Convincing Evidence for the Sick—How Chronic Sufferers Are Being Restored to Health Thru ASSOCIATED DOCTORS System of Treatment.

The Associated Doctors, Specialists, licensed by the State of South Carolina, and who have met with such phenomenal success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Pickens, S. C., on Friday, December 6, 1918, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic disease cases. These regular, reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer—ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted). No cutting—No knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence than the following

TO VISIT LIVE STOCK SHOW

Many Will Take Advantage of The Opportunity to Study Conditions in Stock Raising Sections.

Clemson College.—Great interest is being shown in various parts of the state in the trip which is being planned by the extension service live stock specialists in the International Live Stock show, which is to be held in Chicago November 30 to December 7. V. W. Lewis states that he has received letters daily inquiring about the trip, and that already about 75 have said that they will go, so indications are for a good crowd and a fine trip.

Among those asking for reservations for the trip are a number of progressive bankers and business men who have seen beyond the walls of their offices and have caught a vision of the live stock possibilities and prospects in South Carolina, and who realize that they must inform themselves and be prepared to do business on a live stock basis as well as on the time honored cotton basis.

It is certainly a fine opportunity for such men to study conditions in the older stock raising sections, and to realize at first hand that live stock farming is not only a solid but a profitable kind of farming enterprise for business men to encourage and back up with their moral and financial support.

Mr. Lewis will shortly mail letters to those who have already written to him calling upon them to state definitely that they will or will not go. Others who have not written to Mr. Lewis will do well to communicate with him at once if they wish to go.

Bishop Russell Criticized. Charleston.—The holding of public services in the Roman Catholic Cathedral of St. John the Baptist by Bishop Russell on the Sunday before the lifting of the influenza quarantine in violation of the health officer's order has been finally disposed of, so far as the board of health is concerned. Resolutions have been passed by the board deprecating the action of the bishop and declaring that "the course of the board of health is plainly defined which, if pursued, would necessitate the arrest of the wrongdoer."

Increases in wages for employees of the Charleston Consolidated Railway & Electric Company are provided in an award by the war labor board. The new wage scale raises from 36 to 40 cents an hour, the maximum to be paid after nine months of service. The board recommended that the company be allowed to raise its fares to enable it to meet the increased operating expense.

School Holidays Are Short. . . . Spartanburg.—The county board of education adopted a resolution that all teachers of the county should receive remuneration for the time lost during the quarantine. Another resolution recommending that all schools of the county cut short Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays and teach as usual in order to make up some of the lost time, was also adopted.

To Wage Health Campaign. Lexington.—For the purpose of improving the general public health of the community, Lexington county is making plans to wage an intensive health campaign early in December. Dr. Vance W. Bradham of Orangeburg, state director of rural health, held a conference with Dr. James A. Hayne, state health officer, and with prominent citizens of Batesburg relative to the campaign which will confine itself largely to work among the school children.

Chester Men Wounded. Chester.—Claude L. Revells, 24 years of age, has been wounded in France in action recently and is now in a hospital in France. He is a member of Co. H, 118th infantry, 30th division. Mrs. Revells lives near the city.

John N. Varnadore has been wounded by gas in France, according to information just received in Chester. He is a Chester county man. He is a member of Company F, 118th infantry, 30th division.

Missing in Action. Chester.—Private Arthur G. Austin, Company G, 118th infantry, 30th division, has been reported as missing since October 11, according to a message received by his father, M. L. Austin. Mr. Austin joined Captain Park's Company G, when it was stationed in Chester.

Privates Morris Dennis, Company H, 118th infantry, Thirtieth division, has been reported missing since October 12, according to a telegram received from the war department by his father, W. F. Dennis.

Great Interest Shown. Allendale.—Great interest is being manifested in this section over the proposed new county, with Allendale as the county seat. Four commissioners were recently appointed by the governor to carry out the preliminary steps for an election on the question in the territory concerned. The following were appointed: J. Fred Lightsey, W. C. Bryan, R. O. Cross and W. P. Holmes. The preliminary survey having been made, engineers are now at work laying out the per-

TRACTOR IS SOURCE OF RELIABLE POWER

Outfits of Illinois Farmers Not Disabled Single Day.

