And the Villa's still pursued.

Next stop: Easter Sunday, April 23.

This Col. Dodd-Col. Brown business sounds too much like a shoe advertisement to suit us.

A Mr. Graves is running for coroner of Anderson county. Sounds like he ought to have the job.

For a man with only one leg to run on, Villa is sure a spry old scout to be able to outrun two armies.

We have received some "home-made verse" from a valued contributor and will use it the first opportunity.

We are unable to answer the riddle propounded by "A Farmer" this week, and suggest that he enlighten us.

Query: If it will take 20,000 American soldiers to capture Villa, as Freddy Funston declares, how long will the European war last?

We had an idea all along that Mr. McLaurin was warehouse commissioner and not insurance commissioner and assistant governor.

Our advice about how to live a long time is to keep contented, but you will have to find out from some one else how to keep contented.

The Charleston baseball fans probably get little comfort from the fact that their team has a Pitcher Beers. It will no doubt be a great pleasure, however, for opposing players to "soak" him.

What we are worried about is how in the world Gary Hiott will ever get to York from Pickens. -Spartanburg Journal. Well, Haroldine, old scout, you have nothing on us. We've been worrying about the same thing.

Among the many newspaper changes in the South recently the most notable one is that of the Charlotte Observer, one of Dixie's best dailies. W. B. Sullivan, formerly publisher of the Columbia Record, and another newspaper man of Knoxville, Tenn., have purchased the paper, acquiring all of the stock. The Observer has made many changes, but Col. Wade Harris will continue as editor-in-chief, while somewhere in the shuffle Coffin, the bright paragrapher of the Observer, is missing. Col. William Banks will remain editor of the Record.

The next meeting of the State Press association will be held at York, erst-while Yorkville, in June. We have never been to this old town, which is famous for its hospitality and said to be a delightful place, but we hope to be able to visit it this summer. Like Booker, we wonder how we will get there, but sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. We do not know exactly where York is located, but we believe it is somewhere beyond Blacksburg in the country of the Catawbas, situated near Watson Bell and surrounded by the York News, the Yorkville Enquirer and good people. If it's the place we think it is, we'll find it, D. V.

Today, April 13, is Thomas Jefferson's birthday. He was born at Shadwell, Virginia, April 13, 1743, 173 years ago, and died July 4, 1826, patriotic to the last. He was, as every school boy knows, the author of the Declaration of Independence, but many of them do not know that he was twice president of the United States, vice-president and secretary of state, governor of Virginia and father of the University of Virginia. He was a politician, amateur scientist, linguist, fiddler, mathematician, the inventor of the plow, now in use in all the civilized world, was the father of the idea which resulted in the invention of the reaper. He gave his ideas to the son of Cyrus McCormick, a blacksmith, and out of those ideas came the McCormick reaper, one of the greatest helps to agriculture ever known. But above all he was the great Democratic statesman who believed sincerely in the people and their right to rule themselves. "Jefferson Day" dinners will be held throughout the country today in his honor by all loyal Democrats, and by some who are not so loyal.

HEALTH HINT. -Don't use up your month's supply the first day.

A college boy we like is Johnny Speer; He doesn't wear his chapeau On his ear.

We Have a School Field Day

Nearly all the counties in the state except Pickens, Beaufort and Georgetown are going to have school field day exercises this year. And Pickens, Beaufort and Georgetown will probably adopt the custom as soon as they have schools. -Spartanburg Journal.

We wouldn't say that our good friend Booker is "off his nut," but he is very much mistaken if he thinks Pickens county doesn't have a field day for its children. Pickens was one of the pioneer counties in this work and doesn't arrange it as most of the other counties, because there is too much on the program each year to crowd into one day. Instead there is one night for the girls' declamation contest, one night for the boys' oratorical contest and one day for the field events. The girls' contest was held at Central last Friday night, the boys' contest will be held at Easley next Friday night and the field day exercises will be held at Easley Saturday of this week.

It will not be amiss to call Editor Booker's attention here to the fact that the champion team of last year's Pickens county field day went to Columbia a few weeks later and literally "cleaned up" the teams of forty-odd other schools, winning first place over teams from every section of the state. Oh, yes, we have school field day exercises, all right! There may be better or finer schools in other counties, but the products of the Pickens county schools take second place to none.

We hear a lot about the knockout power of Jess Willard's powerful right, but we know a fellow, Jno. B. Corn, who has a wallop that makes Willard's most hefty haymaker resemble a small piece of soft cotton.

"Why is it so few married women have the gum habit?" asks an exchange. Probably they have not yet learned the art of chewing gum and the rag at the same time.

To speak of our late "civil" war is right, compared to the one now going on across the water.

The reason Carranza doesn't find Villa, it seems, is because he hasn't lost him.

A POSITIVE STATEMENT BY A BIG BUSINESS MAN

"Neglect of Apparently Unimportant Conditions Wrecks Many a Healthy Growing Business"

W. S. ELKIN, JR.

A prominent druggist of Atlanta, Ga., is authority for the above positive statement. In explaining this statement he asked two questions and offered one suggestion.

If a growing healthy business turns and begins to run down hill, what is the condition of the owner's health? Almost always, unusually bad.

What was the first cause of his poor health? Constipation.

This constipation could have been avoided by taking Rexall Orderlies occasionally. They are a pleasant candy tablet laxative which can be used by men, women or children with the best results.

We have the exclusive selling rights for this great laxative.
