Children gladly take Dodson's Liver Tone because it is pleasant tasting and doesn't gripe or cramp or make them sick.

I am selling millions of bottles of Dodson's Liver Tone to people who have found that this pleasant, vegetable, liver medicine takes the place of dangerous calomel. Buy one bottle on my sound, reliable guarantee. Ask your druggist or storekeeper about me. Adv.

Women Drive War Automobiles.

Between 150 and 200 women soon will be driving military motor cars behind the French front.

Women have tried since the beginning of the war to enlist in the automobile service. The Club Feminin Automobile was the center of this group, and it had secured the signatures of several hundred of the thousand women in Paris who hold licenses to drive motor cars. The passive resistance of the different war bureaus held them back until now.

The women are obliged to enlist for three months and to agree to submit scrupulously to military rules and discipline. They will in the beginning replace motor ambulance drivers in the foreign sanitary sections who are transferred to other services. Later on they may replace men in other automobile sections.

Cutting Down Gossip.

"How do you suppose some people spent their spare time before motion pictures were invented?"

"I don't like to appear unkind to those persons, but before they started spending practically all of their leisure moments in photoplay houses they knew a great deal more about their neighbors' private affairs than they do now."

For Unruly Window Shades.

When a roller window shade refuses suddenly to remain unrolled at a certain point, a handy kink is to insert a small wooden wedge, such as a match or toothpick, between the unrolled curtain and the roller. This is only an emergency device, and may injure the fabric if repeated often at the same point.

HEALTH OFFICERS TO FORM RESERVE

PENDING BILL WOULD CO-ORDINATE EFFORTS OF PEOPLE SKILLED IN SCIENCE.

DISPATCHES FROM COLUMBIA

Doings and Happenings That Mark the Progress of South Carolina People, Gathered Around the State Capital.

Columbia.

Dr. James A. Hayne, secretary of the state board of health, has received a letter from the surgeon general of the United States, enclosing a copy of a bill recently referred to the committee on interstate and foreign commerce to establish a reserve corps of the public health service of the United States and to co-ordinate therewith and utilize the state, county and municipal organizations and other persons skilled in science. Dr. Hayne heartily commends the bill and says he will write to representatives from South Carolina in congress, urging support of the bill. The health officer and funds for safeguarding civilian health as well as health of the soldiers in South Carolina during the war.

The explanation of the proposed legislation as given in the argument with the bill is as follows:

1. Purpose of proposed legislation.—(a) Create machinery whereby government can instantly attack civilian epidemics which threaten to spread to military forces.

(b) Augments of existing agencies for the collection of morbidity reports.

(c) Permits sanitation under federal direction or areas in contiguity to military camps.

(d) Maintains the fabric of civilian health institutions and correlates them with those of general government.

2. Necessity for proposed legislation.—(a) Public health service too small to cover the entire field.

(b) State's health agencies have no authority outside of their own states.

(c) This fight must be won by the nation, not by the individual states; therefore, the state health bodies must work as a harmonious part of the nation's machine.

(d) Maintenance of civilian health of vital importance in order that the government may call healthy men to the colors, and in order that the productive resources of the nation may continue uninterrupted by disease.

(e) This legislation meets with the entire approval of the executives of the state boards of health.

3. What the proposed legislation does.—(a) Provides an elastic organization which may be immediately expanded to meet a given need.

(b) An economical plan, as size of organization may be immediately reduced when the needs for it has passed.

(c) Brings into the service of the United States as an aid to military operations a body of highly trained sanitarians who would otherwise be unavailable for military duty.

(d) Does not in any way interfere with enrollment of the strictly military arms of the government.

(e) Permits the utilization of highly trained non-medical sanitarians, such as sanitary engineers, etc.

(f) Precedent for the plan in the reserve corps of the army and navy.

Labor Solicitors Law Abiding.

