PICKENS, S. C., NOVEMBER 11, 1915

Number 27

Mt. Carmel Dots

Mr. Editor: We have been so busy gathering up the fruits of our labors that we have neglected to let you hear from this side of the county.

This fine autumn weather has made things pretty interesting and stirring for the farmers. The sowing of the small grain crop is now in order, as the cotton crop will soon be all gathered, be the crop large or small, but short, we think.

We are glad to hear of the old-time corn shuckings again, as that means bread at home.

The young people seem to be enjoying the long winter evenings recently with singings and candy pullings.

The good congregation at Mt. Carmel Sunday morning heard a most forcible sermon by Pastor Hiott.

Mrs. Brown and Miss Nannie Miller of Travelers Rest attended church at Mt. Carmel Sunday morning and took dinner with Mrs. L. L. Smith.

A number of the young people attended the singing convention at Mt. Tabor Sunday evening and report a good time.

Victor Latham is all smiles recently. The cause is a big boy.

The county commissioners have done a good thing in building a good bridge at what is known as the Machine ford near Mrs. Thomas.

The Cross Plains W. O. W. Camp have added a whole lot to the appearance of their hall by putting on a nice coat of paint.

Six Mile Notes

Prof. J. L. Willis preached at Mountain View last Saturday and Sunday.

Misses Nell Crawford and Lantha Casey spent the weekend with their parents near Westminster.

A. D. Mann gave a cotton picking Saturday. The teachers and pupils of the academy were there and everybody enjoyed themselves, especially at dinner and supper.

The school will give a play, "The Mishaps of Minerva," Friday, November 12. Admission 10 and 15 cents.

There will be a mock trial given at Six Mile Baptist academy Friday night, Nov. 12. Charles Atkinson, lawyer for the plaintiff and M. J. Stansell for the defendant. GRAY EYES.

"Green" McLeskev, formerly a citizen of Pickens, but now in business at Spartanburg, suffered a fractured arm and severe bruises about the face and shoulder one day last week when he fell from the top of a one-story building in Spartanburg. He and several others were watching an airship flight when he accidentally stepped off of the building.

Pumpkintown News

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Welborn visited the former's parents at their home near Pickens from Saturday afternoon until Monday of last week.

W. F. Hendricks, a well known lumber man of the Oolenoy section, is moving his saw mill to W. D. Hendricks' place, where he has bought a large boundary of timber.

B. F. Hendricks came near losing the sight of one of his eyes Saturday, October 31, by some foreign particle becoming lodged in his eye. The particle stuck fast to the pupil, and not until Sunday did he succeed in removing it.

It is stated that Ray Lynch, former telephone operator at Pickens, was injured recently in a runaway accident, badly breaking his teeth.

Waterworks at Oolenoy

Oolenoy.—Our energetic citizen, W. E. Edens, Jr., has recently added to the value and convenience of his home by placing thereon a system of waterworks. The plant is operated by means of an overshot water wheel. The spring from which the water is brought is located 1200 feet from the residence, the height to an elevation of 100 feet. The dwelling is supplied with water direct from the spring, the surplus overflowing into a cement tank; from thence to barn, bathroom, lawn, etc. Mr. Edens is the pioneer along this line in his community. And to thinking people this has a broader value than to the mere individual. It means that others will follow the example or perhaps some inventive mind will improve on his plan. Many streams which hitherto have flowed idly and unconfined, the haunts of the barefoot boy, will be harnessed by the power of invention and brought to convenient places for use.

The work has attracted much attention. The spirit is contagious. The heaven is working.

A. D. Oliphant, assistant secretary of the state board of charities and corrections, recently paid a visit to the penal and charitable institutions of Pickens county. He spent a day in Pickens inspecting the county jail and almshouse and from here went on a visit to the county chaingang camp, which is now located near Calhoun, and where Supervisor Craig has a force at work on a repair job at Ravenel's bridge. Mr. Oliphant said he was pleased with conditions at the jail and suggested several improvements at the poorhouse. He also let it be known that he was pleased at the consent of Capt. J. T. Taylor of Pickens to act as chairman of the local committee which is expected to visit these institutions at different times.

