

FAIR VISITORS HAD MONEY

Spent Liberally in Columbia.—People From All Over State Seemed to Be in Good Condition.

Columbia.—It was estimated that the 100,000 visitors to the state fair and harvest jubilee spent altogether $500,000 during the week. This estimate is considered conservative. All concerns in Columbia report excellent business for the week.

While no definite figures are obtainable it is practically certain that the state fair society was left in a better financial condition than at any other time in its history. The railways hauled many thousands of extra passengers.

The automobile owners who placed their cars temporarily in public service reaped a golden harvest. Many cars made as high as $5 for a single trip to the fair grounds. Practically every street car in Columbia was crowded. On "Big Thursday" it was estimated that the street railway hauled more than 50,000 passengers.

Restaurants hotels and boarding houses were crowded throughout the week. A register was unnecessary at most of the larger hotels because reservations had been made a week in advance. The information bureau made up a list of several hundred private home owners, each of whom entertained five to ten visitors. The prices were kept down during the week and few reports of overcharging were recorded.

The foundation has been laid and now it seems that an even greater harvest jubilee will be held next year. Some Columbians were skeptical of the ambitious plans proposed by the jubilee committee and were disposed to hide criticism. Now these citizens are heart and soul for the jubilee and will lend their assistance next year.

The committee will keep the people of the state in touch with the plans for next year as they progress. The booster trips will be revived next summer and several special "stunts" will be put on. The jubilee committee will probably go to Charleston for the annual meeting of the Southern Commercial congress.

Gaffney Wants White Way.
Gaffney.—A petition is being circulated in Gaffney which when signed by a majority of the freeholders will be presented to the board of public works, asking that body to erect a white way in the town. It is being freely signed and it is believed that the board will grant the request. The paving on Limestone street is making satisfactory progress and Postmaster Gaffney is in receipt of advices to the effect that the posts and boxes for the reception of mail have been shipped, and it is probable that at last Gaffney will have letter boxes—more than two years after free delivery of mails has been established.

Segregate Prisoners.
Lexington.—Charles E. Corley, supervisor of Lexington county, has inaugurated a new system of working county chaingang prisoners. Some weeks ago Supervisor Corley announced that he would segregate the prisoners working on the county roads by making two separate squads, one for the white convicts and another for the negroes. This is in keeping with the idea expressed by Albert D. Olliphant, assistant secretary of the state board of charities, who was in Lexington three weeks ago making an inspection of the chaingangs, the county jail and county alms house.

Fair Buildings Go Up.
Florence.—Work on the fair buildings and grounds is progressing. The main building is nearly ready for use. It is to be a very attractive as well as commodious building. W. P. Tennant, who secured the contract for the cattle pens, which will also be used for the stock market when that market opens in Florence in January, has started on the erection of those sheds and corals. They, too, will be ready for the opening of the fair. The fair will be held November 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Watches Aircraft; Gets Fall.
Spartanburg.—George B. McLeskey, head of a money loan business, fell from the roof of a two-story building here, sustaining a broken arm and other injuries. He was watching an airship passing over the city from the fair grounds.

Saying Farewell to the Pet

There is a dawning in the sky
Which doth a world of fate imply,
And on each casual passing face
A look expectant you may trace.
The signs the veteran turkey sees
And with a deep and mournful sigh
He calls his numerous family nigh
And murmurs, pointing to the trees,
"Roost high, my little ones, roost high."
—Eugene Field.

Gratitude

I AM thankful that I have the power to feel the glorious sunshine or the gray rain. My heart fills with joy that I can see the leaves and the sky and hear the music of the brook. Grateful am I that I can appreciate the height of the mountain or steeples and the depth of the shadows, and I am glad that I can be uncomformable in the intense heat or cold, for that means a joyous sense of relief when it comes.

WHICH one of us is not glad of the power to judge? From the many recurrent cases we can induce a rule, a law, a generality. And from this we can make applications to specific instances. Is it not wonderful, and are you not glad?

FOR my power to decide for myself I am thankful. My freedom of will is a precious jewel that I pray I may duly treasure. No one can say what I shall think, for that is my heritage. My thoughts concerning life, death and the hereafter, are mine, and I am glad.

THEN there is this country in which I live. I am grateful that it is here, with water around it, and other lands on the east and west. The lure of the distant country will prevent us from a narrow insularity. I am glad that we can govern ourselves in matters that affect ourselves. I am filled with joy that men are born free and equal and can keep on living that way.

FOR the position of woman in this country may I ever be thankful. She is not the draft animal of the fields in some countries beyond. She is not the chattel of the middle ages. She is not the spineless creature that was a well-trained echo of another. A woman is the equal of man now, except at the polls. For small favors I am deeply grateful.

A NUMBER of institutions of learning are letting us in at the front doors. If I wish to study sociology or medicine or the languages, I am not beaten into a pulp by scornful deans. If I wish to write a book, I need not be ashamed and hide it under a sampler if I hear anyone coming. Thanks awfully!

GLAD am I that I can earn money to G clothes, feed and shelter myself. Father and mother should not support an adult woman until another man offers to take up the burden. I am not a hanger-on in the political economy march, and I give thanks.

