To put 5,000,000 men in the field and in France will require a vast number of ships and sailors, and the navy is calling for enlistments. Men are not drafted into the navy yet, that branch of the service depending entirely on volunteers.

The local navy recuiting station in the Arcade Building has recently issued a circular, a part of which is as follows:

"The United States navy, our country's first line of defense, is open now to unlimited numbers. This order which has just been received at the main recruiting station for the state, Columbia, gives an opportunity to thousands of young men in South Carolina who have been anxious to get into this branch of service.

"The regular navy today, with the very active part that it is taking in this war, offers wonderful opportunities and adventures to the young men of this country. It is the branch of service that has made possible the landing of over 1,300,000 American soldiers on French soil, and has supplied this vast army with all supplies and equipment that must be had to bring the wonderful results that the American army is making along the western front today.

"The thousands of soldiers in training camps today and with the thou sands that will be brought into service with the lowering and raising of the proposed draft law, it is a real may job to transport them across sea, and it is for this work that Uncle Sam calls on the young men of this State to help carry on. We must supply our soldiers with food and munitions and in addition, the soldiers and people of our allies, and without men to man the ships that are being built, this work can not be successfully

"Enlistments are open to men between the ages of 18 and 40, and desirable ratings can be had for those that qualify. The navy depends entirely upon volunteers, and this is the first time in several months that the men of this state have been given the opportunity to enlist in unlimited num-

A meeting of the State board of correctional administration was held in the Palmetto Building. This board has in charge the Boys' Industrial School at Florence, the negro reformatory in upper Richland county, and the proposed girls' industrial school.

The main business of the meeting was to discuss plans relating to this institution. N. O. Ludlow, government architect, and his assistant, J. Carrol Johnson, of Columbia, met with the board and presented plans which were satisfactory to all and were unanimously adopted. Bids will be called for at once for the erection of the building. The institution will be situated about eight miles from Columbia on the Newberry road.

The matter of electing a superintendent was deferred unt" a later date. Several application ere before the board.

Gov. Manning recently received $40,000 from the government to aid the State in view of the war conditions in this State which call for so much money for the camps.

To Forbid Fireworks.

Every municipality in South Carolina is urged by the State Council of Defense to co-operate with the organization by the adoption of an ordinance which will forbid the use of fireworks during the period of the war. A resolution calling upon the municipalities of the State for such action was adopted at the last bimonthly meeting of the Defense Council at the request of William Banks, State inspector of explosives. MAKES CHARGES OF GRAFT

Serious Charges Are Preferred Against Certain Citizens of Columbia.

Florence.-The wholesale charges of illegal manipulation and "graft" by cortain citizens of Columbia in the securing of land for the cautonment at Camp Jackson, made at Florence and other towns of the State by John T. Duncan, of Columbia, candidate for governor, in his campaign speeches, culminated in the audience at the State meeting here adopting a resolution calling on Mr. Duncan to put his charges in affidavit form to be presented to the federal government for investigation. This Mr. Duncan did in the presence of a committee appointed by County Chairman J. W. McCown, consisting of J. W. Hicks, a lawyer; C. M. McCurry, county auditor, and A. L. Ervin, county supervisor. Mr. Hicks, who offered the resolution at the campaign meeting, said that if Mr. Duncan's charges were true there should be prosecutions and if untrue they should be shown to be erroneous. Mr. Hicks stated the affidavit will be filed with the govern-

Short Course Completed.

Clemson College-Forty-three young fellows, first and second prize winners in the 1917 corn club contests in the arious counties of the State, completed their short course in agriculture and left for their homes.

At the closing exercises of the course the principal talk was made by W. W. Long, director of the extension service. The club boys were represented by Lamar Long, of Saluda county, 11 years old, who told of the benefits that the club boys have derived from the course. He said that he had already made up his mind to come to Clemson College when he is old enough and take the regular course in agriculture.

Proud of Soldiers.