An opinion was given by Claude N. Sapp, assistant attorney general, advising P. H. Weston, district attorney, that agents of the J. G. White Engineering Company were within their rights to solicit labor in this state. The company is now engaged in the execution of a contract for the federal government of much magnitude at Hampton Roads, this being the erection of a big dock. Citation of authority by which the state's power to regulate or prescribe the conditions under which corporations may be permitted to conduct their business is limited, reads:

"The only limitation upon this power of the state to exclude a foreign corporation from doing business within its limits, or hiring officers for that purpose, or to enact conditions for allowing the corporation to do business or hire offices there, arises where the corporation is in the employ of the federal government, or where its business is strictly commerce, interstate or foreign. The control of such commerce being in the federal government is not to be restricted by state authority."

Two representatives of the company were recently arrested for the solicitation of labor for the Hampton Roads contract in Orangeburg and Sumter.

Some South Carolina Crops.

It is estimated that South Carolina will produce this year 56,400,000 pounds of tobacco as against 20,280,000 pounds last year.

South Carolina is expected to produce from ten to fifteen million more bushels of corn this year than she did in 1916.

Irish potatoes have gained in popularity this year in South Carolina. Way over a million bushels of this crop are expected. The state didn't produce anywhere near a million bushels last year.

Brown Visits Mill Schools.

George D. Brown, Jr., mill school supervisor, is at work to get additional mill schools to operate under the compulsory school law. About one-third of the mill children are now being benefited by this law. The fact that the age limit of the child labor law and the compulsory school law are the same will make it easier than ever to operate mill schools under the compulsory school law, says the mill school supervisor.

Mr. Brown goes this week to manufacturing centers in the upper part of the state with the view of organizing part time and continuation schools under the Smith-Hughes act, which act makes available $5,000 for such schools.

Part time and continuation schools may be organized in textile centers by allowing pupils between 14 and 18 years of age to undertake some school work. Mr. Brown has written all mill presidents and superintendents as follows:

"Remembering your former courtesies and helpful co-operation, I am venturing to write you concerning additional forward steps.

"At this critical time, as you well know, more efficient and fewer laborers must do your work. Better schools will be and should be your recruiting ground. There is more lost motion in your schools on account of irregular and non-attendance than for any other cause. These two great evils paralyze the school. The operation of the compulsory school law in many mill villages in the state solved the problem of irregular and non-attendance.

"If you are interested in this movement among mill villages of the state we will be pleased to mail you a copy of compulsory school law, petitions for adoption of same, and render in person or otherwise any assistance you may deem desirable.

"The mill operatives themselves are heartily in favor of compulsory school attendance where they impose it upon themselves and where there are adequate school facilities. You mill men have gone on record, time and again, as favoring such a law. On account of the operation of the compulsory school attendance law in mill sections of South Carolina, so far as we are able to learn, not a single family has moved from the villages, not a single prosecution has been brought, and by not a single place has the operation of the law been discontinued. In view of these facts, together with the fact that the age limit of the compulsory school law is the same as the age limit of the state and federal labor law, 14 years, we request that you give this matter your careful consideration.

"In my opinion the time is at hand when the part time school and the continuation school should have a place in the educational system of the state. If you are interested, the office will be glad to co-operate with you."

McMaster Quits State Office.

P. H. McMaster, state insurance commissioner, said he will not stand for re-election at the expiration of the present term. He did not indicate what position will engage his attention. Concerning his proposed retirement, he said:

"Circumstances somewhat compel me to announce to the people of South Carolina that I will not offer for re-election to the office of insurance commissioner at the expiration of my present term. My successor will be elected by the general assembly when it next meets. Within the past 48 hours I have decided to accept an offer to engage in an entirely different line of work—not connected with insurance—which gives much greater promise of making old age comfortable than my present position. And while it is a high privilege to serve the people in official station yet just as valuable service may be done in private life. So I have decided to retire."

New Enterprises Authorized.

The Dovesville Gin Company of Dovesville, Darlington county, was chartered, the capital stock being $5,000.