O A power of self-expression let me never be forgetful. Let me be glad that I can sing when I feel like it, cry when I am inclined to, walk when I want to get away, play when I forget how old I am and write or draw or carve when the great impulse toward beauty stirs in my soul.

I AM thankful that at some times I can be extremely miserable. Psychologists tell us that that implies a power to be intensely happy. Think it over.

SPECIALLY glad am I for the year 1911. It is so much better than 1811. I am glad that I am living now. The heritage of the past is here. The greatness of science and art is too good to miss.

AND oh, how thankful I am that I can laugh! How much does a sense of humor ease the way! The happy phrase, the clever story, the quick parry and thrust—all are necessary to balance the heavy parts in the life play.

I AM grateful for the bumps that I have had in this life. The retort courteous, the cut direct, the infamous lie, the cruel knock—all have done something. The world is a great teacher.

FOR my friends, let my heart be at their ways grateful. One can't help relatives; a mere accident placed a great aunt in the same family, but friends are chosen. I am glad that I have dear, congenial souls on my visiting list.

MEMORY, my constant companion, makes me grateful. Whether it be a little verse of sunshine, a book, a play or some past joy or sorrow, I must give thanks for the gift of remembering. It doubles life.

AND I am glad that today I am not A fearful of the Great Beyond.
BARBARA LEE.

To the Harvest Lord.

Heap high the board with plenteous cheer and gather to the feast, and toast the sturdy Pilgrim band whose courage never ceases;
Give praise to that All-Gracious One by whom their steps were led,
And thanks unto the Harvest Lord who sends our daily bread.
—Alice Williams Brotherton.

Fortunate Americans.

When the American citizen looks abroad he feels inclined to give thanks for the possession of a system of government which, despite partisan differences, commands universal respect and confidence. The exceptionally high standard of intelligence which here prevails is a guaranty against sudden movements in opposition to the established order. The vast majority of the American people are capable of analyzing conditions. They keep in close touch with the affairs of the world and with the circumstances of their own land. They are growing steadily in political acumen and are becoming more and more efficiently independent in their determinations. With every peaceful political revolution they strengthen the national foundations by providing outlets for sentiments and dissatisfactions.

Mistake Too Many Make.

If, on this Thanksgiving season, you feel a great melancholy, a lack, a sense of loss or of life's injustices take this to heart: The cure for every loss and lack is in your own power. The great mistake of the whole world is the belief that some supernatural happiness comes with the money to buy and to do certain things. A year is a short time, but set out if you please, today, with the definite intention of finding by next November the secret of happiness.

ADMIRER MR. HARKINS' TASTE

Yet the Compliment Was One Which the Recipient Had to Take Time to Appreciate.

"John," said Mrs. Harkins, "I heard a nice compliment for you today."

Mr. Harkins put his paper down, twisted up the ends of his mustache, looked pleased, and said:

"Well, that's nothing so remarkable. I receive compliments nearly every day."

Mrs. Harkins went on sipping her tea, and her husband waited for her to resume. Finally, he said:

"Well, why don't you tell me what it was? Who was it that complimented me?"

"Oh, you couldn't guess in a week."

"Mrs. Deering?" he ventured.

"No."

"Not Bessie Fallington?" he rather eagerly suggested.

"No."

"Oh, well, of course if there's any secret about it, I don't care to hear what it was or who said it."

"There isn't any secret about it," Mrs. Harkins sweetly replied. "Mr. Hannaford told me that every time he and I met, he became more thoroughly convinced that you were a man of excellent taste."

John Harkins then shoved his hand down in his pockets and walked outside to think it over.

Men and Women

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is highly recommended by thousands.

Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that so many people say it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands of even the most distressing cases.

At Drugists in 50c. and $1.00 sizes. You may receive a sample size bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post, also a pamphlet telling you about it. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper.

I Recommend Peruna To All Sufferers Of Catarrh

I Do Not Think I Ever Felt Much Better

Mrs. William H. Hinckley, No. 20 Myrtle St., Beverly, Mass., writes: "I

Zeppelins or Spiders? A story is told of a young French woman who observed with punctiliousness the wartime precautions ordered by the police.

She kept the shutters closed at nightfall and the curtains pulled down, so that not a speck of light would escape from her apartments. But one night, when reading the newspaper, she said that she had reached the limit.

The newspapers said that if the Zeppelins came all persons must go into the cellars. She told her friends she would not go down into the cellar.

"I do not care a fig for the Zeppelins," she said. "It is no use asking me. I will not go down into the cellar."

"But why?" asked her friend. "Because," she replied, "I am afraid of spiders."

Phenomenal.
"Mrs. Bowers has a wonderful mind."

"What's wonderful about it?"

"Why, she's reading serial stories in six different magazines, and she never gets the plots or the characters mixed up."

Too Much Ham to Be Hungry.
An English town council, after a protracted sitting, was desirous of adjourning for lunch.

The proposition was opposed by the mayor, who thought that if his fellow officeholders felt the stimulus of hunger the dispatch of business would be much facilitated. At last a rather illiterate member got up and exclaimed:

"I am astonished, I am surprised, I am amazed, Mr. Mayor, that you will not let us go to lunch."

"And I am surprised," replied the mayor, "that a man who has got so much 'ham' in his mouth should want any lunch at all."