Greenville .- Maj. G. Heyward Mahon, Jr., of the One Hundred and Eighteenth Infantry-the old First South Carolina National Guard-is back with his command at their post of duty in France, after graduating with high honors at a school for line officers. This information has been received by Major Mahon's family nere in a letter from him recently.

Major Mahon's letter gives some interesting comments upon the South Carolina troops in France. "Don't worry one bit about the South Carolina troops," he says, "they will keep old South Carolina's name and fame where it has always stood in all wars since it became a State-second to none. We have the finest bunch of men in the allied army today, and people higher up have said the same thing. The enrollment of the incorporated towns in Hampton county is reported at 1,105, so that the unreported rolls will not add more than 500 at the outside.

SUGARLESS SWEETS.

It is our patriotic duty to save sugar. In many of the dishes needing sweetening some other sweet may just as well be used. Those who have never taken the trouble to care for a hive of bees are finding that one hive, if well cared for, will produce 60 or more pounds of honey, with plenty left for the bees to winter on. Honey takes the place of sugar fairly well, yet the liquid in the dish will need to be reduced one-quarter. Maple strup is sweeter than sugar, so less is needed, while corn sirup is not as sweet and a larger amount will be necessary to properly sweeten. Whey Honey.-Boll together one cupful of whey and one-third of a cupful of honey until of the consistency of strained honey. This strup will keep indefinitely and is fine for waffles or griddle cakes. Use a little thinner for pudding sauces.

Whey Lemonade .- To a quart of whey add six tablespoonfuls of honey, the juice of two lemons and the grated rind or a sliced lemon added for extra flavor. Mix, chill and serve as a beverage. If wanted for punch add any seasonable fruit with fruit juices. Double the amount of honey and fruit juice is about the right proportion for punch.

Bar le Duc Currants.-Remove the seeds from the large cherry currants, using a darning needle. Take equal weights of currants and honey. Bring the honey to the bolling point, then add the currants and cook until the skins are tender, being careful not to destroy the shape by rapid boiling. If the fruit is so julcy that the sirup is thinned remove the currants and reduce the sirup by boiling until of the right consistency. Put into glasses and seal with paraffin.

Honey Charlotte Russe,-Chill one cupful of honey and stir it carefully into a quart of whipped cream. Line a dish with lady fingers and fill with the honey and cream. Set away to chill. Serve very cold.

Honey or maple sirup may be used in place of sugar for boiled frosting. Pour the boiling sirup over the beaten white of the egg and proceed as usual.

HIGHLY SEASONED DISHES.

Foods highly seasoned with condiments are called deviled food. Such dishes are popular for an appetizer, for late sup-

Prepare the paste as follows: Put into a soup plate two tablespoonfuls of salad dressing, half a teaspoonful of mustard, a scant half teaspoonful of curry powder and a half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Mix and use as above. Steaks. chops or slices of cold roasts may be treated with this paste equally as well. Deviled Bones .-- Rub the deviled paste luto the ment left on ribs of beef, brush with butter and broll. Serve not too well done.

Deviled Ham.—Cut a moderately thick slice of cold bolled ham, make incisions on both sides of it, rub these with the deviled paste, then with butter, and broll long enough to heat through thoroughly. Serve on a hot platter with a tenspoonful of the paste spread over the ham just as it goes to the table.

Deviled Tripe.-Take well-cooked tripe that is cold, rub into it a liberal quantity of the deviled paste, brush it with sweet fat and broil to a delicate brown. When done serve with a little paste on each piece of tripe while Deviled Veal Chops.—Take thick chops and into the several gashes made with a sharp knife press as much of the paste as is needed to season each chop. Dredge with crumbs and broil as usual or fry in a little hot fat.

Deviled crabs, oysters or various fresh fish may be sensoned with the paste and cooked in hot fat, making most tasty dishes.

Tales, Indeed.

William Dean Howells, the author, at a luncheon at his Kittery Point cottage, was praising fairy tales.
