FARMERS OF THREE COUNTIES TO MEET AT CLEMSON COLLEGE.

Biggest Day in Years Planned for Farmers of Anderson, Pickens and Oconee Counties.

The farmers of Anderson, Oconee and Pickens counties will receive with gratification the announcement that perhaps the greatest "get-together" meeting of farmers ever held in South Carolina, or especially the Piedmont section, will be held at Clemson College, August 11. On that day the buildings and grounds of the state's greatest agricultural college and experiment station will be thrown open to the public and it is confidently believed that several thousand farmers will spend the day on the campus, in the college groves, orchards, agricultural buildings and stockfarm, bringing their dinners with them. Although not the paramount feature of the occasion, the picnic dinner that will be spread on the campus by the farmers and their wives who attend the Tri-county farmers meeting, as this will be properly known, the picnic luncheon will be an important part of this get-together meeting.

The principal speakers on the list will be Hon. W. W. Long, director of the extension department of the college, who is well known to the farmers of the three counties to be represented at Clemson on the 11th. Other speakers will in all probability be secured later and a completed program will be prepared by the college for publication in the newspapers of Anderson, Oconee and Pickens counties.

As many farmers as possibly can attend this meeting are urged to do so. A day spent at Clemson college is a day well spent, in the opinion of farmers from this county who occasionally make trips there for the purpose of gaining information about practical and modern methods of farming. Coming as it does in the middle of "lay-by" time, August 11 is a good date for such a meeting as is planned, and it would be hard to locate a better place for a meeting of farmers in the upper part of the state than at Clemson College.

Will Let Farmers See.

Farmers attending this meeting will be allowed to see the things they are interested in at Clemson. Those who care to learn more about the care of fruit trees, the proper pruning and treating of disease of the orchard will be allowed the privilege of going through the Clemson orchards and will hear experts discuss these subjects. The agricultural building will be wide open to the farmers and as many as like may stay in there part or all of the day, while the planters who are interested in livestock will be taken to the barns, given an opportunity of seeing the Clemson herds of cattle and swine, and will hear such timely and important subjects as proper judging and breeding of both cattle and swine, and the treatment of their diseases.

Clemson is located convenient to a large number of farmers of the Piedmont, as the corner of Pickens, Oconee and Anderson counties are near the school. The campus is beautiful and well kept and will prove an ideal place for an instructive outing for the whole family, for there will be something at Clemson on August 11 that will interest every member of the farmer's family.

A special program relative to the growing of flowers will be arranged for the benefit of the ladies who attend. This program will be carried out by one or more of Clemson horticulturists, and will be worthy of the time and attention of any of the ladies attending.

There are many progressive farmers in this county, the majority of whom never fail to take advantage of the ideas and suggestions that are produced by the Clemson experiment station.

SHORT COURSES FOR CLUB BOYS.

Clemson College, July 19.—Sixty-five club boys from about three-fourths of the counties of the state are attending the annual short course for club boys, which is being held at Clemson College from July 12 to 22 inclusive. The enrollment includes county prize winners who attend free of charge and a few other club boys who are attending as pay students.

The young farmers are in charge of L. L. Baker, supervising agent of boys' club work, and B. O. Williams, assistant agent assisted by W. F. Howell, county agent for Lancaster. The boys are staying in barracks and are organized on the basis of Indian life with four tribes, each with a chief.

Courses are being given the club members in livestock, orcharding and gardening, farm machinery, plant diseases, crop production, etc.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this one brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper—secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.
