A Good Name is Rather to Be Chosen Than Great Riches

The following is an outline of the address delivered by Rev. D. W. Hiott at the dedication of the Mauldin Memorial Home at Connie Maxwell orphanage at Greenwood, September 2, 1916:

Solomon, the wisest man from a human standpoint—and under Divine inspiration—made that declaration, and it is true. How to make a good name to obey the word of God when it says "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." The man who makes money for money's sake, that he may hoard it or use it only for himself, is not wise. But the man who makes money and uses it for the good of others is acting wisely and making a good name.

Laban Mauldin did that. Seventy-four years ago, just on the Anderson and Pickens county line, a little boy was born. His father and mother were very poor people so far as property was concerned. This boy with several others had to work hard to help support the family. After crops were laid by he would go to school a few weeks at a time. In this way he learned to read, write and, as they called it then, cipher a little. He grew to young manhood, went to the Confederate service and served through the war in the famous Hampton Legion, serving as a corporal. After the war was over he returned to his home and married Miss Mollie Rogers, who proved an helpmeet indeed to him. They were both industrious and economical and after many years of earnest labor they accumulated a splendid property.

My acquaintance with Brother Mauldin and his wife began about 39 years ago when they were both young. I became pastor of Enon church in Pickens county where they were members. They were good, upright people but not active members of the church in the way of church work. The church had no Sunday school at this time, and I persuaded Bro. S. A. Gary and Bro. Laban Mauldin to undertake to carry on a Sunday school at the church. They both declared at first that they lived too far away, but I finally persuaded them to try it, which they did with wonderful success. Bro. Gary, who was converted at 9 years of age, was at this time fifty or fifty-five years old. He became so aroused in the work that at the age of 60 he was ordained to the ministry and baptized many into the fellowship of the churches which he served. He baptized one young boy who is now one of the leading preachers in Georgia, a trustee of Mercer University. I refer to Rev. James F. Singleton. Brother Mauldin was never ordained to the ministry but was ordained a deacon and was a great helper to his pastors. He went to nearly all of the Union Meetings and talked on Sunday schools and unions. He had no children of his own but took one of his wife's nieces and cared for her as his own, and she shared in his property at his death.

In his political life he served his county in the following offices: County commissioner, school commissioner and member of the legislature, and in all he was faithful.

When the orphanage was founded—24 years ago—he at once began to take an interest in it. He gave liberally to its support. He was elected a trustee of the Connie Maxwell orphanage and was a trustee at the time of his death.

He was for 9 years moderator of the Piedmont Association.

Many times in conversation with him during the later years of his life he told me that after he had prayed over it and thought over it he had decided to put his money into this Memorial Home in memory of his beloved wife.

Why do we build monuments? Sergeant Jasper's monument is built in memory of a heroic deed. The Confederate monument is built in memory of the fallen dead. This home will stand indefinitely and another one will be erected and so it will go on, providing shelter for the homeless for all time to come, in memory of a loving wife.

Connie Maxwell orphanage has its name and a large part of its property in memory of a beloved daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell.

Mrs. Hetty Green, the richest woman in this country, lost all her property because it was not invested for the Lord nor humanity.

Laban Mauldin saved his property because it was wisely invested for the Lord and helpless orphan child.

He sought the Lord in childhood— He served Him when a youth. He loved the Lord in manhood— He served Him in the truth.

He loved the Lord in old age And when his hair turned gray He gave the Lord all that he had And closed his eyes on earthly scenes And opened them in Heaven.

After the above address was delivered the dedication prayer was offered by Rev. H. K. Williams of Easley.

The following visitors attended from the Piedmont Association of which Mr. Mauldin was a member: Rev. H. K. Williams, Dr. W. R. Wyatt, Laban Rogers, Walter Evatt and two little daughters, Lois and Rosebud, Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Jameson, Senator W. T. O'Dell, W. C. O'Dell, Hon. J. Ashmore Hinton, Frank Hinton, B. D. Lenhardt and Virgil Rogers.

R. S. Lewis Dead

Mr. R. S. Lewis, a well-known and highly respected citizen of this county, died at his home six miles above Pickens, on the morning of September 4, after a long illness. He had not been out of the house in seven months. Had he lived 39 days more he would have celebrated his 85th birthday.

During young manhood he was married to Miss Elvira Gillespie. To this union thirteen children were born. The wife and one son, Jason, preceded him to the grave many years. He is survived by twelve children, three boys and nine girls, 69 grandchildren, 93 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild; also one brother and four sisters.

He was a devoted christian, having been a member of the Baptist church 61 years and a deacon 60 years.

As a Confederate soldier he is well remembered by his comrades for his bravery. He was badly wounded and sent home a few months before the surrender.

The funeral services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. B. C. Atkinson, Tuesday morning at Mountain Grove and the body laid to rest in the Mountain Grove cemetery.

Married, When? September 3rd. Where? Near Six Mile. Who? Mr. W. H. Lollis to Miss Ila Lark. Who married them? Rev. C. B. Atkinson. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life.

In Memoriam of Mrs. Annie Roe

Born October 29, 1828. Died August 3, 1916. 88 years, 9 months, 6 days old. She leaves four children, as follows:

N. B., M. B. Roe of Pickens county; Mrs. Laura Durham of Georgia and Mrs. Mary Jane Durham, of Pickens county.

Now all her toil is over and earth's lead cross laid down, For love hath called her home and love bestows a crown.

No more in the dark or gloom of earth's fleet years Will she tread any vale of woe or sit in tears,

No more she suffers now— No more finds pain in life— No more is sickness hers— No more she meets with strife,

No darkness shall she know, She dwells where is no night; No storms will come up there; No frosts the flowers blight;

No sin will scar the heart, No sorrow grip the soul; No more life's lived in part, but in the perfect whole,

When deep within the casket sleeping Was seen the mother so old in years, O many friends their vigil keeping, Did weep their unavailing tears,

And oft we knelt among the flowers A tribute to their taken mother. The loss was theirs but also ours, For she was cleansed and undefiled.

To her children's voice she hearkened, And she worked her husband's will Until the great Death Angel darkened Up the door with "Peace be still."

And mother needed no warning, For she was good enough to go, From earth's bleak night to Heaven's morning, and there in grace and beauty grow,

Yes, there grow in grace and beauty, And strength and wisdom—thence wait Until all done our earthly duty. We shall greet her at the gate. It was not gloom or night for her to go away,

For death to her was leaving night and meeting day. She left a home on earth to dwell in mansions fair, and in that home There is no need of sin to shine, For Christ's own face doth light the place with light divine.

She left a world of pain for land by comfort blest, And we'll meet her all perfection and not a huise will greet our eyes; When soon the promised resurrection Will bring us to her in the skies.

So sleep on, mother, in your sacred casket Until your body's brought above By our Savior who'll unmask it. There in the happy land of love, At rest with lilies on thy breast, Beneath the sweet and silent sod, So free from battle strife

And meagre joys of life, Now folded in the peace of God. So sleep on in thy sacred casket, And when your journey we have trod, O may we meet you (oft we'll ask it), There at the Great White Throne of God.

MICHAEL ROE.

Norris School Opening

We have been requested to announce that the Norris graded school will open on the morning of the 18th inst. and that Dr. D. W. Daniel, professor of English at Clemson College, has been invited and has agreed to be present and make the opening address.

We feel quite sure that there is a treat in store for all who will avail themselves of hearing this cultured speaker. The parents of every student as well as the public at large, are cordially invited to be present about 10 a. m.

Norris now has a six thousand dollar school building which has just recently been completed. Prof. Kirby has been chosen as the principal of the school and has an able corps of assistants, whose names we have not been able to learn. The citizens of Norris and of the surrounding community are jubilant over the bright prospects of their school. Success to all is our prayer. B.

In Memory of W. C. Garrett

Iuka (Miss.) Newspaper. On Wednesday, August 9, just after noon, the sad news flashed over the country that W. C. Garrett was drowned in Tennessee river, near Eastport landing, where he lived. This news came as a great shock to his family, relatives and many friends.

Mr. Garrett came to Tishomingo county about two and a half years ago from Norris, S. C., and had been engaged in farming on the river.

At the time of the sad accident which caused his death he was out in the river in a boat gathering mussels, when by some chance, we know not how, the boat turned over and he began swimming for the shore and crying for help, but when within a short distance of the shore and before help could reach him he sank to rise no more.

While Mr. Garrett had only been in our midst a short while he had made many friends, as everyone who chanced to know him loved him. He was a christian, a good citizen, a good neighbor, and was always ready and willing to help in a good cause.

His body was brought to Iuka and was sent to Norris, S. C., for burial. Mr. Garrett leaves a wife and two children, father and mother, brothers and sisters and a host of friends to mourn their loss.

May the Infinite Father of us all heal the broken hearts of the bereaved. T. A. LONG.

From Mr. Tillman

Mr. Editor: I ask for space in your columns to thank those who supported me for Congress in the recent primary. No man appreciates more than I do the support which was so freely given in that contest. I think I might be pardoned in calling to the attention of those who voted for me as a source of pride in their vote the results as shown by the ballots of my home people. Edgefield county is my native county, where I was born and raised, and in the Edgefield part of McCormick county I received 327 votes to my opponents' 147. In Greenwood city, my home, I received 630 votes to a combined vote against me of 335, and in Greenwood county I received 1458 votes to a combined vote against me of 1514. When it is remembered that this is Congressman Aiken's old home I feel justifiable pride in the above figures.

There is no sting in defeat when it carries with it the testimony of the regard and esteem of one's neighbors and whatever may be my future in politics I will never receive a vote that I will appreciate more than I appreciate the votes given me last Tuesday, and I hope that I will never do anything in the future to cause any man to regret the vote he cast for me then. I made my campaign on issues vital to the people and sought to enlighten and elevate the audiences to which I spoke. Every man who runs a race wants to win and I was no exception to the rule, but in figuring the summer's work I have no regrets. I ran a clean race in a clean way and the consciousness of it is worth more than a victory unworthily won.

Respectfully, H. C. TILLMAN.

From Mr. Craig

Please allow me to thank my good friends, many of whom I do not know, for their support in the recent election. While I was defeated I respect myself and the things for which I stood and am in no way dispirited over my failure. I feel that the cause of education needs the things for which I stood as bad as I need the office; and since it was impossible for me to canvass the county and place my views before the people I will in all probability be a candidate four years hence.

I don't want to die whipped. I feel like the poet who said:

"He who fights and runs away, Shall live to fight another day; But he who in battle is slain Shall ne'er renew the fight again."

Respectfully, C. L. CRAIG. Pickens, S. C. Sept. 11, 1916.

From Mr Dagnall

As it will be impossible for me to see and thank personally each voter, I take this method of expressing my appreciation to those who so locally supported me in my race for congress, and I shall always be grateful to those who considered me worthy of representing the district in congress. A. H. DAGNALL.