Mrs. B. P. Martin, formerly of Pickens, has opened a first-class rooming house at No. 214 East Washington street in Greenville and will be glad to have Pickens county people stop at her house when in Greenville for one or several nights.

Liberty Homecoming

The homecoming at the First Baptist church of Liberty last Saturday was an enjoyable occasion, especially to this scribe. I was pastor there more than thirty years ago when the church was weak and struggling for existence and meeting in an old, dilapidated building three-quarters of a mile from town. I looked back over the past and I could but say, "What God hath wrought." Now they have a beautiful and costly church building, a strong and vigorous membership and a well organized church and Sunday school with bright prospects for the future. Rev. T. M. Galphin is the pastor. He is one of the ablest preachers in the state. The only mistake the church is now making and suffering is that she does not build Galphin a parsonage, move him into it, pay him a good salary and have preaching every Sunday, as they ought to do and as they are abundantly able to do. D. W. H.

In the football game between Cumberland (Tenn.) University and the University of South Carolina played in Columbia Saturday Colie Seaborn of Pickens was a star, making one run for 60 yards and a touchdown and several other good gains. The final score was 68 to 0 in favor of Carolina. This is Seaborn's first year at the University and he is a substitute player now, but barring accidents next year will see him ranked with the best players in the state. Casey Porter of Pickens and Bill Folger of Easley are also members of this team and considered among the best.

Pickens Man Died in Greenville

Mr. James Nally, for the past several years a resident of Woodside mill, died at the Greenville hospital Sunday afternoon after an illness of several months, age 24 years.

A native of Pickens county, Mr. Nally removed to Greenville several years ago, and being a young man of sterling character had made many friends while living here.

Mr. Nally is survived by a wife and one child. He has numerous relatives in this and Pickens counties.

The funeral services were held at his late residence, No. 6 Sixth street, Woodside mill, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Interment was held at Georges Creek church Monday at 12 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Washington of the Woodside church officiating.—Greenville Daily News.

A wedding of interest occurred at the home of the brides parents in Easley, Thursday afternoon, when Miss Bessie Jones eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones became the wife of Mr. O. M. Howard of Greenville. Rev. J. D. Holler pastor of the bride officiated. They will make their home in Greenville.

Mr. P. D. Dacus of Sugar Valley, Ga., formerly of this county, spent the past week in the city with his son, Jule B. Dacus, who is recovering from a four weeks' illness of typhoid fever. He returned Monday, carrying his son with him, who will spend a month or more at his father's home recuperating.—Easley Progress.

Pickens County Items

Montvale school will begin its winter term Monday, November 15, with Misses Ruth Cannon and Minnie Herd as teachers.

Mrs. Mary Geer of Belton died Saturday at the advanced age of 84 years. She was the mother of John M. Geer, president of the Easley cotton mill.

Miss Cantrell, an aged lady who lived with her brother John in Rocky Bottom, died last week. The burial was held at Mountain Grove church Saturday.

Mrs. Alice Woodson died at her home in the Six Mile section Tuesday night, November 2. She is survived by her husband, D. H. Woodson and eight children. She was a native of Anderson county.

The fourth quarterly conference of the Pickens Methodist church will be held at the church, beginning at 3.30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. All officers are urged to be present and everybody will be welcome.

E. H. Craig of Pickens sent two of his Rhode Island Reds to the Greenville poultry show last week and won 1st and 2nd prizes in the only event in which they were entered. Pickens chickens of all kinds are hard to beat.

Martin graded school will begin its regular winter term Monday, November 22, instead of November 15, as was first intended. Patrons of the school are asked and urged to gather at the school house Saturday, November 20, and get the building in shape for the opening.