The Buffalo Milling Company of Bethune, Kershaw county, was also chartered. The capital stock is $6,000.

A commission was issued for the Commercial Barber Shop of Columbia. The proposed capital stock is $3,000 and the petitioners propose to conduct a cigar and news stand in connection with the shop.

The Fort Prince Spinning Company of Wolford was chartered, the capital stock of this new enterprise being $50,000.

A charter was also issued for the Williamsburg Publishing Company of Kingstree. A newspaper is to be published and a general printing business conducted. The capital stock is $2,500.

Application was made by the Santee Timber Corporation of Virginia for domestication.

A commission was issued to the Jones-Poole Mule Company of Gaffney. The proposed capital stock is $10,000.

The Campe Amusement Company, with Augusta, Ga., as its principal place of business, was commissioned. The proposed capital stock is $2,000.

A charter was issued for the Williams-Hutson Lumber Company of Hardeeville, Beaufort county, the capital stock of which is $2,000.

A charter was also issued for the Elloree Live Stock Company of Elloree. The capital stock of this new enterprise is $10,000.

Too Sick To Work

Many Women in this Condition Regain Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Convincing Proof of This Fact.

Ridgway, Penn. — "I suffered from female trouble with backache and pain in my side for over seven months so I could not do any of my work. I was treated by three different doctors and was getting discouraged when my sister-in-law told me how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her. I decided to try it, and it restored my health, so I now do all of my housework which is not light as I have a little boy three years old." — Mrs. O. M. RHINES, Ridgway, Penn.

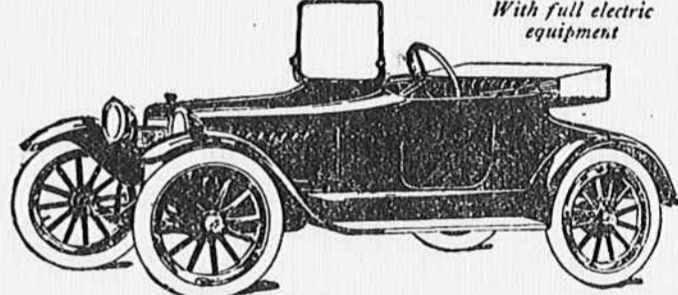

Mrs. Lindsey Now Keeps House For Seven.

Tennille, Ga. — "I want to tell you how much I have benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About eight years ago I got in such a low state of health I was unable to keep house for three in the family. I had dull, tired, dizzy feelings, cold feet and hands nearly all the time and could scarcely sleep at all. The doctor said I had a severe case of ulceration and without an operation I would always be an invalid, but I told him I wanted to wait awhile. Our druggist advised my husband to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has entirely cured me. Now I keep house for seven and work in the garden some, too. I am so thankful I got this medicine. I feel as though it saved my life and have recommended it to others and they have benefited." — Mrs. W. E. LINDSEY, R. R. 3, Tennille, Ga.

On Writing Letters.

"I was told by Capt. Harry Light the other day," writes a Canadian major, "that there is a new style in trench letters. The censor's duties have been reduced by many per cent. The soldier now has the sense of the situation engrained in his thinking. He sees through the need of keeping quiet even on matters that call for some criticism. There is more humor and matter-of-factness about his letters. One of my men who can't write very well, was telling me the other day that one letter a week is all that he can summon up his courage to write, and he gave this as a reason: 'The people at home don't, can't understand life here. We have got to go through it. Why tense them with anxieties—they have enough to put up with in pacifists and political grumblers.' And I think he is right. Don't you?"

"Where are your manners, sir?" asked the crusty business man of a stranger who unceremoniously rushed into his private office.

"I left them out in the main office," answered the irate called, "where I was insulted by two or three of your impudent clerks."

The ancient party who dubbed women the "gentle sex" evidently never witnessed a bargain-counter rush.

According to British figures the world's consumption of tea is steadily increasing.
