Carey and Frank M. Carey of Seneca, Z. G. Carey of North Carolina and L. W. Carey, deceased. He had one sister, Mrs. Pickens Huffman, deceased, November 4, 1880, he was married to Miss Sallie A. Peritt of Greenville, who survives him. Of this union there are four children who survive their father, L. R. Carey, of Paris, Texas; Mrs. Joe McConahey, of Lenoir, N. C.; Miss Winona Carey of Honea Path and Harry W. Carey of Charleston.

The deceased joined the Baptist church at Elberton, Ga., in 1884. He had been a resident of Honea Path for three years and was engaged in the cotton brokerage business, associated with his brother, F. M. Carey. Mr. Carey was a man of unquestioned business integrity and was held in high esteem by all who knew him.

Fire at Six Mile

Samuel J. Watson, a prosperous farmer of the Six Mile section of Pickens county, lost ten bales of cotton by fire Sunday night. Twenty bushels of peas, much fodder and a new buggy were also destroyed, the total loss amounting to something like $1,000 with no insurance. Though he can't tell till the cotton is picked over, Mr. Watson thinks he will be able to save some of the cotton, probably three or four bales. It is not known how the blaze originated. Farm and Factory.

Prohibition Rally

As we are to vote on statewide prohibition next September we ought to have a rally at the court house in the near future and organize our county so that a very thorough campaign may be made before the election. Of course we will carry this county for prohibition, but we want every vote we can get to make the victory the greatest ever won. Think about it and listen for the call to come to the rally.
