HAVE you sent in your Wilson-Marshall dollar yet?

'SIMMONS a-ripenin' an' the 'possums a-tattenin'!

How appropriate it was for the Southern States Prohibition contest to be held in Harold Booker's bailiwick, Spartanburg.

It is to be hoped that Uncle Sam won't raise the price of those one-dollar bills on account of the great increase in the price of paper.

Two ex-presidents is a plenty to have on our hands at one time. Therefore, re-elect Woodrow and show the people that we know when we have enough.

TEDDY seems to have gotten his old job back again—that of making another president. Here's hoping that if he succeeds he will make a better job of it than he did with his 1908 model.

THE emperor of Abyssinia has been deposed. As Booker of the Spartanburg Journal would ask, who around here cares whether the emperor of Abyssinia has been deposed or not?

ENGLAND can't tell us any more that we can get cheaper wheat via the Dardanelles. The Dardanelles is a sore spot with J. Bull instead of a source of Golden Graft to lure Uncle Sam.

AN advertisement in one of our exchanges reads thus: "For Sale—A good hen now laying eggs; also new potatoes, fence posts and russet apples." That's our idea of some hen.

"THE Weariness of Wealth"—headline. Some folks may be weary of the stuff that is said to be the "root of all evil," but there seems to be no one around here getting lop-sided toting it.

SHOULD President Wilson be defeated in November some politicians claim that would mean a victory for Germany. But suppose Mr. Hughes should be elected, would that mean a victory for the Allies?

"Good day; good night," says Mr. Roosevelt to Mr. Taft. "Good day; good night," says Mr. Taft to Mr. Roosevelt. And thus ended the much-talked-of "reconciliation" of the two ex-presidents.

FOUR hundred and twenty-four years ago today Christopher Columbus discovered this western world, and as our readers peruse this there are many celebrations of the event taking place in various parts of America.

WE want and should have good schools and plenty of them. But how are the children going to get to them over South Carolina's present roads? The coming legislature should let the liquor question rest a while and build some good roads.

THE Greenville News wants to know "why it is that the general assembly buys mineral water for its members during the session, thus providing a luxury at the people's expense?" Mineral water, dearly beloved, makes a better "chaser"—that's why.

OUT in Arizona the school authorities are trying to outwit old Colonel Dan Cupid by giving the schoolmarm a bonus of five dollars if they will agree to stay single through the school term. But it won't work. Little Dan with his darts cares nothing for pelf.

WE note from the Dahlonega (Ga.) Nugget that a very peculiar accident happened among the society folks of that section recently. A barefooted young man was escorting his girl from church, when the latter stepped on one of his toes and mashed the nail off, causing a grin and much pain.

IF about one half of our people who are trying to do something else for a living would move to the farm and farm right this county would be better off. They could live at home, send their children to the country schools and attend the old country church, and enjoy life. It would not be long until this old country would blossom as the rose and peace and prosperity would abound on every hand.

OUR WEEKLY RIDDLE.—Who is the greatest of home rulers?
The baby.

WILSON and Marshall
Is good enough for us;
So what's the use of this
Hughes-Fairbanks stuff?

V. B. Chesire, editor of The Farmers' Tribune, Anderson, has been indicted in the federal court for sending obscene matter through the mails. The article in question is one that grew out of his arrest in Greenville some time ago. Former Governor Blease and his brother, Eugene S. Blease, and Fred H. Dominick have volunteered their services to Mr. Chesire free of charge, and he has also retained E. F. Cochran, former U. S. district attorney. It is thought that the trial will be held in Greenwood in November.

What One Bale of Cotton Did

One of our good farmer friends brought a bale of cotton and the seed to town a few days ago and sold it, paid his guano bill, paid for a wagon, paid two drug bills and all his store accounts and went home with money jingling in his pocket. When a bale of cotton will do that much the wife or daughter has a good chance to get a nice bill of furniture.

Don't fail to see our line when in town. Our furniture trade is fine and we keep a mighty nice line.

WHICH TO CHOOSE IN BUYING MERCHANDISE:
Quality at the Advanced Prices—OR—Inferior Merchandise at the Old Prices.

This is a period of higher prices for everything. Not only is merchandise higher in price, but everything raised on the farm is much higher in price than a few years ago. Take the price of cotton today—cotton seed, corn, oats, wheat, rye, chickens and eggs, and in fact everything raised on the farm, and you will find that these products are almost double in price to what they were two years ago; and this is as it should be, for when the farmer prospers we all do.

Every line of merchandise sold in a store has advanced some, but the advance has not been so great as on cotton and farm products.

Our fall stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, etc., is coming in every day, and in buying our fall goods we have stuck to quality and bought the best goods that money could buy, rather than buy cheap and inferior goods at a lower price.

We have built up a reputation for selling good, reliable merchandise, and we do not care to handle cheap, inferior goods, and it certainly does not pay the consumer to buy them.

Our Dry Goods are the same reliable lines we have always handled, colors absolutely fast, and at a very small advance in price.

A large part of our fall goods were bought early, before the advance in prices, and these goods will be sold our customers at the old prices. Our stock of fall and winter goods will be more complete this fall than ever before, and we will be well fixed to supply our customers with good, dependable merchandise at reasonable prices.

Yours truly,

Edwin L. Bolt & Company

Are showing the largest lines of Dry Goods, Shoes, Clothing, Millinery, etc., ever brought to Easley. We do not say this in a boastful way, but we believe it is a fact. On every hand today you hear high prices and scarcity of merchandise. Probably this is true with the majority of stores, but it is not with Edwin L. Bolt & Company. They have the goods, and with the small exception of a few items in SHOES and FUR GOODS the prices are the same as you have been accustomed to pay heretofore. It will certainly pay you to come many miles to do your fall trading at this store. We will not only save you money but will have a large stock to select from.

We have more than $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) worth of reasonable merchandise in stock at the present time, bought during the early part of July, when cotton was around the 10c mark. Today cotton is near 16c, an advance of about 50 per cent, and all kinds of DRY GOODS have advanced accordingly. See prices below and come and see for yourself:
