LET US BE UNITED IN THIS CRISIS

We fear that some of our citizens are doing the wrong thing by continually agitating opposition to the conscription law. We haven't the least doubt that most of the members of this opposition are sincere and honest about it, for we know them to be good citizens, but we think they have been misled and they are misleading others. While we can see no harm in discussing the law itself, and every man undoubtedly has that right, these public meetings and continued agitation may very easily lead to things which may cause trouble just at this time and in the heat of argument some good citizen may say something which should be better left unsaid.

If people opposed this law the time to have made the fight against it was while it was before congress, or at least before the draft was put into operation. It is too late now to do any good, but just the right time to do much harm.

We are satisfied that the draft is not only constitutional, but it is the only effective way to raise an efficient army in this crisis of our country, provided the exemption boards adhere to the spirit of the law. The law is framed so as to treat everybody equal and the rich man will have to fight in this war the same as the poor man. It will leave at home those who can do more good for the country at home than they can in the army and it will place in the army those who can be best spared away from home, something not possible under the former volunteer system. But no man's right of volunteer has been taken away from him, he may volunteer now if he wishes.

Somebody is going to win this war, and we believe if Germany is not beaten now her soldiers will be on our shores before many years passing our fair and our women from one end of the country to the other, the same as she has done it all territory conquered by her in the present war.

Now is the time to study Germany and make a good job of it.

We have heard the opinion expressed that some of those who are most active in opposing the draft law are doing so in the hope of furthering political ambitions. We do not know what their true motives could really be, if it is to be the case it is going to be a bad warning for some of the leaders, for the people cannot be fooled in the long run.

The masses of the people of Pickens county are right in their opinion and are to be depended upon to do the right thing. They are the better subjects of the law and they are those who are to be depended upon to stand by their country and make safe for their descendants those principles which were fought for and won for us with great sacrifice by our ancestors.

There is no doubt in our minds that one of the causes of the opposition to the conscript law is the result of so many laws which our legislative bodies are continually passing, which take away from the people what they consider their inalienable rights. Some of our legislators, especially our state legislators, seem to think they are doing nothing unless they pass a law or two to regulate the people and abridge their rights to some extent, and the people are becoming apprehensive. They are thinking that if they do not fight all laws which seem to affect their liberties in any way or at any time that it will not be long until they will have no liberties at all.

Southern Railway System

An Ambition and a Record

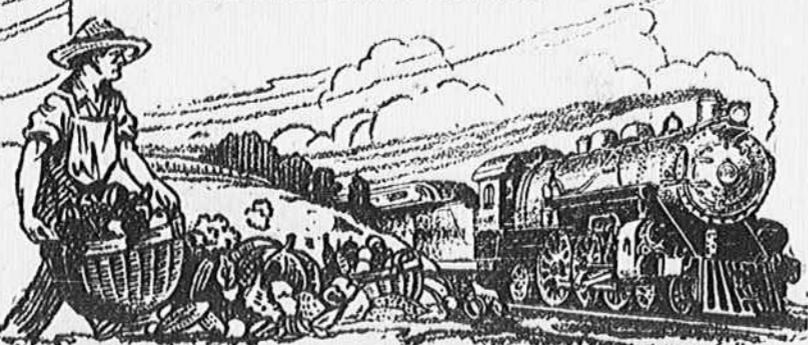

THE needs of the South are identical with the needs of the Southern Railway; the growth and success of one means the upbuilding of the other.

The Southern Railway asks no favors—no special privilege not accorded to others.

The ambition of the Southern Railway Company is to see that unity of interest that is born of cooperation between the public and the railroads; to see perfected that fair and frank policy in the management of railroads which invites the confidence of governmental agencies; to realize that liberality of treatment which will enable it to obtain the additional capital needed for the acquisition of better and enlarged facilities incident to the demand for increased and better service; and, finally—

To take its niche in the body politic of the South alongside of other great industries, with no more, but with equal liberties, equal rights and equal opportunities.

Whether we were in favor of entering the war or not, the fact remains that we are in it and there is no honorable way to get out of it until it is ended. This is no time for our people to become divided, but we should all get behind our government and end this terrible war as soon as possible, so that we may again settle down to the peaceful pursuits of life.

It is a fact that some of our lawmakers seem to think that they are bosses instead of servants of the people and we do not like it. Can you blame the people? No. The legislators are to blame.

ANOTHER NEW FEATURE

The Sentinel has inaugurated a new feature for the benefit and pleasure of its readers. On this page is all the important news of the world given in condensed form and a news review of the past week written by Edward W. Pickens. This news review is the finest thing of the kind being published, even the large dailies and magazines failing to have anything better, and we believe our subscribers will appreciate our efforts to give them the best. No other paper in this section is offering this feature to its readers.

OUR TOWN CHARACTERS

Still another feature is inaugurated this week. With the help of our artist we are going to print a likeness and give a description of our well-known town characters from week to week. We believe you will like this. This week we are printing a picture of the Town Grader. You know him. You'll know the one we are going to print during the next few months, too. Next week we will probably show you an Enigmatist. Don't know what that is, do you? Well, you can find out in the Sentinel next week.

Modest People

- Modest man: Edward Klipp. He blushes when The desk is striped. —Barrow People.
- Anti-modest, too: Edith Dare. She blushes when The limbs are bare. —Greenwood Index.
- So modest is: Miss Julia Pegg. She covers up The table legs.

We Wish to Call Your Attention

To the Immense Line of Oxfords for Men, Women and Children That We Are Offering for Much Less Than We Could Possibly Buy Them For.

Have you noticed the seasons for the past few years—the late spring and fall we have? Of late years we hardly ever have any cold weather till January, and in some cases, even later.

You can wear Oxfords as late as January, five months away, and have you stopped to think that Oxfords are always about 25 per cent cheaper than shoes? At the present time our stock of Oxfords are about half the price of what shoes will be this fall, and at least 50 per cent less than the same Oxfords will cost us for next spring.

Our lines are among the best made in the world. The Godman and R. T. Wood lines for children and misses from $1.00 to $3.00. The Endicott, Johnson & Co's and Walk-Over for boys and men from $2.00 to $6.00. The Godman, Zeigler and Queen Quality for ladies from $2.00 to $4.00.

We have also just received a line of tan scufflers for boys and girls, sizes 8 1-2 to 11, 11 1-2 to 2, 2 1-2 to 6, the most durable and easy wearing Oxfords a boy or girl can wear, from $1.00 to $2.00.

It will pay you to see our line of Oxfords, as the price on a single pair will not be advanced as long as they last, and even if you buy your needs for next spring you will certainly save money.

Yours truly,
