

HOGWALLOW

HOGWALLOW continues to get more important as a commercial center. Now, through the untiring efforts of the Hogwallow Improvement Society, of which our fellow-townsmen, Luke Matthews, is president, our town has been placed on the circuit of another tin peddler, and hereafter he will make this place every two weeks.

An enlarged picture of Jesse James has been hung on the wall at the Hog Ford moonshine still house to preserve order.

The Old Miser gave the Dog Hill preacher a hickory nut yesterday.

Mrs. Isaac Hellwanger spent Wednesday in Tickville looking at a piece of calico.

Sim Flinders was in the toils again this week, but by agreeing to plead guilty to the charge he was allowed to go free. He was arrested Tuesday morning on a charge of having stolen the only cow the blind man had. The trial was set for Thursday morning, and on account of the blind man being unable to see, the court appointed for him an interpreter in the person of Prof. Sap Spradlen, in identifying the defendant.

Atlas Peck, who has recently been appointed chairman of the grievance committee that will assist in the operation of the railroad that runs into Tickville has returned home, bringing the chair with him.

Slim Pickens has entered society, and since doing so has put insect powders on his mule and greases his buggy with vaseline.

The Mail Carrier attended the magic lantern show at Rye Straw Saturday night. He took his mail pouch along with him, and when the doorkeeper stopped him he threatened to have him arrested for interfering with the U. S. mail.

Ellick Hellwanger heard of a marriagable widow with three children and a cow, living over near Thunderation, but after a visit to that place he decided to take only the cow.

A large yellow mule hitched to a cart, lately occupied exclusively by Jefferson Pollocks, ran away the fore part of this week. The runaway was headed toward Rye Straw and might have resulted disastrously had not Jefferson had the presence of mind to hasten on ahead and let down the fences.

The Hogwallow postoffice was almost covered with snow last week and the Mail Carrier had some trouble in finding it. In some places the snow was about twelve feet deep, while at other points around Hogwallow it was about evenly distributed and very shallow. The Postmaster was called on for an explanation and gave a satisfactory one by saying that the postoffice is the center of importance and everything naturally drifts toward it.

Dock Hocks, who fell from the fence Monday and broke two ribs, is being attended by the umbrella mender from Bounding Billows.

Yam Sims has written to Chicago house for the prospectus of a suit of clothes and expects to walk with Miss Fruzie Allsop under her large hat ere the onions bloom again.
