Prohibition Rally

There will be a prohibition rally at Lawrence Chapel next Sunday, September 12 at 11 a. m. The Sunday School will render songs and recitations, and prominent speakers will make addresses. We want everybody to come and bring somebody with you. South Carolina is going dry on the 14th, we of Pickens want our county to do her part. Everybody come. ELZIE MYERS.

Mt. Carmel News Notes

Mr. Leigh Hunt and family spent a while in Asheville last week, making the trip in his Ford touring car. They drove about 150 miles in one day, returning by way of Spartanburg.

On account of the inclement weather last Saturday the crowd attending the W. O. W. picnic was not as large as was expected, but there were some 250 or 300 people present, which was good considering the unfavorable circumstances. Sovereigns John M. Daniel, of Greenville, and Sam B. Craig and D. W. Hiott, of Pickens, delivered the addresses of the day. Clerk L. L. Smith of the local camp presided. There was plenty to eat, as is always the case at Mt. Carmel.

Mr. Bird Hunt, of San Antonio, Texas, is visiting friends and relatives in this section. He has been in Oconee and Greenville counties since May and will spend some time in Pickens, saving the best until last. Mr. Hunt is a native of this section and is in his seventieth year. He is totally blind, but his conversation sparkles with humor and his wit is keen.

Mr. Frank Lenhardt has returned from a month's trip in the West. He attended the exposition and visited many other places of interest, including Yellowstone Park. Mr. Lenhardt was impressed with the farm lands. He saw fields containing thousands of acres of land, yielding from 50 to 100 bushels of wheat to the acre. But he says there are some mountains in the West and that ours are only hills compared with the Rockies.

The new fire-proof vault built for the safekeeping of valuable papers of Pickens county was finished last week and is now in use. It is built to the rear end of the court house, is roomy, of the most modern kind and supplies a much needed want. On the completion of the vault the office of the clerk of court was moved from its old quarters to the room formerly used by the supervisor and commissioners, so as to be convenient to the papers kept in the vault, and Pickens county can now boast of one of the best and most conveniently arranged clerk of court offices, as well as the best clerk of court, in the state. The county supervisor and commissioners will use the rooms vacated by the clerk. Now when you want to go to the office of the clerk of court walk in at the front door and keep going until you can't get any farther; when you want to go to the supervisor's office turn to the first door on your left as you go in.

A Pretty Wedding

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was the marriage last Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock of Miss Kiziah Louise McDaniel to Mr. George E. Holly at the suburban home of the bride's father, Mr. J. H. G. McDaniel.

The house was tastefully decorated with ferns and other potted plants. To the familiar strains of the wedding march Miss Feddie McDaniel, gowned in a beautiful white embroidered chiffon, carrying a lovely bouquet of white carnations, took her place beside an improvised altar, on which burned many white candles in a crystal candelabra. The bride, attired in a handsome tailor-made suit and hat of becoming dark blue, entered on the arm of the groom and took their place in front of the altar.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. D. W. Hiott, while the soft strains of Schubert's Adieu were being rendered. Only a few relatives and close friends were invited. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Matheny, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Mauldin, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. McDaniel, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cureton, Mr. and Mrs. G. Moore of Forest City, N. C., J. H. G. McDaniel, Jr., Miss Clara Smith, Miss Elinor Knight.

Mrs. Holly is the seventh daughter of our postmaster and the groom is a member of the city detective force of Atlanta. Many friends congratulate the happy couple and wish for them a long, happy and useful life.

After September 15 they will be at home at 234 E. Georgia avenue, Atlanta.

Avery Looper, well known and popular all over Pickens county, has resigned his position with C. D. Stradley & Co. of Greenville and accepted a position with Hobbs-Henderson Co. of that city. He will take up his new duties September 10 and will be glad to have his Pickens county friends call on him when in Greenville.

When W. T. Garrett of Greenville tried to ford Whitewater river with an automobile near Hinkle's last Wednesday he got stuck, and but for the help of Dover Hinkle and some of his friends Garrett says his car would have been in the river yet. He wishes to publicly thank Mr. Hinkle and the other gentlemen who so kindly and ably helped him out. He was driving an Imperial car and says it will do anything but swim.

Pickens County Items

Vote next Tuesday, September 14, for prohibition. We believe it will be for the best interests of your county and your fellow-man.

Clemson College will open Wednesday, September 8. Only old students will report opening day, new students reporting about the 11th. A great many Pickens county boys attend Clemson.

We regret to learn of the death of Nathaniel Duncan, a Confederate veteran, which occurred at his home about three miles north of Easley. Funeral services were conducted at Cedar Rock church Sunday by his pastor, Rev. J. D. Holler.

Work will soon begin on the double tracking of the Southern railway between Greenville and Central and officials of the railway have stated that the new track will run parallel with the old one thru Easley and on practically the same grade as now.

"Uncle Dan" Winchester, a good farmer and substantial citizen, from the Sun Set section of the county, was a business visitor to our city Tuesday, and while in town made The Sentinel a pleasant call. We are glad to see Mr. W. looking so well.

H. N. Fortner, a native of Pickens county, but for the past six years an inmate of the Old Soldiers' Home, in Columbia, died there last Wednesday from a stroke of paralysis. His body was brought to Pleasant Grove church and interred after funeral services conducted by Rev. J. E. Foster.

Next Sunday, September 12, at 8 p. m., the Fant-Durham meeting will begin in a large tent near the court house. Mr. Fant is the christian engineer of the Southern railway. Prof. John A. Durham is the sweet gospel singer well remembered by many of our people. Everybody invited to attend every service they can. All christians are earnestly requested to pray for God's richest blessings upon the meeting. Come to hear, to sing, to pray and to help in every way possible to make the meeting a glorious success.

Hogwallow, Oconee Co., News

Fletcher Henstep is going to get his wife a new dress this year if he has any money left after paying his dog tax.

Sam Craig of Pickens spent Monday here on the creek banks fishing, and while he did not catch any, all the fish were very tired when night came, after trying to keep from being caught by such a shrewd fisherman.

Clab Hancock, who is the owner of a new pair of square rimmed spectacles, will get rid of them the next time the Tin Peddler comes, as his mule does not show up just exactly right through them.

Miss Flutie Belcher has ordered some perfume. This time she chose banana flavor, as she tired of strawberry.

Fit Smith nearly caught several large fish at the Gander Creek bridge Monday.

The Old Miser of Musket Ridge went fishing last week for the first time this season. He could have gone earlier in the season but desired to wait until the fish got larger.

At Tickville Monday night a gentleman lectured on "World Wide Peace." He had a large and intelligent audience which sat spellbound until the middle of the discourse, when somebody started a fight outside the door.

Raz Barlow, who has a high standing in social circles in this community, and who has been qualified to go with any girl he wanted to, is losing his popularity, since paying several visits to other neighborhoods in the last few Sundays.

The Blind man of the Calf Ribs neighborhood went to the depot at Tickville this week to hear the train come in.

The Prohibition Rally

The most successful prohibition rally ever held in Pickens county, and probably in the Piedmont section, was held at Pickens last Thursday, September 2.

The crowd numbered about one thousand people, the order was practically perfect, the speaking was extremely good, the people were enthusiastic, the dinner was all that could be wished, and the day was well nigh perfect for the occasion.

A good sized crowd of ladies, gentlemen and small Sunday school children met the early morning train to meet the Easley band and Will D. Upshaw, the principal speaker of the day. Preceded by the band playing a popular air the crowd, flying prohibition banners, marched up the street to the court house grove where the meeting was to take place. Rev. D. W. Hiott, who led the successful fight against the dispensary in Pickens county years ago, presided and called the meeting to order. Rev. J. C. Bailey, pastor of the Presbyterian church, opened with prayer.

Collie Sealorn, the boy orator of Pickens was the first speaker to be introduced and he added to his growing list of successful efforts. He made a fine speech, said a whole lot of good things and knew when to quit, which is not the least accomplishment a speaker may have.

Lieutenant-governor Bethea was unable to be present on account of the illness of his mother, and W. C. Mann, of Six Mile, another Pickens county bred orator and a student of the University of South Carolina, was introduced and held the attention of the crowd with a pleasing speech. He also said a lot of good things and, tho called on unexpectedly, his demeanor was that of a veteran.

Will D. Upshaw, of Atlanta, famous throuth the nation as a prohibition speaker, was next introduced and held the undivided and sympathetic attention of the crowd from the time he uttered the first word until he finished. Seldom, if ever, has a speaker been to Pickens who could so hold the attention and interest of the people as this "Georgia Cyclone." His anecdotes were irresistible, his logic convincing, his arguments unanswerable and his style pleasing.

Between each speech the ladies and children sang prohibition songs, and after the last speech Rev. J. E. Wiggins, pastor of the Methodist church, led in prayer.

About one o'clock dinner was announced and everybody present was ready and prepared for this part of the program. And, in the parlance of the street, take it from us, it was some dinner. We, along with many others, had an idea that you couldn't have a good picnic in town, because town people didn't know how to fix 'em up like they do out in the country. But, as Goldberg would say, "We're cured." Never before have we seen so large a crowd fed so systematically, well and without confusion. The ladies should have some extra thanks for this part of the program.

The Easley mill band was here to furnish the music which they did to the great delight of all. This band made a good reputation here when it played for the old soldiers' reunion and added to it Thursday.

The arranged program was finished with the dinner, but the people were so well pleased with everything and so enthusiastic that they clamored for some more, and the morning program was repeated in the afternoon.

Those responsible for this meeting should feel themselves well repaid for their trouble and they have the congratulations and thanks of all visitors for their untiring and well-directed efforts. Before dispersing the large crowd unanimously voted its thanks to the ones responsible for the day's entertainment.

Prohibition sentiment is stronger in Pickens county now than before this meeting.