If Operator Is Experienced and Careful Little Trouble Is Likely to Follow—Serious Delays Will Be Exceptional.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Of more than 600 tractor owners on representative farms in Illinois who reported to a recent survey conducted by the United States department of agriculture, a report of which is published as Farmers' Bulletin 963, 64 per cent stated that their outfits were not disabled a single day when needed during the entire season last year. Of the remaining 46 per cent the average number of days their tractors were out of commission when needed was five. This average, however, did not include one man who stated that his machine was not usable about half the time.

The reports of tractor owners indicate that with a careful and proficient operator a gas tractor is a very dependable source of power. Occasional slight delays probably will be encountered, but serious ones will be exceptional, whereas with a careless or incompetent operator expensive delays are apt to be frequent.

Of the tractors owned by Illinois farmers reporting, about 90 per cent were operated by the owner or some member of his family, the best results usually being obtained by this class of operators. Thirty-six per cent of Illinois owners reported no time lost in the field on account of trouble with the outfit. This probably means that the time lost was not worth mentioning. Most men do not consider it trouble so long as they know at once the cause of stoppage or other irregularity in the engine's operation and are able to remedy it promptly. The average time lost per day by the 46 per cent reporting trouble is a little over three-quarters of an hour.

PROPER STORAGE FOR BEETS

When Placed in Cellar Avoid Large Piles as It Is Liable to Cause Heating and Decay.

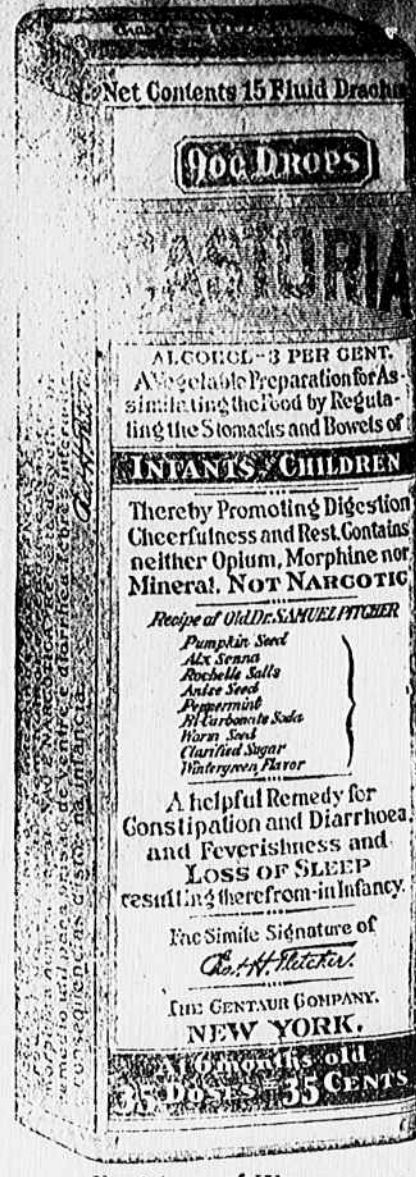

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Beets should be pulled and the tops cut off when the soil is dry. If they are to be held in the storage room in the basement or in an outdoor storage cellar, they should be placed in ventilated barrels, loose boxes, or better still, in crates. If sufficient space is available in the cellar, it is a good plan simply to place them in small piles along the wall. Storage in large piles should be avoided, as it is liable to cause heating and decay.

For storage in banks or pits prepare the beets as for storage in the room in the basement or in the outdoor cellar. Select a well-drained location, make a shallow excavation, about six inches deep, line it with straw, hay, leaves, or similar material, and place the beets in a conical pile on the lining. Make the bottom of the pile about the same size as, but not larger than, the bottom of the excavation. Cover the beets with same material as that used for lining the bottom of the pit, and carry it up several inches above the apex of the pile of vegetables, having it extend through the dirt covering. This serves as a ventilating flue, and it should be covered with a piece of tin or a short board as a protection from rain. The dirt covering should be two or three inches thick when the vegetables are stored, and it should be increased as severely cold weather approaches until it is a foot or more in thickness. In finishing the pit the dirt should be firmed with the back of the shovel in order to make it as nearly waterproof as possible.

The shallow trench around the base of the pit should have an outlet for carrying off the water. Supplement the dirt covering with manure, straw, corn fodder or other protecting material. Use several small pits instead of one large one, as vegetables keep better in small pits and the entire contents may be removed when the pit is opened.

Don't Work in Limelight. Secretary Houston says: "Farmers are not spectacular performers. They do not furnish sensations and headlines. They work in season and out of season, from early dawn until dusk, but they do not work in the limelight."
